MARINE The only arrivals yesterday were the steamers W. G. Hall, Iwaland and Despatch. The first and last-named were from Kauai, and the other steamer came from Maui and Molokai ports. The water in the harbor was muddied by the southerly blow and the incessant rain added to the general dismalness of the waterfront aspect. On the reef the breakers thundered all day long, the white surf showing snowily against the leaden sky. COLUMBIAN ON DRYDOCK. SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—As a result of running aground at Salina Cruz on her last voyage the American-Hawaiian Company's freighter Columbian will go into the Hunters' Point drydock on Tuesday. While in dock the Columbian will have her stern post straightened and several blades of her propellers replaced. The Columbian had 14,000 tons of sugar aboard when she grounded at Salina Cruz. IRMGARD IN A GALE. SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Captain Christiansen of the bark Irmgard, which arrived yesterday from Honolulu was compelled to leave his vessel for six hours just before reaching port, owing to a gale which was blowing outside the Heads on Friday night. Notwithstanding the time lost during the gale the Irmgard made a fast passage during favorable weather, occupying fourteen days only on the passage from the island port. The Irmgard brought 17,867 bags of the new season's sugar consigned to Williams, Diamond & Co. SCHOONERS COMING. The American schooner Borealis sailed from Everett for Honolulu yesterday, and the American schooner W. H. Marston sailed from San Francisco for this port yesterday. HILONIAN NEXT WEDNESDAY. The Matson steamship Hilonian is due here next Wednesday morning from San Francisco. She is now on her way here and she brings a good cargo of freight and a considerable number of passengers. ECLIPSE WRECKAGE. The British ship Daylight, which reached San Francisco three weeks ago from Newcastle with coal, reported having sighted spars from the ill-fated ship Eclipse, which foundered January 11 at a point 900 miles north of Hawaii, on February 8, in latitude 30 degrees 44 minutes north, longitude 151 degrees 53 minutes west, or about 100 miles south and 240 miles east of the place where Captain Larsen and his crew abandoned the Eclipse a month before. THE RITHET. The American bark R. P. Rithet is now at the railroad wharf and is ready to load sugar for the Coast. FRENCH BOATS COMING. VICTORIA, B. C., February 28.—The Chargeurs Reunis, the French steamship company which engages in round-the-world service, is making arrangements to establish a transpacific steamship service in which the company's steamers Caravelles, 1971 tons, and Canarias, 1971 tons, will be used, running between Japanese ports and San Francisco by way of Honolulu with steamings every forty-five days. The new service will commence in May. Following the coming of the French steamers Caravelles and Canarias into this new transpacific service in May, the round-the-world liners will run from Yokohama to this port. The Chargeurs Reunis has made a traffic arrangement with the Canadian-Pacific Railroad under which the shippers by the French steamers will be given through bills of lading on all overland cargo. DIX RETURNING TO SOUND. TACOMA, March 1.—The United States transport Dix is expected to leave Manila any day on her return passage to Puget Sound. She left early in February, arriving in the Philippines February 10, and has since been discharging. She is expected to arrive on the Sound about April 15. TO SAIL TODAY. The A.-H. S. S. Nebraskan and the Japanese steamer Kasato Maru will sail today for Kahului and Yokohama, respectively. MOVEMENTS OF SHIPPING. ADATO, Br. S. S., from Newcastle for Honolulu, Feb. 28. A. J. China's Problems By E. W. Thwing. Present events in China lead one to stop and think of some of the perplexing problems now before that vast empire. One of these great problems today is how to unify the many forces, both in the government and among the people, in the direction of real reform. At Peking today there are two strongly-antagonistic parties, the Liberal and the Conservative. The Liberal party will perhaps stand for a "constitution," for "parliamentary self government," and for "compulsory education" of all the youth of China. The Conservative party is afraid of much of the "new education," and stands for reaction and more or less of the old official corruption. The people also are divided into many parties. Some are ready to help the government in its efforts toward real reform. Others are too impatient at the slow and orderly changes, that must be based on true education and enlightenment, and wish at once to upset the present order and make radical changes before the people are ready or able to carry them out. To meet this most difficult problem of uniting her people and her government, China needs many strong and wise and faithful statesmen. TROUBLES MANY. Not only the present trouble at Macao is giving China much uneasiness, but difficulties are found at Canton, at Kwong Sai, the West River, and many other places in South China. Reports come also from Swatow that large quantities of arms are being smuggled into the neighborhood. The officials are uneasy and on the lookout. Many new societies are being formed throughout the two southern provinces, who want to secure self-government immediately. Some of the new organizations strongly oppose foreigners, and wish to see their own government changed. This is a constant source of danger. Robbers and pirates are found in large numbers on all the many waterways in the south. This has led to more activity on the part of the British gunboats. On their landing, and in their dealings with the natives, the bluejackets are not always as careful as they might be. Some of the young, hot-headed students of the more than fifty new schools and colleges of Canton are ready at once to rage at this so-called aggressiveness of the British. They are crying with more zeal than ever, "China for the Chinese," as we cry, "America for Americans." These students are talking of their New China, and of China's sovereign rights on her own inland waters. Even the government of Macao is charged with trying to secure more of Chinese territory. These difficulties are multiplying every day and week, and present many new and hard problems for China. Among the viceroys and high officials at Peking there are also many differences. The Tokyo Puch, referring recently to some of China's difficulties, said: "Two greatest statesmen of China, Yuan Shihkai and Chang Chihlung, are on bad terms. Both being Chinese, their quarrel is not that of Chinese and Manchus. Nor is it due to any difference of political views. They are striving for their personal ascendancy; each wants to have the Empress Dowager solely on the