LATE PROGRAM FOR REGATTA

There have been some changes made in the program for the Hawaiian regatta this afternoon. Sam Walker gave out the following last night as the very latest and correctest official dope:

The first race will start at 2 o'clock promptly, and all the events will be clearly visible from any point between the two hotels on the beach.

Generous in thought and deed are the seamen of the navy. One of these, fresh from the long battleship cruise, entered a bank in San Diego, hailing the teller boisterously as follows: "Hello, matey! How's business?" "Business isn't any too brisk," replied the teller, indulgently, "but maybe it'll pick up. What can I do for you?" The jacks produced a check for $30, payable to bearer. "How will you have it?" asked the teller. The genial seaman hesitated a moment, and then replied: "Matey, seein' that business ain't so good, I won't be hard on you. Gimme ten dollars now, an' I'll take the rest at ten a month."

Quite trivial was the difficulty, but the two Frenchmen developed it into a quarrel and challenged each other to fight. On the morning of the duel they and their seconds tramped through the woods to the fatal spot, when one of the duellists, the challenging party, tripped and fell. His second helped him to his feet. "I hope you are not much hurt," said the other duelist. "I'm not much hurt; I only bumped my nose on the ground." "Does it bleed?" "Yes, a little." "Heaven be praised! Blood flows, and my honor is vindicated. Give me your hand, old boy!"

When trouble was more general and more destructive in Ireland than at present, an Irish priest, a very good man, was disturbed by the inroads which strong drink was making on his flock. He preached a strong sermon against it. "What is it," he cried, "that keeps you poor? It's the drink. What is it keeps your children half-starved? Why, the drink. What is it keeps many of your children half-clotted? The drink. What is it causes you to shoot at your landlords—and miss them? The drink."

This is a Sargent story: A millionaire of coarse extraction went to Mr. Sargent's studio and had his portrait done. When the portrait was finished, the millionaire looked at it closely, and then said with a frown, "Not bad, Mr. Sargent; not at all bad, but you've left out one most essential feature." Mr. Sargent bit his lips to hide a smile. "Excuse me, sir," he said, "but I thought you wouldn't care to have the—er—warts produced." The millionaire, purple with rage, shouted: "Confound it, sir, I'm talking about the diamond rings and pin—not the warts!"

LOVE TRIUMPHANT.

Helen's lips are drifting dust,
Iliou is consumed with rust;
All the galleons of Greece
Drink the ocean's dreamless peace;
Lost was Solomon's purple show
Restless centuries ago;
Stately empires wax and wane—
Babylon, Barbary, and Spain—
Only one thing undefaced,
Lasts, though all the world lies waste
And the heavens are overturned;
—Dear, how long ago we learned!

There's a sight that blinds the sun,
Sound that lives when sounds are done,
Music that rebukes the birds,
Language lovelier than words,
Hue and scent that shame the rose,
Wine no earthly vineyard knows,
Silence stiller than the shore
Swept by Charon's stealthy oar,
Ocean more divinely free
Than Pacific's boundless sea—
—Dear, how long ago we knew!
Ye who love have learned it true.
—Frederic Lawrence Knowles.

"My friends," said a temperance lecturer, lowering his voice to an impressive whisper, "if all the saloons were at the bottom of the sea, what would be the result?" And the answer came, "Lots of people would get drowned."—Stray Stories.
