

IN THE SOCIAL CIRCLE

Call.—Blood royal of Hawaii will play a prominent part in San Francisco society this coming season, the Princess Abigail Wahikanaula Kawananakoa, widow of Prince David and daughter of the famous sugar king and millionaire, James Campbell, having taken over the J. S. Merritt home in Presidio terrace, where she intends to entertain on the same royal plan as characterized her social activities in Honolulu. The Princess, who is well known in San Francisco, has been staying at the Fairmont hotel for some time, but the common thought was that with the coming of the winter season, she, according to her usual custom, would return to Honolulu.

There was the greatest surprise when it became known yesterday that she intended to remain in San Francisco and join the social whirl here. The Princess, as the daughter of the late James Campbell, inherited some of his millions. Her mother was a Hawaiian of royal blood, and, following the death of Campbell, she married Colonel A. K. Parker.

The Princess Abigail was born in Hawaii and received her primary education there at the hands of private tutors. Later she was sent to the convent of Notre Dame at San Jose, from which institution she graduated. She was married to Prince David Kawananaoka in 1902. The latter died in San Francisco in June of last year, and shortly following his death, Mrs. Campbell-Parker, her mother, passed away also.

Though the mother of three children, the Princess Abigail has been one of the primal figures in Honolulu society. A ball masque and Japanese cotillion given by her some years ago still retain their fame. Her teas, luncheons and dinners brought together at her residence the most prominent Americans and Hawaiians on the islands. She was a regular attendant at the polo grounds and race courses, and often was chosen as judge in horse shows.

Apart from her social activities the Princess has taken a great interest in church and religious work. She is recognized as one of the most capable hostesses in the west, and it is expected that her residence will be the scene of many a gala event. She intends to leave her apartments at the Fairmont and remove to her new home in October.

Col. T. Wahu-Morgan Draper, of San Rafael, Cal., and Mrs. Draper have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Draper, to Midshipman Kirkwood H. Donavin, U. S. N., attached to the West Virginia, the news being told their friends in San Francisco and San Rafael on Wednesday, Sept. 1. Mr. Donavin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Donavin, of Columbus, Ohio, while Miss Draper is the youngest daughter of one of the prominent families of San Rafael. The wedding is to take place in February next, immediately upon the return of the Pacific fleet to San Francisco. Colonel T. Wahu-Morgan Draper was here with one of the regular volunteer regiments in 1898 and was stationed at Waikiki.

Chronicle.—Mrs. William Irwin and her daughter, Helene, and her sister, Mrs. Robinson of Philadelphia, will sail from Cherbourg today for New York. After a brief visit in the East, Mrs. Irwin and her daughter will return to San Francisco. William Irwin is still in Honolulu, where business interests have claimed his attention all summer.

Call.—Mrs. William Kleeman was a hostess of the week, entertaining at a card party in honor of the Misses Me-Stocker, who have been visiting in the bay cities as the house guest of her daughter, Mrs. William Jarvis. The Me-Stocker girls are staying in Alameda with friends before returning to finish their visit with Mrs. Jarvis. A number of the larger affairs are being planned in their honor for the early winter before their departure for their home in Honolulu.

Chronicle.—Mr. and Mrs. Milo M. Potter and Miss Mina Jones have gone to Lake Tahoe, where they will spend a week or ten days.

Chronicle.—Mrs. Julius Kruttschnitt and Miss Rebecca Kruttschnitt have gone to Del Monte for a brief visit.

"My! To think that my wee small bit of fame should have preceded me even to Honolulu. An interview and a picture? I certainly had not expected to find a reporter at the dock to meet me. I thought I had succeeded in running away and was going to hide myself in Honolulu for a few weeks."

The speaker was Miss Blanche Hall of Los Angeles, who arrived Friday morning on the Alameda for a short vacation. Miss Hall enjoys the distinction of being the most popular dramatic stock leading woman who ever played in Los Angeles. Outside of her working hours her little artistic Spanish bungalow on Jefferson street is the rendezvous for a jolly crowd of the younger social set. Miss Hall is accompanied by Mrs. L. Works.

"Is this your first visit to the Islands, Miss Hall?" questioned the reporter.

