That royal hospitality did not become extinct with the monarchy would have been splendidly illustrated had the Tahitian prince, expected to call here in a tour of the world, arrived at any time within the past few months. Queen Liliuokalani had made everything ready to give his Tahitian royal highness a reception and entertainment, as long as he chose to remain, of regal character. Her friends must regret as much as herself that Her Majesty has been disappointed several times by misleading information regarding the probable arrival of her expected guest. Once the steamer from San Francisco was designated by which he was to arrive. The incident that occasioned the Queen the most inconvenience was when the Mariposa, running between San Francisco and Papete, put in here for fuel oil. A young man close to the Washington Place household, amidst an exciting misapprehension before the Mariposa docked that the steamer had been chartered to land the prince here, sent a wireless telegram to Lahaina to Queen Liliuokalani then there informing her of the prince's arrival as a fact. She hastened to Honolulu only to find that it was all a mistake. When the Queen was first apprised of the intended visit of the prince she began to make elaborate preparations, with no stint of expense, for his entertainment. Her Waikiki beach villa was renovated and repainted from top to bottom, as well as improvements to the grounds made, the cost amounting to two thousand dollars or more. It was Liliuokalani's purpose to place the whole establishment at the prince's disposal throughout his sojourn, or, if he preferred, the entire second floor of Washington Place in town which was also especially prepared for the purpose.

As formerly stated, when the same prince visited Honolulu many years ago he made a very fine impression on the royal family as well as on local society in general. His portrait, still preserved among royal household treasures, shows him as a fine specimen of manhood. He must now be well above middle age and, from all accounts, is well preserved as well as abundantly wealthy and much traveled. All Honolulu will join in the wish that his much reported intention of visiting Queen Liliuokalani may prove real through his arrival at an early date.

The board of directors of the Young Women's Christian Association issued invitations the early part of the week to meet Miss Taylor and Miss Conde, national secretaries of the association, at the home of Mrs. Walter Hoffmann for Thursday afternoon. Many availed themselves gladly of this opportunity to meet these well known and charming women personally, who are here en route to the world's convention of the Y. W. C. A., soon to convene at Tokyo. The visitors on their part seemed to be as charmed to meet the ladies of Honolulu and were as interested in the reports of the work here as the ladies of the city were to greet them.

The affair was in every sense perfectly arranged and was a thoughtful action on the part of the local Y. W. C. A. directors. The hostess who opened her home for the occasion greeted the guests on the spacious lanai and presented them to Mrs. E. W. Jordan, president of the Honolulu association, who, with Miss Moyer, the local secretary, presented them to the guests of honor, Mrs. J. A. McCandless, Mrs. von Holt, Mrs. B. L. Marx, Mrs. W. Hopper, Mrs. Philip Frear, Mrs. G. W. R. King and Mrs. W. L. Howard assisted.

The reception was further graced by the presence of Bishop Cranston's charming wife and other tourists, who remarked pleasantly on the cordial hospitality of islanders. The rooms were at no time unpleasantly crowded, as many left at half past four to attend Dean Bosworth's lecture, others coming later from Mrs. Clive Davies', where they had listened to a discourse by Bishop Restarick. Thus all the guests had an opportunity of having a few words with Misses Taylor and Conde.

Among the many present were noticed, Mrs. Walter Frear, Mrs. J. O. Carter, Mrs. Theo. Richards, Mrs. Frank Atherton, Mrs. Richards Sr., Mr. Frank Damon, Rev. and Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Wadman, Mrs. Cranston, Mrs. H. M. von Holt, Mrs. John McCandless, Mrs. Dillingham, Mrs. Weaver, Mrs. Kopke, Mrs. Dole, Mrs. Withington, Mrs. Thwing, Mrs. Gulick, Mrs. Angus, Miss Smith, Miss Byington, Mrs. Daoola, Mrs. C. M. Cooke, Mrs. Alonzo Cartley, Dr. Bingham, Mrs. Ramsey, Miss Francis Lawrence, Miss Charlotte Carter, Mr. and Miss Alexander and Mrs. B. L. Marx.

Mrs. Nettie Robeson was a departing passenger on the S. S. Alameda last week, many of her friends being at the boat to wish her a safe trip and a speedy return to Honolulu. She

Mrs. Pfotenbauer returned on Wednesday from a three weeks' visit on Maui.

