REGATTA DAY.

Promise of Excellent Sport for Tomorrow's Races The Day will Practically be a General Holiday.

To Judge from the entries made for tomorrow's aquatic sports, which closed yesterday afternoon at the office of the Pacific Hardware Company, the day should be, if the weather god permits, one of the most successful since the days of kingly and kindly Kalakaua, the patron and promoter of sport on the water, and elsewhere.

As a great deal depends upon the officers of the day, the public will be pleased to learn that the following competent and straightforward gentlemen have been selected to "run the machine." It is a hard-some task with "more kicks than ha'pence in the job" but patriotism prevails in the interest of lusty health and honorable sport.
