THOUSANDS HEAR AND APPLAUD AT RALLY

Republican Candidates Present Themselves Before Aala Park Gathering.

KUHIO RECEIVED OVATION

Speakers Pay Especial Attention to Immigration Plank in Platform.

Thousands of voters and others listened to the opening of the Republican campaign last night at Aala Park where the territorial and county nominees for office were presented to the public and the arguments to be made during the next month were outlined, the immigration policy of the party being referred to in many of the addresses. The park was well filled and back of the rows of seats a dense mass of auditors stood for two hours to listen. The speakers were brief and the meeting came to a close at a reasonable hour. When the ratification rally had been concluded the leaders expressed themselves satisfied with the arguments presented and the manner in which the crowd received them.

Col. Samuel Parker, who led the first Republican campaign, presided, making humorous and serious references to the candidates as he introduced them. Prince Kuhio, candidate for congress, was given an ovation as he advanced to the front of the platform, and for nearly half an hour he spoke to the people in Hawaiian, telling of the splendid record made by the Republican party both here and in Washington, particularizing the benefits which had been secured for Hawaii through the Republican representative at Washington. He opened fire on McCandless and defended the Republican party's immigration policy, raking the Democratic antiplank over the coals. The Prince was in good voice and he made one of the hits of the evening.

The campaign to follow the ratification meeting will be a workers' campaign for the next two weeks, the managers having decided to mass their speaking into three weeks' time and to make a whirlwind finish to the campaign.

A Hint to Link.

Sam Parker opened the meeting by paying his respects to Link McCandless. He said that Link ought to take the hint when he had tried twice to go to Washington and had twice been turned down by the voters of the party. If he wanted to go to Washington, he ought to go there at his own expense, and not expect the Hawaiian people to send him.

No Compromise.

Geo. A. Davis was the next speaker. He began by reviewing in brief the history of the Republican party, a party that offers no compromise.

"The Republican party in Hawaii," he said, "met in Honolulu in September of 1910 and offered you a ticket that is endorsed by the press of this city. It says, 'We offer you a system of immigration that offers a future to this Territory.' What of the future without immigration? The voters will be swamped by orientals. The Republican party offers you the solution of the problem."

"If the sugar plantations were to be closed down tonight, this fair Territory would be in the throes of distress. And what about McCandless—as a politician? I won't discuss him as a man. I am going to discuss McCandless and his policies. He came out of the Republican party. We taught him what to do. He deserted our party. What does he propose to do? He proposes to cripple our industries that the plantations will not have the labor to carry on their business."

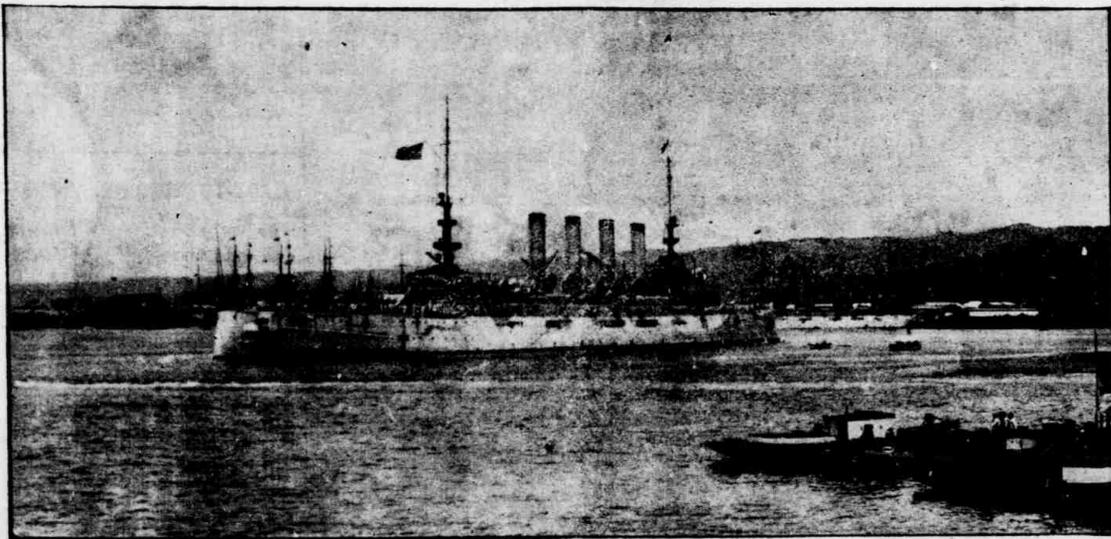

"Do you suppose that if by any misfortune he is sent to Washington he will carry out the policies of this Territory? He proposes to cripple the industries of this Territory."

