The Alameda Sails.

It was exactly half past eight last night, by the wharf clock, as the Alameda commenced to cast off her lines, amid the most frantic clashing of cheers and banging of Berger's drums in hearty farewells from the very large gathering of the girls and boys the New Yorkers left behind them. In spite of all the reciprocal growlings it was apparent to all that the soldiers have made numerous lifelong friendships to be nursed long after the gaudy and fragrant leis they wore have been trampled under foot or perished into dry dust. Captain Berger gave them all the music they wanted from "Aloha Oe" to "Dixey" and "Home, Sweet Home." The two last were the prime favorites; the one emblematic of the national blending of the once severed South and North and the other of the joys to come now that peace is assured. The agents and the officers and men of the staunch steamer are to be congratulated upon the rapidity in which they prepared the ship for the 300 soldiers. These boys may have rather a warm day or two of it until the colder regions are reached and then they will be comfortable enough. They could, however, scarcely strike San Francisco at a more unpleasant, in reference to climate alone, season than the end of December. Twice in ten years does the writer remember snow in the city on Xmas Day and then rain and fog.

The Alameda took the following passengers: The McKee Rankin Company, Mr. and Mrs. E. Schussler, Clara McCarthy, George Alexander, W. T. Bell, the Misses A. M. and F. G. Donnell, Mrs. C. Wright, G. M. Leavitt, Major R. T. Emmett, Capt. Murphy, N. T. Messer, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Brackley, and fourteen officers and ten invalid soldiers (cabin) and 315 privates of the New York regiment in the steerage.

many years connected with the firm of F. A. Schaefer & Co. of this city.

The sad news was not unexpected by the friends of the deceased. When Hoting left Hawaii in August this year, he was a very sick man, but it was hoped that the change of climate would prove beneficial to the invalid and restore him to health.

The first reports from Bremen were discouraging, the more hopeful reports were received only to be shattered by the brief announcement of his death received by the mail this morning.

Julius Hoting was born in Oldenburg in 1853 and was consequently 45 years of age at the time of his demise. He arrived in Hawaii in 1873 and became a clerk in the firm of F. A. Schaefer & Co. In 1888, he was admitted to a partnership in that great business house, and withdrew in August, 1898, owing to ill health. He then disposed of his interests in Hawaii and left for Germany with his family.

Julius Hoting was a genial, whole-souled German who made friends wherever he went, and whose death will be deplored by all.

He commanded the respect of the whole community, and among other positions of trust was for several years Consul for the Republic of Chili to Hawaii.

This amiable lady, who now mourns the loss of a devoted and kind husband was Miss Vickie of this city. She and her two children will probably return to Honolulu and reside here among her numerous friends.
