

LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

The Mikahala arrived yesterday.

Geo. Wilcox arrived from Kauai yesterday.

The Lehua and Waimanalo arrived this morning.

The band will play at Emma Square to-night.

The Australia is telephoned off Waimanalo, as we go to press.

Carl Widemann returned to town yesterday after a visit to Waianae.

The Kinau, Mokoli and Kauai leave for their respective routes today.

The band concert at Emma Square on Saturday afternoon was unusually well attended.

A young native on Queen street was arrested last evening for beating his mother.

The Olympia may leave for Japan at the end of the week. She finished coaling yesterday.

British Commissioner Hawes is making a circuit of Oahu, and will probably return to-morrow.

The plant for the Hilo Tribune will be shipped by the Kinau this afternoon in charge of C. K. Spencer.

W. O. Smith, H. Focke and Cecil Brown who left for Mokuleia on Saturday will probably return to town this evening.

Go to N. S. Sachs for your Underwear, where you will find a full assortment of sizes, and every grade at lowest prices, 520 Fort street.

A full line of Sewing Cotton just opened up at L. B. Kerr's on Queen street. All numbers and colors on hand. Call early and get what you need.

C. S. Bradford, the city editor of the Advertiser, will leave by the Kinau for a short trip to Hawaii, where he hopes to recover his health.

The excursion trains to Waianae yesterday were well patronized. People are happy to be able again to get a good day's outing and with plenty of fresh air and magnificent scenery.

There was a small blaze back of Kawaiahae Church, last night, at the premises occupied by Mr. Podyen. The fire was extinguished easily without the help of the department.

It seems to be uncertain who will be the candidates for the lieutenant in Company D, J. A. Kennedy and A. G. M. Robertson, whose names have been mentioned are both members of the Council of State.

The Board of Underwriters has appointed W. I. Warriner, electrical inspector for the board. His duty will be to examine all premises intended to be insured and report the condition of the electrical system to the underwriters.

The police seems to have positive proofs that the opium found last Friday in a boat, the occupants of which were arrested came from the U. S. S. Olympia. How the opium got there, of course is a puzzle. From the other islands, perhaps?

If Hotel Richelieu keeps on as it did on Saturday, the proprietress Mrs. Freimann is to be congratulated. A most elegant dinner, a most fashionable patronage, and a generally good jolly time are the passwords given out. Come around and see for yourself.

Our thrifty housewives cheerfully acknowledge that L. B. Kerr gives better value in Housekeeping Goods than any store in town. Sheetting, Mosquito Netting, Bedspread, Table Cloths, Napkins, Glass Cloths, Towels, etc., sold on the principle of small profits and quick returns.

To close them out Shirt Waists, formerly selling at $1.50 each, have been reduced to $1; and Pith Hats, which were selling at $2, from this on will be sold at $1 each. Call early before the supply is exhausted. A. Barnes, New Republic Building, King street.

James Bolster received a call from the members of the Y. H. I. yesterday at his residence in Palolo valley. "Jim," who has been quite ill for some time has improved greatly and hopes soon to be able to be around again. His friends went up to the valley in two busses and had a most enjoyable time.

Its mighty strange to see how some people can walk around in the hot tropical sun, clothed in heavy black clothes and a tall plug hat. However, most folks are more sensible, and wear suits made of Light Serge or Tweeds bought at L. B. Kerr's on Queen street. He sells a single yard at wholesale prices.

F. Clifford Rhodes, formerly of the Press Publishing Co., has accepted a position as foreman with the Evening Bulletin.

Lots of game and fish were distributed by the Lehua sportsmen this morning. Nobody was forgotten and even a fat beautiful toothsome lamb was hailed by a prominent lady on King street this morning with a great deal of relish, where is the lamb? There is more, says our sporting reporter, of the same kind to come.

The meeting of squad 6 of the Citizens' Guard, held on Saturday, was not very harmonious. Chas. Lynn and O'Brien were nominated as captains. The latter was elected in spite of a strong opposition and it is understood that a protest will be made against the election. The squad is one of the best organized and it is generally considered a pity if any serious disagreement should arise.