"The strongest men in the Democratic party refuse to follow McCandless and his immigration plank. Charlie McCarthy refuses to follow him; Doctor Raymond refuses to follow him. When the best men in his own party refuse to follow him, why should the Hawaiian people follow him when he proposes to cripple their country?"

Davis reviewed the congressional record of Kuhio, giving the figures of the appropriations obtained by the Delegate.

"There," he said, "is what Kuhio has done. And this is the man whom you would replace by McCandless who has done nothing but enrich himself. You would replace him by a man whose own leaders and own party refuse to follow. If I am not mistaken, you will refuse to desert this man for McCandless who in congress would have no influence."

"I leave the Delegate and commend him to the good judgment of every able, intelligent voter. To the drunkard, the idler, the loafer, I do not appeal."

SECOND DIVISION OF THE PACIFIC FLEET, WHICH WILL ARRIVE HERE THE LATTER PART OF OCTOBER.

WARSHIPS HERE IN OCTOBER

Second Division of the Pacific Fleet to Hold Maneuvers in Hawaiian Waters.

NAVAL GUNS MAY BE FIRED

War and Navy Departments May Test the Diamond Head Fire Control.

The second division of the Pacific fleet is due here the latter part of October on a practise cruise and to hold maneuvers off the Maui coast, with probably some target practise.

The warships comprising the second division are the West Virginia, South Dakota, Colorado and Maryland, ships which have been held together as a division almost since the time they were assigned as part of the Pacific fleet.

It is likely that the warships will remain in Hawaiian waters for six or eight weeks. The likelihood of target practise this fall off Lahaina is interesting, as it will be the first time the navy department has permitted the vessels to engage in gun-firing here.

There is also a rumor from Washington that the navy and war departments will cooperate in a series of maneuvers to determine the practicability of the newly installed fire control at Diamond Head, from which high station the fire of all the sea-coast and mortar guns will be directed at an approaching fleet. The mortar guns at Fort Ruger, on the mauka slope of Diamond Head, have not been used with projectiles, but the fire control for them is installed, new plates are being fitted in under three of the mortars, the original cast iron plates having cracked when the guns were first fired, and a battery of searchlights is being fitted in the galleries which open out on the face of Diamond Head back of the lighthouse.

While Captain Timberlake, commanding the mortar fort, stated some time ago that the war department did not then contemplate any mortar practise this fall, it is rumored that actual firing will be under way in a month.

FLOOD RELIEF MONEY COMES IN SLOWLY

To date the Hawaiian subscriptions from all sources for the Japanese Flood Relief Fund amounts to three hundred and forty-five dollars and sixty cents, of which the Japanese in Lihue, Kauai, have raised nearly one-half.

Among the contributors in Honolulu yesterday was C. H. Dickey, who accompanied his donation with the following letter:

"S. Sheba, Esq., Editor Hawaii Shipto.
"Dear Sir.—I want to add my mite toward the relief of the sufferers from the late flood in Japan. At the same time I wish to acknowledge the kindness and courtesy with which I was treated during my late trip through that country. I only wish that I could have spent more time in that delightful country. Yours sincerely,
"C. H. DICKEY."

The contribution list stood last night as follows:
Previously acknowledged $ 96.00
C. H. Dickey 5.00
Kataro Sato 3.50
Byron O. Clark 1.00
John Neal 2.00
Kahuku Japanese 88.60
Lihue Buddhist Church 150.00

LINK'S MONEY CARRIED MAUI

His Program Adopted by Democratic Convention, but Move to Endorse Notley Made.

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.)
WAILUKU, September 23.—The final action of the Democratic convention yesterday was the adoption of a resolution patching up the broken places in the fusion ticket.

