

GOVERNOR DOLE TAKES THE OATH

Inauguration of First American Executive Yesterday.

HAWAII ENTERS UNION.

THE CEREMONIES WITNESSED BY THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE.

The Inaugural Address Read by the Governor Treats of Hawaii's Past, Present and Future.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning, in front of the Executive building, the inauguration of Hawaii's first Territorial Governor took place.

The scene resembled very much the ceremonies attending the raising of the American flag over the Executive building.

From a portfolio which was handed the Governor by his private secretary, he drew the manuscript of the inaugural address.

Fellow Citizens:—In accepting the position of Governor of the Territory of Hawaii at the request of the President of the United States, I feel certain that there will be some problems in the administration of the affairs of the Territory for which the government of Independent Hawaii has created no precedents.

Were it not for the support that I am confident I have in your sympathy, and in your patriotic determination that in the new departure the country shall make progress in good government, I could not contemplate the task before me without deep misgivings.

The political evolution of Hawaii has been from feudalism to royal authority, then to a republic and now to dependence upon a stronger nation.

As a corrective to race prejudice, our educational system reaches all children of whatever nationality.

The pressing demands of agricultural corporations for cheap field labor, together with their great influence, will continue as in the past to be an obstacle to the development of such a citizen population as shall safeguard the political future of Hawaii.

As the control of such corporations gradually passes into the hands of those who are without the restraining influences of local and traditional associations, and are not interested in the social growth of the Hawaiian community, this danger may become more threatening than heretofore.

Every one who is resident here, not merely to amass wealth, but to live a home life and perhaps to bring up children who will necessarily become attached to the country, its climate and its social life, is most vitally interested in having this matter rightly solved.

The influence of this peaceful reform in the civil system has been to this day constant and controlling in the relations between the Hawaiian and the foreigner.

To Hawaiians this occurrence was especially painful and bewildering. Accustomed to the wise and successful rule of the Kamehamehas and to a hereditary sentiment of loyalty toward the ruling chiefs, but few were able to weigh the causes that led to the dissolution of the royal prerogative in 1893.

The land policy of the Republic of Hawaii, whereby public lands are opened for settlement in small holdings, should be continued by the Territory with such changes as experience may dictate.

The solution that has come is political union with a great and most friendly nation, in which relation native Hawaiians are guaranteed full civil rights as citizens of the United States.

This generous treatment of the Hawaiians by Congress calls for no less consideration from their fellow citizens in these islands.

The United States—always the protector of Hawaii—has approached the question of annexation in the most considerate manner.

Our Legislature and our Judiciary are restored to us without fundamental changes; American citizenship, manhood suffrage and representation in Congress are conferred upon all Hawaiian citizens.

In our composite community the great world races are well represented: Anglo-Saxon, Frank and Italianian.

From a portfolio which was handed the Governor by his private secretary, he drew the manuscript of the inaugural address, which he read in a clear and distinct voice audible to all present.

Were it not for the support that I am confident I have in your sympathy, and in your patriotic determination that in the new departure the country shall make progress in good government, I could not contemplate the task before me without deep misgivings.

The political evolution of Hawaii has been from feudalism to royal authority, then to a republic and now to dependence upon a stronger nation.

As a corrective to race prejudice, our educational system reaches all children of whatever nationality.

The pressing demands of agricultural corporations for cheap field labor, together with their great influence, will continue as in the past to be an obstacle to the development of such a citizen population as shall safeguard the political future of Hawaii.

As the control of such corporations gradually passes into the hands of those who are without the restraining influences of local and traditional associations, and are not interested in the social growth of the Hawaiian community, this danger may become more threatening than heretofore.

Every one who is resident here, not merely to amass wealth, but to live a home life and perhaps to bring up children who will necessarily become attached to the country, its climate and its social life, is most vitally interested in having this matter rightly solved.

The influence of this peaceful reform in the civil system has been to this day constant and controlling in the relations between the Hawaiian and the foreigner.