Mrs. J. R. Galt gave a pot luncheon on Friday for her sister, Mrs. Crehore, at which sixteen covers were laid. The affair was a jolly one and enjoyed most thoroughly. The guests were Mrs. Crehore, Mrs. Layard, Mrs. Walter Frear, Mrs. Alex. Scott, Mrs. D. Howard Hitchcock, Mrs. George Cooke, Mrs. Hoffmann, Mrs. F. A. McNeill, Miss Margaret Hopper, Miss McKinley, Miss Cordelia Carter, Mrs. Withington, Mrs. Charles Wight and Mrs. Alfred Carter.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Arendt, of Waipahu, celebrated their tin wedding last Saturday night by giving an elaborate party to a large number of their friends. A special car from Honolulu was engaged to run to and from Waipahu for the convenience of the guests and it was not needed to return home until a very late hour. Their cosy bungalow was decorated with Japanese lanterns, which were also strung among all the trees surrounding it, the pretty light of which could be seen for blocks.

The interior of the house was befittingly ornamented with tin foil and tin shavings, and the idea carried out thoroughly in table decorations and prizes. A special music was arranged for the evening and a light repast ended the very enjoyable night.

The first lady's prize was won by Mrs. J. M. Levy and the lady's consolation by Miss Nellie Fritzmurice. The first gentleman's prize went to E. M. Scoville, gentleman's consolation being won by Louis Abrams.

The invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chillingworth, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Abrams, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cohen, Miss Adele Morgan, Miss Nellie Fritzmurice, Roscoe Perkins, Mrs. William Green, Miss Rosina Green, Captain and Mrs. Soule, Mr. and Mrs. Jules Levy, Mrs. Fanny Zeave, William Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Crane, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lucas, Ralph Browning, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Scoville, Mr. and Mrs. Linder, Mr. McGettigan, Theodore Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. W. Todd, Chas. Hall, Mrs. Arendt and others.

Midshipman Ellis Lando, who has been the guest of honor at several dinner parties since his return here a week ago, received the following orders on Friday: "Take passage on the transport Sherman, sailing from San Francisco March 5th, upon her arrival at Honolulu, for Cavite station and report to senior officer present for duty afloat. Written orders follow." Midshipman Lando is a graduate of the Honolulu High School, subsequently graduating from the Naval Academy, at Annapolis, and is now beginning his naval career. He will be absent from Honolulu about three years.

Mrs. George Ross will receive on the first Monday in the month at the residence of Mrs. Robert Lishman, 1445 Keeaumoku street.

The following ladies formed the committee for taking cheer to the Leali Home, the Queen's Hospital and to the sick Chinese in the city for the year past: Mrs. Angus, Mrs. Bottomley, Mrs. C. J. Campbell, Miss Catton, Miss Victoria Jordan, Mrs. Kong, Mrs. Harry Macfarlane, Mrs. Mist, Mrs. W. L. Soper, Mrs. F. M. Swanzy, Mrs. P. A. Wall, Mrs. Oieson, Mrs. F. H. Humphris.

As event of interest to a number of people in Hawaii took place at Dover, England, when Lieutenant H. L. Wilcox, R. N., son of Commander Scott Wilcox, R. N., was married to Sybil Alan, daughter of Capt. Chambre, R. N. The bride is the younger daughter of a lady born in Honolulu and prominently known as Miss Ida von Pfister, whose parents were among the early settlers of Hawaii, and whose relatives added much to the history of these islands. Mr. Thomas Brown and the Hon. Godfrey Rhodes, her uncles, being widely known, the former as a legislator. Captain Chambre, the bride's father, won his wife in Honolulu when he came as an officer in H. E. M. ship, the Phantome, which vessel erected the monument to Captain Cook, at Keaiakekua, Hawaii. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Aeneas R. Mackintosh, M. A. Oxon, who was born in Honolulu, and among the wedding guests were Dr. Dugald Campbell, with his wife and son, Mr. Colin Campbell, R. N., who lived on Kauai for several years, where he had an extensive practice, and founded the hospital at Waimea.—A. C. Chronicle.

Mrs. J. A. McCandless will entertain Miss Taylor and Miss Conde at a luncheon on Monday.

Mrs. Edith T. Weathered and the members of the Western Tour's party were entertained last night at a reception given by Princess Emma DeFries.

The officers of the past year for the Hospital Flower Society have all been re-elected by acclamation for the coming year. These officers are: Mrs. E. W. Jordan, president; Mrs. Judd, vice-president; Mrs. Bottomley, secretary; Miss von Holt, treasurer, and Mr. E. W. Jordan, auditor. The Society is now in its seventeenth year of existence, and is in good financial condition, doing much work among the sick and distressed and meeting with much encouraging appreciation.

Miss Nina Craig gave a tallyho and riding party to about fifty of her young friends last Thursday evening.

There were ten people in the Howard Hitchcock sketching party at Moanua yesterday and a delightful time was had. Another visit to the beautiful estate will be made next Saturday if the weather is good.

