THE PHILIPPINES VIEWED BY MAN IN MORO COUNTRY

Independence for Generation to Come a Chimera--Vast Areas of Rich Land Cry Out for Cultivators.

F. J. Dunleavy writes to his old friend R. Jay Greene from Cottobato, Moro province, P. I. Referring to the labor problem of Hawaii as affected by annexation, the writer says:

"This prohibition of contract labor, which goes hand in hand with annexation, is a good argument against the States ever annexing the Philippines, because the native will never exercise sufficient energy to develop our rich idle lands; therefore we should have contracts for the development of these islands with contract labor. Capital can be assured of employment and a fair return on investments.

The sentiment politically in the islands is that the States do not annex the islands but to reduce the tariff on our raw products entering the States. While this is patriotic it is not good economy. We have nothing here that can command as good a sale in Europe as in the States.

"No Americans or foreigners, and only a few blatant Filipinos want independence. A Filipino that knows anything knows independence will not be given to them this generation, not because he distrusts the United States but simply because they cannot in this time produce Filipinos to assume and carry to a successful issue any form of government when the firm hand of Uncle Sam is relaxed.

"No one here wants independence now, but, as to the future, some of the most enlightened Filipinos hope for something of a nebulous character. They really could not tell you if asked what it is, but we as children have all had the same feeling of becoming possessed of the unattainable. As we became older and wiser we singled out the attainable and went after it. So it is with the Filipinos.

"For the last 300 years the islands have been a huge kindergarten managed by the priests on the kindergarten plan. Nothing came serious to the minds of Filipinos but killing his enemy or neighbor, and the form of government favored the development of this idea.

"You know I have lived under English, Dutch, German and French colonial systems of government, and from the experiences of same, I think the nearest approach to self-government the people can be fitted for during the next generation is a responsible elective government for the legislature and the upper house to be nominated for five or ten years by the President of the United States, its members to be all Americans for the first ten years, during which time the Filipinos, if they have any able men amongst them, will show them to the public, then nominate a fair proportion of them to the upper house.

"I have cast in my lot with the islands and instead of complaining about the hard times or railing at the administration, I am cultivating hemp and Para rubber and the good will of the Moros. I have been in the islands over six years now, all the time in civil life, and do not regret having pitched my tent here, nor have I lost faith in the American government or the agricultural and commercial future of the islands.

RATHBONE SISTERS HAVE INSTALLATION

One of the prettiest services of public installation of officers was witnessed at Harmony Hall by the Order of Rathbone Sisters. A great gathering filled the artistically decorated hall.

At the first call of the trumpet the Knights marched in and occupied arranged seats. The trumpet sounded again, calling forth the Rathbone Sisters. They entered the temple and marched to seats immediately in front of the Knights.

The officers-elect entered, marching in design, followed by the installing officers, consisting of the Grand Chief, Grand Senior and Grand manager of the Grand Temple. These officers and officers-elect formed a circle of union. The Grand Chief remarked:

"As in union there is strength, so may these clasped hands symbolize the union of hearts and purposes pervading our ranks, which shall make us strong in maintaining and pushing forward the great work of the order."

The officers-elect were presented in rotation by twos for confirmation and bestowal of the jewels of their offices. The Grand Chief said:

"As an appropriate termination of the exercises on this occasion, what could be more fitting than a tribute of flowers—beautiful flowers—that discourse to us of things wonderful, of marvelous beauty, beauty that can never die; and although lost to sight, it yet lives in the soul."

"Full many a flower is born to blush unseen, And waste its sweetness on the desert air."

"Let us then invoke the presence of Flora, goddess of flowers, as the presiding genius of the last crowning act of this ceremonial."

Again the trumpet sounded and the flower girl, Miss F. Lee, with four little flower fairies carrying flower crowns for all officers, contributed a most beautiful scene. Miss Lee crowned the officers, during which ceremonial the "Coronation" was sung. The lights were extinguished and the red lights used. This was a beautiful flower tableau.

The officers of the Temple for the ensuing term are as follows: Most Excellent Chief—Mrs. C. E. Moore.

Most Excellent Senior—Mrs. Fred Turner.

Excellent Junior—Miss Eva Dayton.

Manager—Mrs. Margaret Furguson.

Mistress of Finance—Mrs. Lee.

Mistress of Records and Correspondence—Miss O'Brien.

Protector—Mrs. Mino.

Past Chief—H. T. Moore.

Grand Manager—Mrs. Rosenberg.

Guard of the Outer Temple—Mrs. Jennie Jacobson.

Mrs. Reedy acted as installing officer. Retiring Past Chief Mrs. Reedy and retiring Most Excellent Chief Mrs. H. T. Moore were presented with Jewels by the Most Excellent Chief, Mrs. C. E. Moore, with words of love and of appreciation for past services in behalf of the members.