To Hawaiians this occurrence was especially painful and bewildering. Accustomed to the wise and successful rule of the Kamehamehas and to a hereditary sentiment of loyalty toward the ruling chiefs, but few were able to weigh the causes that led to the dissolution of the royal prerogative in 1893.

The land policy of the Republic of Hawaii, whereby public lands are opened for settlement in small holdings, should be continued by the Territory with such changes as experience may dictate.

The United States—always the protector of Hawaii—has approached the question of annexation in the most considerate manner.

Our Legislature and our Judiciary are restored to us without fundamental changes; American citizenship, manhood suffrage and representation in Congress are conferred upon all Hawaiian citizens.

In our composite community the great world races are well represented: Anglo-Saxon, Frank and Italianian.

THE FIRST INAUGURAL BALL

All Society Joined in the Event of the Year.

YOUNG AND OLD THERE.

THE BUILDING AND GROUNDS WERE HANDSOMELY DECORATED.

Hundreds of People Join in the Celebration in Honor of the Installation of the Governor.

A beautiful scene, like a picture from fairyland, these were the expressions heard on every hand last night in describing the inaugural ball.

The American commander reached La Boagan, where Aguineldo had made his headquarters since March 6, on May 7.

Major March, believing that the Filipinos had made for a river, which is tributary to the Chico, followed it for two days, reaching Tiao, where he learned that a party of Filipinos had descended the river on May 20.

The officer shot was either Aguineldo or his adjutant, and as the horse was richly caparisoned, it is a fair presumption that it was Aguineldo.

The soldiers of General Young, military governor of Northwestern Luzon, captured only last month an insurgent officer with papers revealing Aguineldo's whereabouts.

Major March reviewed his command, shoeless and exhausted, and picked out 24 of the freshest men, with whom he beat the surrounding country for six days longer.

There Major March reviewed his command, shoeless and exhausted, and picked out 24 of the freshest men, with whom he beat the surrounding country for six days longer.

The officer shot was either Aguineldo or his adjutant, and as the horse was richly caparisoned, it is a fair presumption that it was Aguineldo.

The soldiers of General Young, military governor of Northwestern Luzon, captured only last month an insurgent officer with papers revealing Aguineldo's whereabouts.

Major March reviewed his command, shoeless and exhausted, and picked out 24 of the freshest men, with whom he beat the surrounding country for six days longer.

There Major March reviewed his command, shoeless and exhausted, and picked out 24 of the freshest men, with whom he beat the surrounding country for six days longer.

The officer shot was either Aguineldo or his adjutant, and as the horse was richly caparisoned, it is a fair presumption that it was Aguineldo.

The soldiers of General Young, military governor of Northwestern Luzon, captured only last month an insurgent officer with papers revealing Aguineldo's whereabouts.

Major March reviewed his command, shoeless and exhausted, and picked out 24 of the freshest men, with whom he beat the surrounding country for six days longer.

There Major March reviewed his command, shoeless and exhausted, and picked out 24 of the freshest men, with whom he beat the surrounding country for six days longer.

TERRITORIAL OFFICIALS

List of Appointments Made by Governor Dole.

THEIR PERSONAL FITNESS.

SENATOR McCANDLESS TO BE SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC WORKS.

A. T. Atkinson to be Superintendent of Public Instruction—Other Appointments to be Announced Today.

Among the new Territorial officers by far the most important to the Territory generally is the Superintendent of Public Works.

The Department regrets to inform you that on account of employment of the "Iowa" and "Philadelphia" elsewhere and on account of repairs to both vessels it will be impracticable to send them to Hawaii for June 15th.

A true copy: Murrill Miller, Captain, U. S. N., Commanding, Navy Yard Station.

General Corbin says it is proposed to maintain an army of 40,000 regulars in the Philippines so long as required, and to do this it will be necessary to draw upon the troops now in Cuba.

Orders have been issued for the assembling of the Sixth Cavalry at San Francisco for transport to Manila.

General Corbin says it is proposed to maintain an army of 40,000 regulars in the Philippines so long as required, and to do this it will be necessary to draw upon the troops now in Cuba.