THE CATCH OF THE SEASON.

The Lehua Returns Loaded With Game.

(From a special correspondent.)

On Friday afternoon at 6 o'clock, the Lehua left this port with a jolly good hunting party, the members of which wanted to catch the fish and shoot the game of the ever genial Fred. Hayselden, who happened to be "quarantined" in town, and who as usually was ready to accommodate and welcome his sporting friends.

The steamer left and sportsmen and their traps were on board. Old shooting clothes had to be fumigated and the boxes with "ammunition" were carefully inspected.

The steamer left, however, and the 25 "boys" on her claim that they had a most excellent time. Judge Whiting was blooming with health, General Neumann was happy (his "cribs" were not to be despised) and the whole gang were ready for the sporting work that may yet appear on record in the American Field or the Breeder and Sportsman.

Then we arrived off Lanai. The weather up there was not very pleasant. It rained enough to drown the microbes of Honolulu and we wouldn't have been successful at all if the fish hadn't come around.

We divided then, Whitney, Lane, Sproull, Sam Wilder, and George Robertson went up with Hayselden, and they had the best of us. Life on Lanai is not for the ordinary mortal. There is not better place in this country, or a better host than the "boss" of the island, but we remained on board and "fished."

Good heavens! Didn't we fish. "Dear INDEPENDENT—(you are dear)" we fished—and played poker; and then we fished and played cribbage, and brothers Whiting and Paul were serene through it all.

At last a streak of luck came and we bagged nearly 800 pounds of the finest fish in the ocean. The skilled our professionals was finally demonstrated and Whiting was happy once more.

When we picked up the boys from Lanai, we had the laugh on them. They probably had a good time up at Fred's place, but, on board, we had the fish. What are 40 pheasants and 20 turkeys and plenty of rain to a good night's rest and Fred's cocktails and all other inconveniences in comparison with our fish. We fished; and don't you forget it, and we filled our bags.

LEHUA.
Lehua is all right, but the editor of THE INDEPENDENT would like to know?

Death of Dean.

The kamaainas in the town were quite shocked when they heard about the sudden death of William Dean.

The deceased was an Englishman and had resided here for over thirty years (probably near forty). He was about 64 years old at the time of his death and leaves no family in this country.

Dean was a successful mechanic. He worked in this country as a carpenter and his last job was as foreman at the erection of the Palace.

Dean was always a true friend, an honest Britisher. He was well fixed as far as the goods of this world are concerned, and he was at all times ready to help a countryman or any friend who was truly in need of assistance.

The old gentleman died quite suddenly at the residence of E. Phelps on Saturday. He was buried yesterday at noon. The estate of the deceased, who died intestate, has been placed in the hands of the British Commissioner.

Old Dean was a good, loyal, and honest man, who will be missed by many a man in Hawaii nei.

Where Was Armstrong?

Last Saturday we "took in" an incident which ought to make Mr. Armstrong—the Portuguese-hater—pale. In the district court we noticed at one time that the said court of Hawaii had been transformed and that Armstrong's slurs on the Portuguese were demonstrated to be false, in a more determined manner even than explained by signers to dozens of settlers, circulars and protests.

The judge was a Portuguese on this occasion and so were the prosecuting and defending attorneys. The defendants, the interpreter and the officer of two court. And yet—Mr. Armstrong says the Portuguese are not in it and not even "white." Poor "pink" old chippie.

In season or out of season every family should have a bottle of DIARRHEA MIXTURE in the house. There is none better than DWIGHT'S, which has been dispensed by the HOLLISTER PHARMACY for the last twenty years.

Sans Souci.

The most lovely spot on Oahu is Sans Souci. This favorite seaside resort, which has been immortalized by the pen of Robert L. Stevenson, who resided there for months, is only four miles from Honolulu and within easy reach of the trams. The surroundings and bathing at this famous resort are superior to anything found in the Hawaiian Islands. Cottages and board can be obtained on easy terms. The table set by the manager is better than any offered here at other hotels. For picnics, bathing parties and outings the best accommodation can be secured by giving notice to the manager.
