MEMBERS OF MILITIA MUST PAY POLL TAX

The House Knocks Out Their Exemption as Well as That of Ministers and of the Hilo Firemen.

The Senate did not reach any of its special committee business yesterday, although it was hoped for a time that the Dowsett county act committee would be ready to report at the afternoon session, and so it sat but a short time and transacted only routine business.

The House spent itself in eloquence, largely, but sat longer than the Senate and got through a good deal of business,—for one thing striking out the tax exemption of ministers, national guardsmen, and members of the Hilo Fire Department.

LEGISLATURE--THIRTY-FOURTH DAY.

THE SENATE.

The Senate had a very short session yesterday, none of its special committees being ready to report, although it has been expected that the Dowsett County Act Committee would submit the result of its labors. In fact, so certain was it that this committee would report that a recess was taken at the noon hour, instead of an adjournment, but nothing whatever was done at the afternoon session excepting to meet and adjourn.

At the opening of the session, the House returned Senate Bill 36, the marriage license bill, amended so that licenses shall be issued by the Treasurer only. The amendments were accepted, Achi and Kalama voting against the measure.

From the Accounts Committee, Paris submitted a report showing that the Senate has been so economical that as yet it has not used up half of its appropriation.

ECONOMICAL SENATORS.

The report follows: Sir: Your Committee on Accounts begs leave to make a partial report regarding the expenses of the Senate at this session, believing that such statement is due the members of the Senate as well as the public at large. There has been expended for the necessary running expenses of the Senate up to and including Saturday, March 25, 1905, the thirty-third day of the session, the total sum of $13,138.52, which is classified as follows: Compensation of members, $3,999.00; Mileage, 250.80; Incidentals, including trip to Molokai, postage stamps, ice, etc., 255.05; Salaries of officers, 957.00; Typewriting, 210.50; Stationery, 102.58; Printing, 1,002.00; Translating, 80.25; Total, $6,861.48.

The appropriation for the expenses of the regular session of the Senate was $20,000, deducting the amount expended as above, $6,861.48, a balance of $13,138.52 is left.

There will have to be paid on or after the fiftieth day of the session the last payment as compensation of the members of the Senate the further sum of $2,001.00, thus leaving the sum of $11,137.52 as a balance for the running expenses of the balance of the session, the printing of the journal, and the extra compensation allowed the clerk after the close of the session for the completion of this work.

Your committee believe that the above statement will show that the present session of the Senate has been run in a very economical and business-like manner.

Respectfully submitted, J. D. PARIS, Chairman. S. E. KALAMA, G. C. HEWITT.

ROUTINE MATTERS

The House concurrent resolution recommending the appropriation of money to relieve distress caused by the strange epidemic on Molokai, was passed with the amendment that not more than $1,500 be set apart for the purpose.

Paris presented a petition signed by 41 voters of North and South Kona, asking for the appropriation of $10,000 to control storm waters. Referred to the Loan Committee.

Dickey introduced a bill to promote the enforcement of the laws. Achi introduced a bill to perpetuate testimony.

House Bill 136, to tax social clubs $200 per year, was the order of the day on third reading. The bill passed, Dickey alone voting against it.

House Bill 99, preventing district attorneys from practicing on appeal cases in circuit court, passed first reading.

House Bill 113, repealing the wide-tire act, was laid on the table on second reading, 8 to 4.

House Bill 95, the bicycle light bill, on second reading, was passed. The bill extends the provisions of the bill to all parts of the Territory. It was amended so that automobiles should be compelled to carry lights also. It will be read for the third time on Thursday.

House Bill 151, the leprosy divorce bill, passed second reading. This is the bill drawn to meet the objections of the Governor's veto of a former measure. It passed second reading by the adoption of the committee's report, and Dickey moved reconsideration. The motion to reconsider carried and the bill was read through. The bill passed and will be read for the third time Thursday.

House Bill 126, making the registrar of public accounts assistant Treasurer was read for the second time, amended so as to make the officer appointive by the Governor, and passed. It will be read for the third time on Thursday. From the Judiciary Committee Achi reported against the House amendments of Senate Bill 37. The report was adopted. Achi, Dickey and Lane were appointed Senate conferees.

THE HOUSE.

For an hour and a half yesterday afternoon the House of Representatives, in committee of the whole, discussed the first paragraph in the chapter respecting exemptions in the bill relating to taxation.

This section as originally drafted, specifically exempted clergymen of any Christian denomination regularly engaged in their vocation, regular members of the Hilo Fire Department and all officers and men of the National Guard of Hawaii.