A. B. Naone introduced the resolution endorsing C. L. Kookoo for senator, Nelson Kaloa, county supervisor for Makawao and John Kamanuwa, county supervisor for Hana.

The anti-programists vigorously objected and loosed a flood of oratory against the fusion resolution.

Nelson Kaloa objected strongly against fusing with Home Rulers, although he himself had received the nomination from the Home Rule convention, but it was an unsought-for compliment.

It is said Nelson Kaloa had promised to stand aside and to let the Home Rule and Democratic vote of the Makawao district go to Ex-Judge Charles Copp, who is running for the office of county supervisor as an independent.

This is the most rational explanation of Nelson Kaloa's conduct in refusing the fusion nomination.

Geo. Kaonohi vigorously seconded Kaloa's objections, but for an entirely different reason. He and his Ulu-paka following did not want to vote for a "boy" like Kaloa. He wanted to vote for a good man.

After the motion to adopt the resolution had carried, Nelson Kaloa moved that the convention complete the fusion program by impartially ratifying the nomination of L. L. McCandless together with that of Charles Notley. This struck the convention as something funny and everybody laughed.

It is said the program carried through including the plan to fuse with the Home Rulers on the legislative and county tickets had the approval of Link McCandless, and that without such fusion no Democratic money will be spent on the campaign in this county.

It is also whispered about that $2000 of Link's money will be used for the Democratic campaign on Maui.

HOME RULERS ENDORSE LANE

Signify Approval of Republican County Ticket Except the Supervisors.

The entire county ticket of the Republican party, with the exception of the supervisors, was endorsed yesterday by the county committee of the Home Rule party.

The selection of nominees or candidates devolves upon the committee by the rule of the organization. It was decided in convention, however, that the committee endorse the Republican nominees. The party's ticket now stands: Delegate to congress, Charles No. 1 (H. R.); mayor, John Lane (Rep.); sheriff, Andrew Cox (Rep.); clerk, D. Kalaokalani (Rep.); auditor, James Bicknell (Rep.); treasurer, R. W. Shingle (Rep.); attorney, John Cathcart (Rep.), and all the deputy sheriffs in the county on the Republican ticket.

The committee has selected its own candidates for board of supervisors, all Hawaiians.

For senators, D. Kalaokalani, Sr., Wm. Mossman, Jr., and Peter Keala-kainona ("Leader of the World") are for the long term, and "Oily Bill" White for the short term.

The county platform demands that district court judges be elected, and that licenses be differently arranged or regulated, so that firms doing a big business, like Hackfeld's, for example, should pay a higher fee than the small commercial houses. The platform on which the delegate to congress nominee, Charles Notley, is to make his campaign was endorsed. This platform approves a demand for statehood; an 8 1/2-cent duty on coffee; $5,000,000 from the federal government for the development of homesteads, to come from customs duties collected in the Territory; $3,000,000 for belt roads all over the Islands, on the ground that Hawaii being a Territory, the roads are vested in the federal government; and $100,000 is wanted to buy up fishery rights. All moneys collected in accordance with a law passed by the last legislature, in which a special income tax is collected for conservation and immigration purposes, the Home Rulers want divided as follows: Schools, one-fourth; conservation, one-fourth; roads, one-half.

A campaign is to be conducted against outside laborers, on the ground that imported Europeans, brought in at territorial expense, do not remain here, but go elsewhere; whereas, laborers like the Filipinos and Porto Ricans, from countries controlled by the United States, remain here and do not have to be assisted in coming.

NIAGARA FALLS, September 25.—Bobby Leach has accomplished the feat of going through the Whirlpool rapids in a barrel without injury.

DRAKE'S JOB MAY FALL TO ANOTHER

A private cablegram received by an official from a Washington source gives brief information with reference to the position of internal revenue collector, now held by Walter F. Drake, which states that the resignation of Drake was sent in, that Drake then "tried to withdraw it," but now it will "probably be accepted." All of which would indicate that another head for the bureau will be appointed.

MEDFORD, September 24.—The University of Mississippi has decided to abolish Greek letter societies.

LANAI MAY BE MODEL ISLAND

Plan of the Company Includes an Offer of Free Thirty-Acre Homesteads.

