

ST. LOUIS AND JEWELS WINNERS

The First Game One of the Best of the Season, Not So the Second.

ST. LOUIS, 2; KAMEHAMEHAS, 1. DIAMOND HEADS, 10; PUNAHOU, 2.

It was a great day for the fans. The first game was good ball from the beginning to the end, and was worth being interested in. The second was altogether one sided, but it had some exciting spots in it. When the Diamond Heads made one hit and five runs in the very first inning, and two hits and three runs in the eighth, it was to work the grandstand up into a considerable pitch of excitement.

There was a good crowd out to see the games. The St. Louis and the Kamehamehas, who were pitted against one another in the first game, were expected to play some ball, and they did not disappoint. The announcement that Castle was to pitch for the Punahous raised the expectations of many and no doubt brought out many Punahou sympathizers. But Castle did not equal the expectations raised concerning him. When he gave four men for bases on balls, let in one man on a wild pitch and gave a hit that scored two others, all in the first inning, while it gave plenty of opportunity for the fans to shout and make merry, it made the Punahou sympathizers grieve. And though he walked no more men to first and struck out three men in later innings—four in the whole game—the damage had been done. Nothing but marvelous playing could have won the game after that, and the Punahous never did marvelous playing. In fact, it was the Diamond Heads who gratified the crowd's instinct for good play. The score of ten to two shows what kind of a Waterloo it was for the Punahous.

The Diamond Heads also played a new man, Sanborn of Hanalei. He played with the Punahous one game last season and played well. He is a big, athletic-looking fellow, played first base and did it well. He showed up well at the bat, though he made no base hits. He made one run, put out twelve men and made no errors.

FIRST GAME.

Twice during the game between the St. Louis and the Kamehameha teams there was superlative justification for the grandstand getting enthusiastic. It did. Once was in the first half of the second inning, when Busnell delivered the ball only three times in the inning. Vannatta went to bat first and he struck the first ball delivered to him and sent a fly to shortstop, who took it. Lota repeated the performance. Kuhlina came next to bat and varied the performance only by sending it to second instead of to shortstop.

The other time was in the first of the ninth. It was the last chance for the Kamehamehas. The score stood two to one against them. If they could make one run it would tie the score in the ninth inning and give a chance for the first extra-inning game of the season. The mere possibility of this was enough to stir up the shouters. Lemon went to bat first and struck out. Then Miller went to bat and hit a two-bagger to extreme left field. This was the signal. What might not be hoped from such a beginning? The enthusiasts let themselves loose. The bleachers became perfect Delphic oracles of advice and prognostication. Jones struck out and the possibilities for tying the score were very greatly less. Still the excitement and shouting continued. Then Vannatta struck the ball and by good running beat the ball to first, Miller meanwhile getting to third. Excitement ran high. If Miller could only get home, the game might have any outcome. But Lota went out at first, and hopes went a-glimmering and excitement subsided.

The Kamehamehas scored their only run in the first inning, when Lemon, who had got to third, scored on Gleason's throw to third in an attempt to catch him off the base. The St. Louisians made one run in the third inning. Lota sent the ball along the line past first and got that base safely and then to second on the same play amidst cheers. He got to third when Aylett swatted the ball to left, and home on the same play. Aylett got second on the throw to home in an attempt to head off Lota, and to third on an overthrow of catcher to second, but was put out trying to get home on Fernandez's bunt. The other run made by the collegians was by Busnell. In the fifth Reuter gave Busnell, Lota and Aylett their base on balls in succession. This brought Busnell to third. He scored when Fernandez swatted the ball into deep left.

The remainder of the game was an exhibition of clean, careful playing on both sides, men going out in procession as they came up to bat.

SECOND GAME.

In the second game the Diamond Heads gave an exhibition of that progressively-improving play which they have maintained from the first, with only slight fluctuations. They were strong at the bat, although it can not be said that they bunched their hits, and they fielded clean and played good ball. The Punahous did some fine playing in spots, but there were holes in their fielding and they were not equal to their opponents in their stick work. When the Diamond Heads went to bat, Olmos and Fernandez were walked to first base, Darcy swatted the ball and Williams did not get to it quite quick enough. This brought Olmos to third and he scored, as did Fernandez, when Davis went out from shortstop to first. Sanborn and Leslie were given first on balls, and Sam Chillingworth got out at first, Darcy scoring on the play. Jonah made a single and Sanborn and Leslie scored on it. This was five runs for the Diamond Heads. For the Punahous, in the fourth, E. Desha made a long hit to center, stole second, got to third on J. Desha's sacrifice hit and scored on Castle's infield hit. There was nothing doing on either side until the seventh, when Castle walked to first, stole second and third, the latter by a pretty slide, feet first, that nonplussed Chillingworth and elicited cheers from the grandstand. Then he got home on an overthrow from catcher to third. That was all there was in the game for Punahou.

