IT is hot; and "all the boys" are going swimming.
Let your boys go, too.

Give them a couple of towels and a cake of Ivory Soap and let them go.

Thus will you achieve a double purpose—the boys will have a swim, which is good; and a bath, which is better.

TOO ATTENTIVE.

John D. Rockefeller gets 1,000 begging letters a day. He said of these letters recently:

"They are rather annoying. They are so persistent, you know. They remind me of a seashore episode.

"A Standard Oil young man went to the seashore for his two weeks' vacation. He put up at a cottage. He paid about $9 a week.

"Well, when he came to depart, this young man said to the boarding mistress:

"Madam, you have been most attentive to me during my stay here."

"Thank you, sir; thank you very much," said the lady.

"Yes," continued the young man; "you have been most attentive; and not only you, but everybody, everybody in the house. If I may say so, has been most perseveringly attentive to me, day and night; and, madam, to show my appreciation, I am going to offer you a small present."

"How very kind," said the landlady, and a bright, expectant smile lit up her face. Then the young man thrust into her extended hand a packet of insect powder and retired hastily."

THE FULL MOON FESTIVAL IS ON

Chinese Are Celebrating the Big Event of the Year.

A thousand years ago, more or less, a Chinese emperor left his throne and took to the hills, and waited for a good chance to return when political affairs should be in a more peaceable state. Green things grew in the mountains and these formed the foundation of his meals. One day when he had had some of the green things worked into eatables, the opportunity came to him to return to his throne city, and it was just at the full of the moon.

Since that time the Chinese have celebrated the event, on the belief that the moon had something to do with the emperor's homecoming. The Full Moon festival is even a greater event in the Flowery Kingdom than the New Year, and that is a pretty big event. On land and sea the Chinese celebrate, discharge millions of firecrackers, give great feasts, and have the merriest time of their lives. The Full Moon festival began in Honolulu yesterday with the discharging of firecrackers, dinners at which the most delicious things were served, and the illuminating of clubhouses. Today the festival will continue and clubhouses will be thrown open for the reception of friends, and many large dinners will be given during the evening.

The Hawaiian Engineering Society will hold a meeting for the election of officers on Thursday evening, September 30. B. von Damm, chairman of the entertainment committee, promises a good time and suitable refreshments.