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Irwin entertained at a bridge party on Thursday evening of last week at their home, on Washington street. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. William Bourn, Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. William Hinckley Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Mendell, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Mountford Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sharon, Mr. and Mrs. George Lent, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. K. Nuttall, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Blanchard Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Carolan, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Spreckels, Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Garceau, Dr. and Mrs. James W. Keeney, Mrs. Hyde-Smith, Mrs. James Robinson and Mr. E. W. Hopkins—Argonaut.

Capt. B. F. Tilley, U. S. N., who has recently become a Rear Admiral, is well known in Honolulu society, having been stationed here while a Lieutenant-Commander.

It is stated on good authority that Mr. and Mrs. William G. Irwin do not intend to again live in Honolulu and that their beautiful seaside home—the Moorish palace at Waikiki—is for sale. The place has not been advertised, but any one who wants to acquire the property for $1 a square foot may do so. Mrs. Irwin is becoming the recognized leader of San Francisco society and the demands upon her are too exacting to leave her much time from San Francisco, New York and Paris for quiet little Honolulu.

Lt. Col. Chas. E. Davis, of Albany, N. Y., second in command of the Tenth Regt., N. G. N. Y., has been unanimously elected president of the National Guard Association of New York. Col. Davis married the widow of the late Charles L. Carter, and is well remembered in Honolulu.

Mr. Law has received word that Ah Tai, who entered Boone College, Wu-chang, from the Royal school last September, has won the principal's prize for taking the highest number of marks in his class of the term's work and has had his name engraved on the college cup for beating in the Chinese intercollegiate foot races. Ah Tai expects an imperial position as soon as he gets the degree of B. A.

Kim Teong, another boy of Mr. Law's class, has entered the regular B. A. course of St. John's College, Shanghai.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Rubinstein have permanently taken up a home on Governor Cleghorn's lovely estate, "Aina-

MISS MARY ADELE CASE, THE CONTRALTO.

Miss Mary Adele Case, who will give a recital in the Opera House tomorrow evening, comes to Honolulu with the backing of many of the best critics of western America, including some celebrated vocalists. It is upon the recommendation of Madame Gaski that the young contralto is going to Paris, where she will go under the instructions of one of the greatest teachers of voice culture in that famous artists' center.

The program selected by Miss Case for her recital on Monday shows the capability of the songstress. This program includes selections from Sinding, Nevin, Walthew, Bach, Gounod, Chaminade and Giordani, while, by request, she has also included Tosti's "Good-by" among the numbers. She will also sing some ballads, which to many are preferable to the more difficult selections.

This week finds the Honolulu hotels well filled with tourists, an unusually large number of persons from the mainland having arrived on the S. S. Iberia. Among those registered at the Young Hotel are Miss Louise Guffey, Chicago; Mrs. M. Richter, San Francisco; J. Bacon, Louisville, Ky.; Captain E. P. Drew, San Francisco; F. H. Kennedy, Stockton; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Vosburg, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Reynolds, Denver; Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Adams, Mrs. C. A. Watson and Mrs. C. A. Hill, Redlands; E. Cranston, Denver; Mrs. F. H. Waldgnast, Portland; Mrs. M. E. Dole and Mrs. Anna Brown, New York; Mrs. W. W. Brown, Springfield, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. John Gibson and Miss Edith Martin, Manila; Rev. Samuel Greene, Seattle; Mrs. E. H. Camp, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Miller, Lincoln, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Thynne, Vancouver, and J. H. Cooke, Souris, Manitoba.

The affairs of the Honolulu Symphony Society are in excellent shape, as evidenced by the very satisfactory reports presented at the annual meeting on Friday, held at the society's club house at Haalea Lawn. The membership of the society has lessened to quite an extent recently owing to the removal of some of them to the Coast, and this has retarded the growth of the orchestra somewhat, but the society are entertaining hopes of much better things for the coming year.

No mistake has been made in choosing R. Rudland Bode as the musical director. He is untiring in his efforts in spite of the handicap in the instrumentation of the orchestra and it is expected that the lacking pieces will soon be in the hands of active members. It seem to have been the case hitherto that many amateur musicians have held back from joining through lack of confidence in themselves and Mr. Bode is doing all that is possible to dissipate this lack, being ready at all times to instruct those beginners in their respective parts and prepare them to take their share in the rehearsals creditably. At the present time the instruments most needed are more violins, French horns, viola, trombone and drums. A second clarinet and another double bass viol would also balance the orchestra better and bring the organization up to a pitch of perfection never before attained.

The orchestra is now rehearsing a symphony program to be given shortly in the Opera House, a concert which is being looked forward to by Honolulu music lovers.

At the meeting on Friday the following members were chosen to fill the various positions: E. Kopke, president; H. F. Wichman, vice-president; G. J. Boisse, secretary; J. B. Lightfoot, treasurer; W. Beakbane, librarian; O. R. Williams and Judge P. L. Weaver, directors.
