Douglas Erskine of the San Francisco Examiner writes to say that Dick needs encouragement from the fans, which he is not getting.

The wretched condition of upper Manoa road from Kamehameha avenue to Cooper's is a matter to which the Board of Supervisors should attend. From being a former popular driveway it has become a mere thoroughfare for Chinese hucksters.

The question of a set of ways at Pearl Harbor for the Hawaii Yacht Club has been brought up. A proposition has been made to put in a set of ways large enough to accommodate all the yachts, including the Hawaii, which is now under the jurisdiction of the yacht club. It is expected that this proposition will be accepted, as it is a very expensive matter pulling out small yachts on the big ways in the harbor, and is only a nuisance to the owners of the big marine railway.

The 12th Cavalry band gave a concert at the Moana Hotel last evening which was enjoyed by a large audience. The band played under the hau arbor close to the seashore, and the little park was filled with interested listeners. Following the concert a dance was given in the hotel parlor in honor of the commanding officer and officers and ladies of the transport Thomas. A large number of townfolk were present. The visiting officers and ladies enjoyed the Hawaiian music furnished for dancing.

Call—Lieutenant Michael E. Cooney will cross the Pacific with only a dress-suit-case. When the young officer left Washington to join the transport he had with him two big trunks filled with brand new uniforms of the latest style and fashion. When he landed in the city yesterday he went for his trunks to the baggage-room at the ferry and there he learned that the baggage car in which his trunks were placed had been burned coming across the continent, and all his effects had gone up in smoke. The value of the uniforms and appurtenances was about $600.