side. The welfare of their country is not what they care for. But even in Japan, there are statesmen who love their party more than their country." However, in spite of some minor differences, it is now reported that Yuan Shihkai and Chang Chihlung are working together for real reform. And it is said now, that the influence of the reform party in Peking is paramount. Important official changes are also reported from Peking. Tien Liang has resigned the Ministry of War, and Yuan Shihkai, "The Man of Iron," is said to have taken his place. Prince Ching wishes to resign the presidency of the Grand Council, but the Empress Dowager will not permit him to do so. The Chinese Recorder of Shanghai, for last month, also speaks of trouble brewing between China and Japan. TROUBLE WITH JAPAN. "Trouble is threatening the peaceful relationship hitherto nominally existing between Japan and China. Attempts are being made by Japan to bring pressure to bear upon China and to increase the exploitation of this country's resources. A good deal of irritation is felt and has been expressed in Japan against Great Britain on account of the refusal of that country to aid Japan in her design upon Korea and Manchuria. The claim made by Japan to rights in Chientao as a part of Korea is stoutly contested by the Chinese and the landing of Japanese troops in that island to protect her Korean subjects' is the subject of diplomatic discussion in Peking. The Japanese are planning a new town of immense proportion a few miles to the west of Mukden." It can be clearly seen that what Japan wants, and needs today is more territory for the colonization of her many millions. She has Korea, but she would like to have Manchuria as well, and it looks as if she was definitely and steadily working to secure that end. She wishes to control the railroads and the trade of that territory. And it is a very difficult matter for China to preserve her rights there. In fact China has her hands full in the provinces nearer home. NEW FORCES. Some one, I believe, has written a book on "New Forces in Old China." That title certainly expresses the condition of things today. Especially in the south, are these many and varied forces coming in from all sides. Mr. Wamnamaker of Canton speaks of some of these new influences and motives that are now moving the millions of that great city at this present time of crisis. "An Empire of great past history and of untold possibilities for the future is throwing itself open to all sorts of modern influence, and will assimilate those that are most persistent in pressing themselves upon her. It almost seems as if with one impulse all the educated classes of China were entirely determined to turn face about from the past to the present and the future. All the motives that induce to motion are stirring in the Chinese mind—desire for wealth, craving for power, a sense of shame and an aspiration to be held in esteem among the peoples of the world, love of learning, and the longing for a better life—these, together with hatred of supposed enemies, are pressing the people forward into the new world. It is the crisis now. If the people who care for the world of man, do their duty at this time, they can make the leaders of the Empire; they can exercise a guiding power in the coming decades of Chinese history." Now, is certainly a most trying time for China. She needs her ablest minds to solve the many difficult problems before her. There are many dangers from without, and within. China needs leaders, skilful and strong, and men with a deep and strong devotion for their own country. There is a wonderful future before her, if she can only enter into it. May China find wise men to guide and direct the Empire to a place of strength and honor, among the great nations of the world.

COMPLAINT AGAINST QUEEN'S HOSPITAL Editor Advertiser: Some months ago quite a controversy was raised in your columns re the management of the Queen's Hospital but as things generally go in Hawaii we did not expect a death from want of public opinion or the apathy of the public. As a preface to my article now the writer is able to state that on two occasions he has been an inmate of the institution in question, and his son on all occasions he is able and must testify to the courtesy shown by the superintendent, Mr. Eckardt, and also to the kindness and attention shown him or his by the nurses. This morning, prior to an operation that my wife had to undergo, I telephoned to the hospital that I desired to speak to Mr. Eckardt to whom I wished to give a message to my wife. The nurse in the hospital office informed me that he was about the building and would ring me up in a few minutes. Time went on and nothing being rung up again, the hospital was rung up only to be told that Mr. Eckardt was down town. Now, Mr. Editor, the Queen's Hospital was endowed by Queen Emma and also receives a government subsidy and for many years exacted a toll of two dollars from mariners and, I think, passengers. As a resident of Koolau for nearly twenty years the writer is able to state that Koolau Hawaiians have no confidence in the institution. As an Anglo-American, I protest against the "star chamber" methods of the Queen's Hospital office. A person places a son, a daughter, a wife or some other near relative in the hospital and it is only natural that he or she should know how the patient is progressing, and this no hospital of any standing would ever dare to refuse to give out. Has the interested party to wait until he or she hears the body is at the undertaking parlors? But telephone to the office of the Queen's Hospital and you will receive no information or even courtesy. In many letters to the press I have always contended that there is no public opinion in Hawaii now. Owing to the feeling, or shall I say dread, against the Queen's Hospital it is the writer's opinion that some hundred or one hundred and fifty Hawaiian lives of Koolau might have been saved had they gone to the institution, I. e., from 1891 to 1908. In a small community like this a body is liable to make enemies in writing a letter like this wherein he attacks the management of such a well known institution. To the writer, who is endeavoring to rectify a wrong and make the hospital to be of some use such as its benefactress intended it should be, it is a matter of perfect indifference provided he is writing the truth and ready to back up his statements. The writer hopes that the trustees (I fear they will not, as I think they are too indifferent and as I see let them get out and make room for men abreast of the times), will put a stop to all star chamber methods in the Queen's Hospital office and thereby permit a relative to know how the patient interested in is. Yours respectfully, HENRY COBB-ADAMS, Kaneohe, March 12, 1908.
