Call.—Capt. J. R. Pourie and Mrs. Pourie will leave this morning for the East, after a brief stay in town at St. Francis. Since Captain Pourie's return from the Orient he has not been in robust health and the trip is undertaken with the hope of his complete recovery. Captain Pourie and his attractive wife will visit St. Louis, Washington and New York. Furthermore, they will sail, according to their present plan, April 23 for Paris. The extensive tour will take them through Italy, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, Belgium, Holland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark and the British Isles. They will be gone for an indefinite time.

Call.—Admiral Uriel Sebree and his wife left yesterday afternoon for San Diego and will pass several weeks at the southern city as the guest of relatives. Mrs. Sebree, much to the regret of her friends, has not entirely recovered from her recent illness and has been obliged to cancel many of her social duties. She will remain in the south for a brief visit, but will return. In fact, Admiral and Mrs. Sebree have definitely decided to make their home here, and the reports that they would live in the East have been without foundation. They will pass their time partly in town and partly in the southern city, according to their present intention.

Call.—Mrs. Frederick N. Woods and her daughter, Miss Lottie Woods, are in San Jose at their country home, where they will remain for several days. Miss Maude Woods and Miss Dorothy Woods remained at the family home in California street, and will enjoy a sojourn at the ranch later in the summer.

Mrs. Swift, the wife of the Chicago packer, who spent several weeks recently at the Young and departed on the Manchuria for the Orient, was the victim of a painful accident just before that boat reached her destination. Mrs. Swift in some unaccountable manner slipped on the deck and in falling sprained her ankle very badly.

Mrs. Pardee, the mother of Lieutenant Pardee of the Twentieth Infantry, was the hostess on Tuesday at a beautifully appointed tea given in compliment to Miss Allen who is here on a visit to her uncle, Doctor Johnson. Among those present were Mrs. Samuel Damon, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. James Kennedy, Mrs. Forster, Mrs. Ramsey, Mrs. Smith, Miss Ethel Spalding, Miss Alice Spalding, Miss Vera Damon, Miss Mae Damon and Miss Daisy Gras.

Mrs. John McTellan and her two daughters, Miss Rose and Miss Josephine McTellan, entertained with an elaborate luncheon on Wednesday. At the vast covered table, plates were laid for Mrs. Charles Bryant Cooper, Mrs. Harold Castle, Mrs. Frederick Klump, Mrs. Pardee, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Harry Lewis, Miss Margaret Castle, Miss Vera Damon, Miss Agnes McTellan and the hostesses.

Queen Liliuokalani was in the audience yesterday afternoon at the opera house. Her Majesty went unaccompanied and did not occupy her box, sitting in an unobtrusive place in one of the orchestra chairs.

One of the features of the May Day festival given by the Kilauea Athletic League at Alameda on Saturday will be the sale of ribbons photographed by Queen Liliuokalani. The forty little girls trained for the Maypole dance by Mrs. Gras are perfect in their parts and this will be one of the prettiest sights of the afternoon.

Mrs. Gertrude Wilder gave a tea on Thursday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. P. R. Day and Miss Jessica Lewis.

The Misses McShelker were the hostesses on Wednesday afternoon at a farewell tea given in honor of Miss Jean Center who is leaving on Wednesday on the Wilhelmina.

A jolly dancing party was given last evening in honor of Miss Jean Center at Allan Herbert's place "Wahilani." The guests went up to the mountain place in a large trolley and after supper and several hours of dancing in the pavilion returned in the same way.

Mrs. Frank Day has booked the small boat "Halo" at Waikiki and will spend the summer there. Mrs. Day will be at home on Tuesdays.

Mrs. Charles Bryant Cooper was a luncheon hostess on Tuesday when she entertained in honor of Mrs. Frank Day. Covers were laid for twelve at a large circular table. The table decorations were beautifully arranged in red, white and maroon.

The two kindergarten schools are planning a big May Day festival to take place on Friday morning at ten o'clock at Thomas Square. The children of the two schools will take part. Each school will be decorated with May pole, streamers, and a variety of May decorations. For the school making the best showing Alfred Garvey, Jr. has offered a prize of a framed copy of one of Raphael's Madonnas for the school of Mrs. Francis R. Day. Mr. E. A. R. Newcomb and D. Howard Hitchcock will act as judges. Captain Berger with the band boys will be on hand to play for the little folks. The public is cordially invited to attend.
