COMPLETE SHAKEUP OF LAHAINALUNA

Prof. Revec of Michigan to Visit Summer School. Royal School Building—Many Interesting Matters Discussed at Board Meeting.

Lahainaluna Seminary, the oldest school in the Hawaiian Islands, is to be thoroughly reorganized. This was determined by the Commissioners of Public Instruction yesterday, at a meeting in which many important matters were under consideration. While accepting the resignation of Elmo Reavis as principal of the school, it was voted that the rest of the staff be requested to resign. The reason was the board's intention to reorganize the school upon an entirely different basis, making agricultural and manual training the main feature.

TEACHERS RESIGNED.
 Resignations of teachers in different parts of the Territory were received and referred to the teachers' committee, which will report details of teachers for the next term at meetings in vacation.

Miss Perry's appointment as principal of Wailupe, Oahu, was confirmed. Superintendent Atkinson reported on a petition to open a school at Puuanahu in North Kona, on the border of South Kohala, advising that it be granted. There were 13 children in the section and an old schoolhouse was available. A Normal school pupil would be chosen as teacher to begin duty with the new term.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS.
 The Superintendent gave oral reports on the girls' industrial school and its organization in the old reformatory school at Palama. A full description of this school was given in the Advertiser a fortnight ago. The action taken was approved. Mr. Atkinson also reported substantially as follows on the boys' industrial school at Waialea, which succeeds the old reformatory school in town:

"The boys were moved down about the 19th or 20th of May. There are some 70 boys in the building, which was calculated to hold 50. Nothing more can be done until the other buildings are erected. The boys are perfectly happy. They have more freedom and more light than in Honolulu, having much more outside work. "Three taro patches have been planted and others are to be planted, some of which are sprouted. The water supply is ample. Pumping is now done by hand, but we have asked the Legislature for a pumping plant. There will be a reservoir above the building to serve in case of fire, about which I am very anxious. The building is insured. It is a two-story building. "The boys have built outside closets and made a very good job of them. They are on the dry earth system. A cottage has also been built for storage of supplies, with a room to keep the boys' clothes. All of the plumbing work is satisfactory. The main building is exceedingly steady, even in a strong wind there being no vibration. It is a very well constructed building. "Desks are on the ground but not set up yet. The schoolroom will probably be ready for starting school work next Monday. Meantime the superintendent, Mr. Gibson, gives instruction in the dining room every evening. "As soon as we have power we shall have electric light."

SCHOOL CLOSINGS.
 Mention was made of the closing exercises in the city schools on Friday. The ladies of the board having signified their desire to go the rounds, the Superintendent notified all of the members that he would have arrangements made for conveyances from the Education office at 9 o'clock. Exercises of the High school will take place at Progress Hall in the evening.

THE SUMMER SCHOOL.
 Superintendent Atkinson reported the Summer school as having been organized according to the board's instructions. Through correspondence he had obtained the promise of the assistance of Professor George Revec, holding the chair of pedagogy and psychology in the University of Michigan, who would deliver a series of lectures. Prof. Revec was expected to leave San Francisco in the Alameda on July 4.

In this connection Mr. Atkinson stated that the Kona teachers had never had an opportunity of attending the Summer school, because their vacation period was different from that of the rest of the country. The department had communicated with them and changed their vacation to the same time as that of the other schools. Kona had really been suffering from the inability of its teachers to attend the Summer school, the excellent influences of which had been felt everywhere else in the islands. Kona's vacation was made singular when the coffee boom was at its height some years ago, the object being to have it in the coffee-picking season so that the labor of the children might be utilized.

BUILDING MATTERS.
 The Superintendent's action was confirmed in leasing the Punchbowl schoolhouse for a year at $10 a month. As it contains three rooms and has a yard, the rental was considered low. School Agent Severance at Hilo, wrote for an allowance of $6 a month to rent a room for keeping school books. He mentioned that he supplied all the schools from Puna and Olaa to Hakalau, the sales averaging nearly $30 a month, and thought it would be a great saving to have supplies on hand. Mr. Atkinson and the members thought the rental suggested out of proportion to the business, and the Superintendent was authorized to make arrangements other than those proposed. He thought a corner might be fitted up in one of the large schoolhouses. Mrs. Jordan asked if they were going to have a new building for Pohukaina school. "We have asked for it," was all Mr. Atkinson could reply. He added that a site was not yet settled. Replying to Mrs. Hall, he stated that the Royal school would be built upon a different site from the old one, which would probably be obtained by exchange as near as possible to the old location. "Is the present site supposed to be unsuitable?" Mr. von Holt asked. "It has not a sufficiently large playground," Mr. Atkinson replied. He further stated that it was impossible to obtain adjoining land for enlarging the premises. That school would increase in attendance just as soon as they got a new building. The ground was not large enough for a school of 500 or 600 pupils. It would be a two-story brick building. They asked for $40,000, but he noticed an item of $75,000 was inserted in the appropriations.

VACATION SCHOOLS.
 Mr. Atkinson, answering a question regarding vacation schools, said nothing could be done until they knew what appropriation was available therefor. A discussion ensued, in which there was general recognition of the importance of vacation schools. There are many boys and girls whose circumstances of alien speech and upbringing put in the rear rank of English education. They have more vacation than they need or can employ with benefit to themselves. As was stated by the ladies, it would be out of the question to send girls of the common schools to the industrial school, to mingle there with those committed by magistrates for offenses or misbehavior. The prevailing idea was that the training in vacation schools should be largely industrial. Those constituting the meeting were Alatau T. Atkinson, Superintendent, and Mrs. W. W. Hall, Mrs. E. W. Jordan, H. M. von Holt and A. B. Wood.

Commissioners of Public Instruction, together with Dr. C. T. Rodgers secretary of the department.

ARBOR DAY.
 After discussion of the subject, it was left with the Superintendent to arrange a program for observance of Arbor Day. This will come on the Friday next following the first Monday in November. Although not a public holiday, there was an undivided sentiment that the event was one in which the lively interest of the children should be enlisted.

LYCEUM STOCK COMPANY OPENS
 Plays may come and plays may go but the celebrated, ever-popular, tear-relieving comedy "The Private Secretary," never loses its hold on the lovers of the play house. Night after night has the public in many parts of the world seen the "Private Secretary" unravel himself amidst prolonged and appreciative applause. The Lyceum Stock Company has chosen this laugh-provoker for its initial performance Tuesday evening next, June 23d, at the Orpheum Theater. The second presentation of "The Private Secretary" occurs on Saturday evening, June 27th.

The Lyceum Stock Company will give two shows a week with a complete change of program for each week and it is of special interest to the public to know that each and every play will be replete with up-to-date, fast, furious, funny fads in specialties. The new special scenery is a valuable addition to the Orpheum stage and nothing has been sacrificed to make the Lyceum Stock Company's plays attractive and well presented.

The box office for the sale of seats opens tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and will be open each day from 9 to 1 and 2 to 6.

The management is under the direction of Mr. W. D. Adams while George Kunkel holds down the stage and the players.

Spectacles and Eye-Glasses
 Nothing else. This is an age of specialties. Mark Twain wrote: "The fool saith, 'Put all my eggs in separate baskets so that when one breaketh the rest are unharmed.' But the wise man saith, 'Put all my eggs in one basket, and then—watch that basket.'" We have put all our eggs in one basket. We simply fit glasses, nothing else.