In their half of the seventh, Olmos, for the Diamond Heads, was at third. Fernandez was at second and Darcy at first. Davis went out on a long fly to center, such a long one that Olmos ought to have come home on it after the out. However, both he and Fernandez scored on Sanborn's batting. In the next inning, after two men were out, Olmos made a two-base hit and scored on Fernandez's single, the latter and Darcy scoring on Davis's single.

In the first game, Reuter was not up to his usual form in the box, and in the second it was not fairly to be expected that so soon after a sea voyage Castle would be up to his own standard, though after the first inning he held things down.

SQUIRES BEATEN AT EVERY POINT

A story of the fight between Squires and Burns arrived in the papers received yesterday on the Sherman and there is only one way in which to look at the affair. Squires never had a show. There is no suggestion of a chance blow. Burns slipped right hand jabs into him where he wished and the Australian showed that he could never stand the punishment which might be expected from a fighter of any class. Squires had no guard. He hardly blocked a blow and only hit Burns twice in the fight, once on the ribs and again on the head. Neither of the blows had force enough to make the Canadian even grin and he kept his head beautifully and landed the finishing punch, a right hander on the point of the jaw, just hard enough to end matters. Squires was the favorite at odds of 10-8 at the ringside, the public, as it

ENDURANCE TEST GREAT SUCCESS

Four Autos Returned With Perfect Scores From Haleiwa.

The reliability contest under the auspices of the Hawaiian Automobile Club held yesterday resulted in perfect scores for four of the machines. Strange to say each of the autos with a perfect score was of a different type, one a roadster, and the other two a buckboard and a runabout. Nine cars made the start. On the run down there was the most trouble. With the exception of Warren's and Jordan's, all the cars not making perfect scores had accidents. Warren was put out of the contest by a stone flying up from the road and breaking a pit cock. On the way back there was little trouble for any one, almost all the cars coming back with good records. The autoists were greeted at Haleiwa by Manager Biggood, who placed the hotel at their disposal. Many enjoyed the hour and a half wait, by taking a short swim, while the others had their lunch and enjoyed the cool air of Waialua. This will probably be the first of many like contests.

The was only one accident to mar the day's sport. Dr. Murray ran over a Japanese shortly before reaching the city on the return run. The Japanese was on a bicycle and refused to get out of the way. He steered straight for the oncoming auto and was struck, being thrown from his wheel, which was badly smashed. He was hurt rather painfully around the head but no serious results are apprehended.

The results: J. D. Kennedy, Winton touring car, perfect score. Bruce Kennedy, Ford runabout, perfect score. Dr. Brinkerhoff, Packard roadster, perfect score. W. N. Patton, Orient buckboard, perfect score.

S. B. Jordan, Maxwell touring car, three points deducted. H. H. Williams, Reo touring car, eight points deducted. F. J. Warren, Reo touring car, twelve points deducted. Dr. George R. Herbert, Reo touring car, thirty points deducted. George P. Cooke, Ford runabout, disqualified. Dr. H. Murray, Maxwell runabout, did not finish. S. M. Ballou, Winton touring car, did not start. Albert Afong, Pope-Hartford touring car, did not start.

LONDON, June 30.—The rowing men assembled at Henley for the annual regatta say that the possibility of Cambridge rowing against the Yale eight, thus repeating last year's great international event, is remote. It was difficult to gather a crew to row against Harvard last year, but this year it is virtually impossible to get a crew together.

Honolulu Cricket Club Wins, Defeating Cableship in Match Game.

Tables were turned yesterday in the cricket match between the Honolulu Cricket Club and the Restorer. The victory before in every contest has been with the cableship boys, but yesterday they were defeated by a score of 99 to 61. For some reason they could not get down to their regular game, so the local men triumphed. As the result of yesterday's game, another match will probably be played in the near future. The scores:

Not How Cheap But How Good

That quality in food stuffs is demanded by the wide-awake American of today, is amply evidenced by the recent passage of the Food and Drugs Act. Americans want quality and will have quality. The expenditure of a little more money plays no part. They wisely consider such money well spent.

GOLDEN GATE FLOUR

is synonymous with quality. For forty years Golden Gate Millers have led the Quality Van both in the way of securing the finest, choicest wheat and in the introduction of the latest and best milling processes. And each year their leadership becomes more pronounced and appreciated. Golden Gate is full of gluten which makes it extremely nourishing. Observe the tenacity of the dough when drawn out. This reveals the quality and amount of gluten in the flour, a quality and amount greater than any other flour can boast of. Observe also the whiteness of Golden Gate Flour, its fine finished appearance free from all lumps and grit. These observations bear out the absolute truth of the statements made in the preceding paragraph.
