RESIDENTIAL HONOLULU IS EXPANDING SUBSTANTIALLY

Suburban Development of Past Few Months Most Gratifying--Kaimuki Leads in Number of New Homes.

Honolulu is in the throes of the most rapid expansion in the history of the city. If anybody doubts this, let him take an automobile or the street cars and travel about the town, and he will come back convinced.

Everywhere in the city, almost, houses are going up, evidencing the rapid growth in the population and the increased prosperity of Honolulu. From Diamond Head to the uttermost ends of Kalia, Kaimuki and Waialae, the land is dotted with new houses. And within the business district within a few months will rise several pretentious structures that will go far toward denoting to the casual visitor that Honolulu is rapidly becoming the important city that her location, climate and surroundings have made it inevitable she should be.

So far as residences are concerned, Kaimuki has grown faster during the past year and promises to grow faster during the coming year than any other section of the city. Most of the building has been and is being done mauka of Sixth avenue. Not less than forty new houses are now in the process of construction; about as many have been completed and a great many more are planned.

The Kaimuki reservoir has been completed, thus providing water for this rapidly growing residence section, and many owners of lots in Kaimuki now feel themselves justified in ordering houses erected. As soon as the connections with the reservoir are made, a large number of new houses will be started.

Quite a large number of Kaimuki lot owners are waiting for the extension of the street car line to Seventh avenue or along Thirteenth avenue or Koko Head road to Fort Ruger. As soon as this is done, a large area of land available for residence lots will be opened up and buildings will begin to go up faster than ever.

College Hills Growing.
Another residence district that is showing rapid growth is College Hills. Here many new houses and bungalows have been completed or are in the course of construction and the district is rapidly assuming the appearance of a small but select town of itself. Present prospects are that within the near future a large number of new buildings will be started.

The influx of army and navy folks has given an incentive to building in the residence districts, and this in large part accounts for the number of new residences that are in course of construction or that are planned.

Kahala Beach Popular.
The beach residence district of Kahala is another that within the past year has developed rapidly. Where a year ago there were only a few scattering houses, there is now a flourishing village inhabited chiefly by city people who want to get away from the heat and dust and down where they can hear always the roar of the ocean and get the cool sea breezes that blow at Kahala. This district is largely filled up by government employees, most of whom have within the past twelve months erected their own homes. Quite a large number of new residences are planned in this district.

Kalihi Valley.
The Portuguese colony up Kalihi Valley is in a flourishing condition, as is evidenced by the rapid increase in building operations in that part of the city. Many new houses have been constructed or are in process of erection and the whole district has been greatly improved within the year.

Papaia and Nuuanu.
Papaia shows equally remarkable signs of progress. The houses erected in this section are, for the most part, more pretentious and many of them might almost be dignified by the name of mansions. Much real estate has changed hands recently and the new owners seem anxious to put up new houses for themselves.

The same is true of Nuuanu Valley. In that direction the city is developing rapidly and all along the road that leads to the Falls new houses are going up. The traveler along that road sees at every turn almost, beautiful bungalows and other styles of residences that have only recently been constructed.

General Growth.
Other sections of town are showing a quiet but substantial growth. Throughout Kalihi one sees constantly new cottages, either just completed or in process of erection. Marquessville is a residence section that is fast coming to the front and one who has not visited that section of the suburbs within the past year would be astonished to see what has been done in that period.

And scattered throughout the entire city are many evidences of the rapid and material growth of a city that is inevitably destined to become, within a few short years, a much greater city than the residents of a few years ago ever dared dream it would be.

Business Blocks.
Although there is not a great deal of building now in progress in the downtown section, plans have been made for the erection within the next few months of several imposing structures.

The Y. M. C. A. building on Hotel street will probably be started within the next fortnight, and this, when completed, will add greatly to the general attractiveness and air of prosperity of Honolulu.

Tenants of the old Pantheon block have been notified to vacate this week and the old buildings will immediately be torn down, to make room for the $800,000 reinforced concrete building that is to take their place.