Orders have been issued for the assembling of the Sixth Cavalry at San Francisco for transport to Manila.

General Corbin says it is proposed to maintain an army of 40,000 regulars in the Philippines so long as required, and to do this it will be necessary to draw upon the troops now in Cuba.

Orders have been issued for the assembling of the Sixth Cavalry at San Francisco for transport to Manila.

General Corbin says it is proposed to maintain an army of 40,000 regulars in the Philippines so long as required, and to do this it will be necessary to draw upon the troops now in Cuba.

Orders have been issued for the assembling of the Sixth Cavalry at San Francisco for transport to Manila.

General Corbin says it is proposed to maintain an army of 40,000 regulars in the Philippines so long as required, and to do this it will be necessary to draw upon the troops now in Cuba.

Orders have been issued for the assembling of the Sixth Cavalry at San Francisco for transport to Manila.

General Corbin says it is proposed to maintain an army of 40,000 regulars in the Philippines so long as required, and to do this it will be necessary to draw upon the troops now in Cuba.

Orders have been issued for the assembling of the Sixth Cavalry at San Francisco for transport to Manila.

THINK IT WAS AGUINALDO.

MAJOR MARCH'S TROOPS BELIEVE THEY SHOT HIM.

Many of His Private and Public Papers Found in Saddle Bags on the Fleeing Man's Horse.

VIGAN, Luzon, June 3 (via Manila, June 3).—Major March, with his detachment of the Thirty-third Regiment, overtook what is believed to have been Aguineldo's party on May 19 at Lagat, about 100 miles northeast of Vigan.

The American commander reached La Boagan, where Aguineldo had made his headquarters since March 6, on May 7.

Major March, believing that the Filipinos had made for a river, which is tributary to the Chico, followed it for two days, reaching Tiao, where he learned that a party of Filipinos had descended the river on May 20.

The officer shot was either Aguineldo or his adjutant, and as the horse was richly caparisoned, it is a fair presumption that it was Aguineldo.

The soldiers of General Young, military governor of Northwestern Luzon, captured only last month an insurgent officer with papers revealing Aguineldo's whereabouts.

Major March reviewed his command, shoeless and exhausted, and picked out 24 of the freshest men, with whom he beat the surrounding country for six days longer.

There Major March reviewed his command, shoeless and exhausted, and picked out 24 of the freshest men, with whom he beat the surrounding country for six days longer.

The officer shot was either Aguineldo or his adjutant, and as the horse was richly caparisoned, it is a fair presumption that it was Aguineldo.

The soldiers of General Young, military governor of Northwestern Luzon, captured only last month an insurgent officer with papers revealing Aguineldo's whereabouts.

Major March reviewed his command, shoeless and exhausted, and picked out 24 of the freshest men, with whom he beat the surrounding country for six days longer.

There Major March reviewed his command, shoeless and exhausted, and picked out 24 of the freshest men, with whom he beat the surrounding country for six days longer.

The officer shot was either Aguineldo or his adjutant, and as the horse was richly caparisoned, it is a fair presumption that it was Aguineldo.

The soldiers of General Young, military governor of Northwestern Luzon, captured only last month an insurgent officer with papers revealing Aguineldo's whereabouts.

Major March reviewed his command, shoeless and exhausted, and picked out 24 of the freshest men, with whom he beat the surrounding country for six days longer.

There Major March reviewed his command, shoeless and exhausted, and picked out 24 of the freshest men, with whom he beat the surrounding country for six days longer.

The officer shot was either Aguineldo or his adjutant, and as the horse was richly caparisoned, it is a fair presumption that it was Aguineldo.

The soldiers of General Young, military governor of Northwestern Luzon, captured only last month an insurgent officer with papers revealing Aguineldo's whereabouts.

Major March reviewed his command, shoeless and exhausted, and picked out 24 of the freshest men, with whom he beat the surrounding country for six days longer.

SMALL CROWD BUT GOOD SPORT

Evereth Surprised the Talent at Park Yesterday.

