INSPECTORS OF ELECTION

Governor Carter Finds Present System Defective.

"We have considerable difficulty on the question of appointments of inspectors of election," Governor Carter said yesterday. "Letters were sent out to inspectors asking them if they were willing to serve again in the precincts for which they were appointed. Some have answered expressing their willingness to serve without saying if they are living in the same precinct or if they have changed their political complexion.

"We believe that if a man holds a four years' commission as inspector of election he holds office until his successor is appointed. He cannot transfer his commission, however, to another precinct if he has changed his residence.

"Many have moved out or gone away and of those who have answered as stated we do not know whether it is their new or their old precincts in which they are willing to serve.

"These appointments are not going to be entirely satisfactory to any of the political parties. Owing to changes from Home Rule to Republican politics, in one precinct for instance, all three of the inspectors are Republicans.

"Another difficulty is that each party undertakes to nominate all three of the inspectors in a precinct. For example, the Republicans will name the Home Ruler and the Democrat of their preference as well as their own chosen representative on the board.

"The system is very poor. There ought to be a reappointment of inspectors for every election instead of issuing commissions for four years. This would be a protection against the difficulties from both changes of political faith and changes of residence of hold-over inspectors."

Governor Carter was reminded of the system under the Constitution of 1887, where the Government appointed its own choice as judges and clerks of election, while the parties were allowed to choose inspectors or watchers with the privilege of challenging voters, entering protests and scrutinizing the count of ballots, and he remarked: "That is a good system. One judge in a precinct would mean both economy and efficiency. Under the present system men are coming in who have poor eyesight or defective hearing, while others are defective as writers and adders."

TWO MEN FAIL OF CITIZENSHIP

Judge S. B. Dole was obliged to deny two applications for citizenship yesterday afternoon. They were subjects of Portugal and the cause of their rejection was ignorance, in one case general and in the other specific. The applicant of the latter class was unable to tell the difference between the government of Portugal and that of the United States. Nineteen of their fellow-countrymen were naturalized.

In the morning Judge Dole naturalized four aliens and in the afternoon twenty, holding the second session at the special request of Attorney General Andrews. The list follows:

Great Britain—James Cunning, Scotland; Chas. A. De Cew, Canada.

Germany—Eugene Frey, Dien Pohde, Henry Kaus.

Portugal—Antone Martins, J. P. Bento, John Andrade, Joe Silva, John Souza, Manuel J. Bemavitz, Antone B. Madeiros, Jos. Texeira, Antone Marques, Manuel Rawlins, Frank Simoa, Seraph Braga, John Rodrigues, Jr., Frank Gomes, Manuel A. Goes, Jose Cordeiro, Manuel Soares, Joe Garcia, Louis A. Perry.

YESTERDAY'S BIG BLAZE

It Is Believed to Have Had Incendiary Origin.

When the Advertiser press had been restarted on the final pages of yesterday's edition after being interrupted to insert a report of the fire at King street, Aala park and Aala lane, the flames had just been got under control.

The buildings destroyed belonged to the Li Cheung and the Sang Chong companies, Yee Wo and Wo Chan, being as stated yesterday on ground leased from Chief Justice Frear and insured as a condition of the lease. An estimate of the value of the buildings given out by Mr. Frear yesterday is $12,000.

There was a large number of Chinese merchant tenants occupying the stores on the ground floor. The upper stories of the buildings were used as dwelling and lodging apartments. A Japanese photographer had his gallery on one of the upper floors. The principal mercantile tenants were: Tong-Kee Kin, general merchandise; Sun Wing Tai, shoes; See Sin Yun, tailor; Sam Mau, pork dealer; Yee Wo, butcher; also a Chinese grocer and a Japanese fish merchant. It is said that the stocks in general were covered with insurance.

It is believed by the police authorities that both the incipient fire of Sunday night and the conflagration of Monday morning had incendiary origin. A Chinese name placed on the police station register yesterday afternoon "for investigation" is believed to be that of a suspected firebug.

Of the underwriters concerned, Bishop & Co., W. G. Irwin & Co., Hawaiian Trust Co. and C. J. Hutchins are said to have carried an aggregate of $9,500 insurance. The entire loss is placed at $25,000 to $30,000, scarcely a third of it insured. Some policies are reported to have been withdrawn recently on account of the risks being regarded as extra hazardous.

DONE BY TRYING.

Nobody can tell what he can do till he tries. When a thing ought to be done the modern spirit moves us to keep working away at it until it is done. In the face of this idea the "impossible" vanishes. Where there's a will, there's a way. "If we could but rob cod liver oil of its sickening taste and smell and then combine it with two or three other ingredients we should possess the best remedy in the world for certain diseases that are now practically incurable." So said a famous English physician twenty-five years ago. "But it will never be done," he added. "You can no more turn cod liver oil into a palatable medicine, than you can turn the Codfish itself into a Bird of Paradise." Yet he lived to admit that in WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION the "impossible" had been accomplished. It is palatable as honey and contains all the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. This remedy is freed from the bad peculiarities Dr. Frothingham so detested, and it is precisely the splendid medicine he wished for. Use it freely and confidently for Hysteria, Wasting Complaints, Anemia, Blood Impurities, Asthma, and Throat and Lung Troubles. Dr. W. H. B. Aikins, Physician to Toronto General Hospital, says: "I am much pleased to state that the results from using Wampole's Preparation of Cod Liver Oil have been uniformly satisfactory; it appealed to me as being prepared according to correct scientific principles." It increases the appetite and influences the digestion of food; it is delicious to take, will not disappoint you, and is effective from the first dose. One bottle convinces. At all chemists.

IF YOU WANT TO BE A JURYMEN TODAY.

If you wish to serve the goddess who in blind deliberation Sits enthroned above the Seat in our courts of common law, You want to go it slow and avoid precipitation, Or you'll catch it hot and heavy from the Man behind the Jaw.

Your answers categorical to questions hypothetical Must appear as pat and pointed as an oracle's of yore, For when you can't tell all about the Whyness of the If You'll be sternly relegated to an outer open door.

Your sense and assinity must not be separated, 'Cos you've got to be a lusus naturae— A conglomerate of ignorance with wisdom saturated— If you want to be a jurymen today.

"Did you ever murder any one or write an ode to Spring? Did you ever fall in love with Anna Held? Did you ever in your life learn a single useful thing? Did you even hear that Feng-weng-Chang was shelled?"

"Don't you know you are a liar and suspect yourself a thief? Did you never play the co-respondent's role? Did you never run a Sunday-school and bust a savings bank? And does anybody dream you have a soul?"

"Did your father die in Sing Sing or expire at Joliet? Did your mother ever eat peas with a knife? And now you must excuse me, for I really must know, Are you married to the partner of your life?"

"We know that you're a sinner with the surface of a saint, And we trust you'll recognize it and repent; And now you'll kindly tell us of your whole career of guilt, And how often 'up the river' you were sent.

"These seeming personalities are merely technicalities And designed for nothing further, so to say, Than to brand you as a being totally unfit for civilized human association and to bring within the grasp of your abnormally feeble intellect the undeniable fact that you are in every possible respect, physically, mentally, morally and spiritually, an utterly hopeless, God-forsaken generate. If you want to be a jurymen today."