LAND FOR AMERICAN FARMER

Sugar Beets to Be Cultivated on a Cooperation Basis on Part of the Land.

Lanai Island may yet become the model island in the whole Pacific Ocean for upon its broad acres, now controlled by the Lanai Company, hundreds of families are to be installed on free homesteads of thirty acres for each family, if the plans of the company are carried through.

The beet sugar expert who came from Salina, California, a few weeks ago, has been engaged in experimenting on the island and reports which reached Honolulu yesterday are that the beet sugar industry will be a profitable one on Lanai, if the average rainfall continues to be the average.

While the expert has not finished his work, being now engaged in plowing, planting and experimenting in many ways, the company may now unfold its greater plans for development. The proposition outlined is to offer homesteads to American families, the homesteading conditions being that at least two-thirds of the thirty acres given be planted in beets, or whatever else the company may decide upon, the beets being raised and sold on a cooperative plan, which will be beneficial to both the company and farmers. The remaining one-third of the homestead may be devoted to whatever uses the dwellers thereon wish.

It is the opinion of the members of the company that each homesteader or head of a family has an opportunity to accumulate a competence while engaged with the company in producing sugar beets, while at the end of a certain term of years, if all conditions have been carried out, the homestead will be conveyed to the dweller in fee simple.

There are in the neighborhood of 45,000 acres which can be devoted to this purpose, while there are tens of thousands of additional acres for ranching, sheep grazing, and the many other projects the company is starting to develop.

Lanai is owned by a company. The lands are privately owned and the company will have exceptional opportunities to carry on a homestead proposition of its own.

TOWN REGISTRATION WILL BE RESUMED THIS WEEK

The board of registration completed its county district registration last night, and on Monday will resume sittings at the town office, in the Kapilani building, Alakea street. The board will sit until October 9. The latter date falls on Sunday, and the registration will therefore close on the night of October 8.

The registration has been extremely heavy so far, and the board members expect the list of voters to be largely in excess of the numbers of the last campaign.

Qualified voters who have so far failed to register had better make up their minds to register early this week, as towards the last of the time a busy man will find a long line and will be compelled to wait his turn.

When the board left Honolulu on its country tour the town registrations aggregated 3588. The country registrations were as follows: Pearl City, 78; Aiea, 58; Waipahu, 77; Watertown, 98; Ewa, 73; Waianae, 103; Waiahu, 180; Laie, 81; Kahuku, 58; Hauula, 44; Punahulu, 20; Kahana, 15; Kaawa, 4; Waikane, 50; Kalaheo, 44; Heeia, 40; Kaeohe, 49; Waimanalo, 8; Kailua, 12; making a total to date of 4680.

The oldest man registered was 97 years of age. Two in Honolulu already registered are considerably over 90.

WANT TO OUST EGYPTIAN RULERS

Congress Declares That English Occupation Is Now Illegal.

EVACUATION IS DEMANDED

Want Restoration of Constitution of 1881—The Meeting Issues Ultimatum.

BRUSSELS, September 25.—At the meeting yesterday in this city of the national Egyptian congress a resolution was adopted to the effect that the occupation of Egypt by the English forces was not according to the legal understanding between nations. The resolution is in the nature of a demand that the British at once evacuate the lands under Egyptian jurisdiction, also calling for a restoration of the constitution of 1881.

From 1879 to 1883 two controllers-general, appointed by France and England, had considerable power in the direction of affairs of the country. In the summer of 1882, in consequence of a military rebellion, England intervened, subdued the rising and restored the authority of the Khedive, in which intervention England was not joined by France.

As a result the Khedive on January 18, 1883, signed a decree abolishing the joint control of England and France. In the place of the control above referred to, the Khedive, on the recommendation of England, appointed an English financial adviser without whose concurrence no financial decision can be taken.

CASE SIMILAR TO CRIPPEN TRAGEDY

SAN FRANCISCO, September 24.—The finding of the body of Eva Swan, buried in the rear of a vacant house, has led to revelations showing a crime similar to the Crippen case, in London. An assistant of Dr. Frederick Grant, who is held for investigation, has confessed to the police that he aided Doctor Grant to bury the body of Eva Swan, who was a stenographer. He says that with Doctor Grant he covered the body with acid, and then laid a cement floor above it.