As stated yesterday in The Advertiser, the Carnegie Library building, to be located at the corner of King and Pughbowl streets, will probably be started next February. This will add very much to the attractiveness of that section of the city, and will probably have the effect of encouraging the building of other fine structures in its immediate neighborhood.

And, then, there is in prospect the proposed federal building. Just where this is to be located is still a matter of conjecture, but it will certainly be somewhere near the business center of the city. And when completed, it will without doubt be an incentive to neighboring property owners to improve their property and put up buildings in keeping with their imposing neighbor.

Army and Navy Building.
Much building is planned for the army and navy. Fort Shafter will without doubt be increased to regimental size, which will mean that the size and number of the buildings of the post will be multiplied several times over.

At Fort Ruger a temporary camp of very respectable size has already been established. Before a great while permanent barracks will be erected, which will add largely to the beauty of that district.

Honolulu Waterfront.
The construction last year of the Alaska street wharf added greatly to the accommodations and appearance of the Honolulu waterfront. Now comes the announcement that the government proposes to erect alongside this fine wharf another which is to be equally as large and imposing in appearance and which will accommodate as many large vessels. Other extensive improvements along the waterfront are planned.

The result will be that the incoming traveler will not have to wait until he gets up town or into the residence sections of the city to appreciate the rapid growth that Honolulu is experiencing.

FLY-BLOWN IS NOT DISEASED MEAT

Official Declaration Regarding the Off-Colored Market Exhibits.

"I wish to state that the meat described by Professor Blanchard, the territorial chemist, as being diseased, is not correct," said Doctor Monsarrat, the meat inspector yesterday. "Fly-blown meat is not diseased meat."

That settles it. Meat which is only covered with fly specks is not diseased, according to a strict reading. If it is fly-blown one must hurry home with his fly-blown beefsteak and cook it hurriedly lest the fly eggs hatch.

It is known by patrons of the fish-market that whenever they have found meat fly-blown and take it back the Chinese vendors are extremely apologetic, take it back and get it out of sight, at the same time fishing out fare and asking the patrons to excuse them, at the same time offering the car fare to play even. The dealers know that their stock is fly-blown and filled with eggs, but until discovered they say nothing and do nothing to improve conditions, not even taking the trouble to provide mosquito netting for their meats and vegetables.

A resolution will be placed before the board of supervisors the adoption of which will compel all meat, fish and vegetable dealers to keep their goods in fly-proof containers.

SUCH PROFANITY.

"The engineers find Gatun Dam safe," read Mr. Jones from his newspaper headlines to grandma, knitting at the other side of the table.

"Well," she said, looking up over her glasses in pained surprise, "I don't know anything about the safety of Gatun, but I think a family newspaper oughtn't to use such language in print."—Emporia Gazette.

DISMAYING THE DEVIL.

In the window of a little book-store in Eighth Avenue, New York, was recently heaped a great pile of Bibles, marked very low—never before were Bibles offered at such a bargain; and above them all, in big letters, was the inscription:

"Santa trembles when he sees Bibles sold as low as these."
—Woman's Home Companion.

PUTTING IT TOO STRONG.

She—"So many men nowadays marry for money. You wouldn't marry me for money, would you, dearest?"

He (absently)—"No, darling, I wouldn't marry you for all the money in the world."

She—"Oh, you horrid, horrid wretch!"—Boston Transcript.

WHY THEY HOWL.

A—"When I was in the East I met with many begging dervishes."

B—"I thought they called them howling dervishes."

A—"That's what they become when you don't give them anything."—Meggendorfer Blaetter.

BIT AND BRIDLE.

The Archbishop of Canterbury was going in with a number of other clergymen to luncheon after some great ecclesiastical function, when an unctuous dignitary observed, "Now to put a bridle on our appetites!"

Quick as lightning the Archbishop retorted: "Say, rather, now to put a bit between your teeth."—Pathfinder.

WAITING IN VAIN.

Disgusted Fisherman (tempting his bait into the stream)—"Hanged if I'll wait on you any longer. Here! Help yourselves."—Life.
