

Great Reorganization Sale of Furniture, Rugs, and Curtains

COMMENCING MONDAY, AUGUST 1st

WE take this opportunity to announce that the furniture business for many years carried on, under the name of J. Hopp & Co., has now been incorporated and will in the future be known as J. Hopp & Co., Ltd. We have secured the services of Mr. H. E. Spicer, of Denver, as manager and under his guidance we hope to be able to offer to our old customers and the public of Honolulu a complete and up-to-date line of Furniture, Rugs, etc. After completing our inventory we find many broken lines, discontinued patterns and some lines that we will not carry in the future. To move these quickly and make room for large shipment of new goods that we have ordered we inaugurate this sale extraordinary. We offer you a saving of from 20 PER CENT TO 50 PER CENT discount and would recommend those requiring furnishings in the next few months to take advantage of this generous offer. We would also assure the public that all orders now entrusted to us will receive prompt and careful attention and that all customers and intending customers will be treated in a courteous and business-like manner. Below we list a few of the many bargains that await you:

LOTS IN FRUITVALE

One Cent Per Square Foot

Or a trifle over for home sites of more than one acre each, adjoining the celebrated Puukoe Homesteads in PALOLO VALLEY, ten minutes' walk from the car line.

These lots are adjoining the beautiful homes of Owen Williams, William A. Rideout, Charles J. Schoening, Edward F. Patten, and others.

The rear of these lots extends to the hill slopes, from which grand views are to be had. Correct soil for all kinds of fruit. Let me show you this property. $500 per acre and up. Map in my window.

SAW SHOW FOR FIFTEEN CENTS AND GOT A DOLLAR FOR GETTING OUT

Ever pay fifteen cents for a seat in a theater and receive a dollar for giving up your seat after the performance was over? Haven't? Well, four persons did that very thing at the Park Theater last night.

Manager Congdon sold tickets for all the reserve seats and the first performance began before seven o'clock. The doors were closed and then tickets for the next performance were sold. The second performance was to begin at ten minutes to eight. Congdon wanted to provide his theater with more discipline and sacrificed a good many dollars to do it.

When the first performance was over and everybody in the house had seen everything on the program, most of the crowd passed out of the house, but thirty or forty stuck to their seats as if they owned them outright and had a right to view the show three or four times every night if they so desired.

Seeing them linger in their chairs, Congdon addressed them from the stage, saying the program had been concluded and other persons were waiting for the chairs. His expostulations had no effect. Yes, they did have effect, too. A dozen or more of those who wanted to see the show two or three times kissed the manager and called him a robber and all that sort of thing. "Give us our money back," they yelled.

"Well, if you haven't had fifteen cents worth and need money so much, I'll give you a dollar. Only go out, I've sold tickets for those chairs."

He had several silver dollars in his pocket, and reached for them and four persons and the unheard of nerve to take Congdon's money and he had the courage to back up his declaration. The rest of the unsatisfied crowd got up and went out, making room for persons who had paid to see the second performance.

Congdon stated that he invoked the new rule in order that everybody who paid for a reserved seat could occupy