"Yes, and I am so sorry I have only a five weeks' vacation and will have to hurry back. I have been waiting to make the trip to the Islands ever since I first came from New York to Los Angeles five years ago. I have been disappointed each year in my vacation and I can hardly realize that I am at last really in the Paradise of the Pacific. You see I have read up on the Islands. 'I have heard so much and want to see it all, if possible, in the short time I have here. The first thing we are going to make the around-the-island trip. Then I want to try all the native fruits and dishes I have heard so much about. 'I cannot tell you how much I regret not having the time to go over to see the volcano. Although I am unable to make a lengthy visit at the present time I hope to come back again and very soon. A score of my friends are envying me this trip.'"

Rear Admirals Sobree and Barry will be the guests of honor at a dinner party to be given Friday evening by Governor and Mrs. Frear.

Mrs. Martha Winter announces the engagement of her daughter, Emily, to Mr. E. T. Wainat.

On Tuesday evening the officers of the Pacific fleet will entertain Honolulu society folk aboard the flagships Tennessee and West Virginia from eight to eleven in the evening. The reception has the promise of being one of the most brilliant naval functions of any season. The flagships lie on either side of the new Alakea wharf and the shed and end of the wharf are being transformed into a bower of beauty. Dancing will not only be held on the decks of the two ships, but a dancing floor is to be built on the wharf. The decorations will be on an elaborate scale with myriads of flags and pennants on display.

Jos. Schwartz and family are domiciled for the winter at the Alexander Young Hotel.

MORNING, NOON AND NIGHT

Breakfast in the morning, Really I can't say Ever what to order, And begin my day

Kalling up the grocer, to see what he will say.

Fearing that the meal will be Always a repeat, Sighing sadly o'er the fact That we have to eat.

Lunch time e'er you know it, U hear the same old song, Nothing new for luncheon Can't we get along? Hardly, without eating.

Dine again at seven Isn't it a bore?

Never through with planning, Now, just one meal more, Eat to live? Nay, I suspect Rather that we live to eat.

and Mrs. Ray, Miss Frear, Mr. Cartwright, Consul of Peru, Bruce Cartwright Jr., Assistant Civil Engineer Burrell.

Mrs. Parks, wife of Civil Engineer Parks, U. S. N., and her sister Miss Frear, entertained at luncheon on Friday at the Alexander Young Hotel in honor of those ladies of the Pacific fleet whose husbands have sailed away for the week. Their guests were: Mrs. Frear, wife of the Governor of Hawaii; Mrs. Fiske and Miss Fiske, wife and daughter of Captain Fiske, commanding U. S. S. Tennessee; the wives of Lieutenant Commanders Leigemeier, Evans, Fewel, Lincoln and Ellis; Lieutenant Taylor, Ensigns Glassford and Howe, Surgeons Field and Evans; Paymaster Irwin, Mrs. Grow and Miss Grow, mother and sister of Lieutenant Commander, and Mrs. Fewel and Miss Arnold, their house guest; Mrs. Furer, of Honolulu, formerly Miss Braley, of Tennessee, sister-in-law of Naval Constructor Furer. Pink was the prevailing tone of the round table in the Waikiki diningroom with "Aloha" leis of pink carnations around each plate. Bamboo place cards bore scenes of the Land of Nippon toward which the guests were journeying. From their seats at the table the guests viewed the panorama of Diamond Head, ocean and the city with U. S. S. Colorado moving from wharf to anchorage. Kani's Royal Hawaiian orchestra discoursed native music until the last strains of Aloha Oe.

Mr. Gen. B. McClellan, who has been a guest of Governor and Mrs. Frear at Aredia the past week, is at Haleiwa for a few days outing. Mr. McClellan sails on the Korea to rejoin his wife and son who have spent the summer at San Diego and Coronado Beach. They will return to Washington early in November.

D. Howard Hitchcock and family have moved to the von Holt cottage at Waikiki for the winter.

On Monday evening, September 20, at the home of David L. Withington, William Gertz and Margaret Everett Davis were united in marriage by Rev. Doremus Scudder, D.D. The members of the immediate families were present. The wedding march was played by Miss De la Nux, with violin accompaniment by Miss Evelyn De la Nux. Two little flower people, Evalina Gertz and Denet Withington, preceded the bride, strewing roses in her way. The bride was given away by Mr. D. L. Withington. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Walter Gertz. After the wedding supper, Mr. and Mrs. Gertz went to their new home, 1228 Tenth avenue, Kaimuki, where they will be at home to their friends after the first of December.