Events were stated by the retiring Most Excellent Chief, Mrs. H. T. Moore and Ed. Towse delivered an address, very interesting to all lodge members of any order. Then followed this program:

Recitation—Miss Florence Lee.

Solo—Miss Agnes Lyle.

Recitation—Mr. H. T. Moore.

Mandolin solo—Mr. Ben Lee.

Recitation—Mrs. C. E. Moore.

Piano solo—Mrs. H. T. Moore.

Recitation—Miss Ray Bell.

Mr. Farmer was called upon for closing remarks, which were brief and to the point, as he smelt the coffee and felt sure of a good time in the very near future, and knew of others who were interested in the good time coming—the supper, which consisted of coffee, sandwiches, cake and ice cream.

After the supper the floor was cleared for dancing. Dancing and music continued until a late hour.

ANCIENT MARINER CROSSES THE BAR

Captain David Taylor died at 11.45 on Sunday night. He was born in October, 1829, at Oyster Shell Point, N. J. In his youth he became a cabin boy on the ship South Boston. He first came to the Pacific coast in 1846, shortly before gold was discovered in California. On reaching mature years, he secured a position as captain of a whaling vessel, sailing out of New Bedford, Mass. He was master of the Kohala in 1886, and of the Bismarck in 1888. Subsequently he was captain of the Hettie and Odd Fellow, the packet Kate Lee and the steamer Kalawe. For a short time he was a stevedore in Honolulu. He then came to Lahaina, and was agent of the Inter-Island steamer for fifteen years. He also held the offices of postmaster, tax collector, harbor master, pilot and road supervisor. He was a member of Excelsior Lodge of Odd Fellows in Honolulu. His brother John and half brother Edward are now living at Shrewsbury, N. J. There was a large attendance of friends at the funeral on Monday afternoon.—Maui News, Jan. 14.

THE FUNDAMENTAL LAW OF HAWAII: A NEW LAW BOOK

The Hawaiian Gazette Company, Ltd., announce the publication of a book, edited and indexed by Lorrin A. Thurston, containing the several constitutions and other fundamental laws of earlier days, the annexation treaty, resolutions and procedure and the Organic Act.

The book contains 298 pages of text and 138 pages of index. It is printed in regulation law book type and style and is substantially bound in calf skin.

The price is $5. The scope and character of the book and the reasons for its publication are given in the preface, which is as follows:

PREFACE TO THE FUNDAMENTAL LAW OF HAWAII.

Congress has expressly enacted a law organizing Hawaii into a Territory, and extended the provisions of the United States Constitution to the Territory.

In a restricted sense, therefore, the United States Constitution and the Organic Act constitute Hawaii's fundamental law; but the Organic Act specifically re-enacts the great body of pre-existing Hawaiian statute law, which was based upon the several Hawaiian Constitutions and organic laws.

A large proportion of the law governing real estate, property and personal rights in Hawaii being based upon these early constitutions and laws; and precedents, decisions and court practice having grown out of them, it is necessary to consult them in order to have a comprehensive understanding of existing Hawaiian law. They are nearly all published, however, in books now out of print, and in scattered volumes, inaccessible to many, and inconveniently located for all. In fact, not even practicing lawyers in Hawaii can, except at considerable loss of time, place their hands on the laws and constitutions necessary for the study and decision of practical questions continually being presented to them.

Under these circumstances it is believed that the public interest requires the re-publication in convenient reference form of what may be called "the fundamental law of Hawaii." To meet this requirement the following constitutions, laws and documents have been compiled under the common title of "The Fundamental Law of Hawaii," viz:

- 1. The first Constitution of Kamehameha III, 1840, including the previously issued Bill of Rights.
2. The first laws of Hawaii, enacted under Kamehameha III, (1833-1842), published together in 1842.
3. The law creating and principles guiding the Land Commission.
4. The second Constitution of Kamehameha III, 1852.
5. The Constitution of Kamehameha V, 1864.
6. The Constitution of Kalakaua, 1867.
7. The Proclamation and orders incident to the establishment of the Provisional Government, 1893.
8. The Constitution of the Republic of Hawaii, 1894.
9. The treaty annexing Hawaii to the United States, 1897.
10. The Resolution of the Hawaiian Senate ratifying the annexation treaty, 1897.
11. The Joint Resolution of Congress annexing Hawaii, 1898.
12. The documents and procedure incident to the transfer of the sovereignty and possession of Hawaii to the United States, 1898; and the executive orders of President McKinley, relating to the government of Hawaii, issued during the transition period between the date of annexation and the passage of the Organic Act, 1898-1900.