As soon as the section had been read and translated Rice moved to strike it out in its entirety.

KANIHO OBJECTED.

Kaniho was stunned. He is a preacher himself and the idea that ministers of the Gospel should have to pay taxes, struck him as being utterly irreligious. He was willing to have Hilo's firemen and the National Guardsmen pay—but ministers? Never. Holstein seconded Rice's motion, pointing out that it was only right that all classes should pay taxes. In any event he said, it would be unfair to favor Hilo when the volunteer fire departments to be raised at Walluku and Lehuina would have to pay taxes. As for the clergymen, he said, most of them were getting good fat salaries and ought to pay their taxes.

Broad made an appeal to exempt the clergy at all hazards for the clergy he said had made the country what it is today.

WHY NOT THE LAWYERS?

Fernandez had another amendment. He suggested that since ministers were to be exempted, attorneys should be also. The ministers saved people's souls and the lawyers their property; surely all were benefactors alike? Andrade thought the same way and seconded the motion.

Kalua naturally enough was for clerical exemption and Sheldon moved to strike out the exemption of the Hilo firemen and National Guard. "As for the National Guard," he said, "I used to think that they were intended to preserve the peace but since coming to Honolulu I have learned that their principal use is to drink beer."

Waterhouse, to meet the objection raised by Harris, moved to include all members of volunteer fire departments.

THE BUBBLE REPUTATION.

The temper of the House was plain in favor of striking out the section and Kaniho burst into speech once more with an attack on the National Guard and a defence of the exemption of the clergy. The Guardsmen, he said, ought to be taxed since they were seeking "a bubble reputation" at the cannon's mouth—which perhaps goes to show that he does not know much about the National Guard of Hawaii. The different amendments were lost one after another, and on the straight

The Celebrated Nerve Vitalizer and Tonic Quickly Transformed This Run Down Woman—She "Cannot Say Too Much" for

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND IT GIVES ALMOST INSTANT EFFECT.

DENVER, Col.—"After a long season with the 'Silver Slipper' Company, I went to Galesburg to visit my brother and rest up for the coming season. A professional who is compelled to go through a hard season without any rest is totally run down before the season is over. This was my case exactly. My nerves were all unstrung and I was very much in need of a good nerve tonic. A friend suggested that I give Paine's Celery Compound a trial, and I did. The improvement was wonderful. When I received my call for rehearsal I left for New York feeling like another person. I cannot say too much for Paine's Celery Compound. It did me a world of good."—Miss Winnifred Gerard.

"Braced—Invigorated—Cured"—this is the tone of thousands of letters sent in by men and women of every calling and every station in life; grateful for the almost instant strength and health they get from Paine's Celery Compound. It feeds nature's own nerve-food—Celery—direct to the starving nerve centers.

vote, the section granting the exemptions was stricken out altogether by 14 to 13.

KAPIOLANI HOSPITAL.

When the question of exempting different public, educational, religious and eleemosynary institutions was reached Mahelona moved to strike the Kapiolani Maternity Home off the list. He attacked the institution on the ground that he knew of Hawaiian women who had gone there and had been charged large sums for the services rendered them.

Nakulua pointed out that it was only in the private rooms that charges were made. Nothing was charged in the public ward.

The motion to cut out the Maternity Home failed. The motion was made to add Lunalia Home, Home for Incapables, and the Kona Orphanage to the list of exempted institutions but the motion was deferred until particulars of the amount of taxes paid by them could be ascertained.

TELEPHONE BILL PASSES.

The Standard Telephone Company's bill came up for third reading at the morning session of the House.

Kaniho objected to the bill's passing because he thought it gave the company the right to lay its wires in conduits and hence it might cross his own private graveyard and dig up the remains of his loved ones.

Andrade pointed out that all underground conduits would be placed on the public streets so that it could not disturb any one's remains.

This did not satisfy Kaniho who thought that the telephone people might still plant poles in among the remains of his deceased loved ones.

A motion by Pulaa to indefinitely postpone was lost.

Long moved to amend the section regarding the use of underground conduits. The section made the fire limits of Honolulu the boundaries within which the conduits must be used and Long moved to make the boundary a radius of half a mile from the post-office.

The bill passed third reading with only Kaniho and Pulaa voting against it.

RIGHT OF REDEMPTION.

Aylett's bill to provide for the right of redemption within a year of property alienated under foreclosure of mortgage came up for its third reading at the opening of the afternoon session. It passed by 23 to 3.