GARTELINE'S GAME RACE.

CLOSE AND EXCITING FINISHES THE ORDER OF THE DAY.

Dexter Wins Bicycle Race Handily—Antidote and Venus Beaten Easily—Harness Races Good.

About half a thousand spectators witnessed some very good racing at Kaplani Park yesterday afternoon.

The Jockey Club was rather disappointed at the attendance, as the events warranted a much better crowd than was present.

Long waits between the events and a wind that blew great clouds of dust into the grand stand made many people complain, but after the sport was over an except the losers expressed themselves as satisfied with the day's entertainment.

The first event was a mile and a quarter bicycle post race. Ten dollars was the prize offered to the man having his wheel in front at each of the quarters.

The winner of the race to get $50. There were five starters—Dexter, Manoa, Merril, Ulrich and Vincent Sylla. The first post was won by Merril, the second and third by Manoa, and the fourth and race by Dexter, who was almost tipped out at the finish by Manoa.

Time of the race, 3:15. Ulrich got third place.

The second event was a half-mile dash, free for all, for a purse of $100. Garteline, Sir Cassimer and Maples started. At the start Garteline acted badly and worried herself and the other horses so that it was a full fifteen minutes before they were finally sent off.

Garteline took lengths to the lead. The tedious wait for the start was made up for by the splendid race made by the two mares. Garteline had a big lead to make up and caught Maples about half way down the home stretch.

It was a battle royal, and warp and spur were used at the finish. Garteline just getting under the wire first. Maples took second and Sir Cassimer was a poor third. Time, 0:45-1-5.

Considering the start, Garteline's run must have been much faster than that for the distance.

The second race for Hawaiian-bred was withdrawn, as there was but one entry.

The fourth race was run third. It was a mile trotting race for the 2:30 class, best two in three heats. Clippers was entered, but did not start, and so the race was between Albert W., driven by Gibson, and Eros, driven by Jim Quinn.

Quinn had the pole, and the start was a good one. Albert W. took the lead at the first change and kept it till the home stretch, when Quinn began to steal up. To the last eighth it was a pretty race as could have been wished for, both horses going without a break.

At the last eighth Eros was urged a little too hard and, coming abreast of Albert W., went off his feet when the race looked like a draw.

Albert W. finished a half length ahead in 2:32. The second heat was too much for Quinn's horse, and at the first quarter, while two lengths behind the sorrel, he broke and galloped to the three-quarter pole. The little sorrel kept up his regular pace, and although Eros was brought down to his stride again and finished a few lengths behind, the judges decided in favor of Albert W. Time of second heat, 2:33-1-5.

The fifth heat was withdrawn and the sixth was run fourth. It was a gentlemen's driving race, open to all road horses with a record. A good deal of amusement was afforded by the rigs that appeared on the track.

AMUSEMENTS

"Il Trovatore" at the Orpheum last night was marked by much that was good.

AMUSEMENTS

"Il Trovatore" at the Orpheum last night was marked by much that was good.

The play was well costumed and well staged. Miss Sullinger was at her best as Lecora.

Miss Hattie Belle Ladd gave a clever characterization of Azucena in her duet with Mr. Goff, winning hearty applause.

Mr. Goff, as the Count di Luna, sang powerfully and well, throwing a good deal of dramatic fervor into the part.

Mr. Wolf, in the small basso role, was, as usual, consistently good.

Mr. Baker, as Manrico, was very sick last evening with malaria fever, which, unfortunately, increased as the evening progressed, and will obligate "Il Trovatore" being shelved for "Fra Diavolo" the balance of the week.

When Mr. Arnold, who has sung the role of Lorenzo many times before with Mr. Wolf, will again essay the part.

Accordingly, "Fra Diavolo" goes on for to-night and the matinee and evening performances to-morrow.

While the withdrawal of "Il Trovatore" is to be regretted, "Fra Diavolo" will no doubt fill the house, as the Orpheum folks have been giving a pleasing presentation of the opera, and it contains plenty of marriage, combat and a touch of tragedy that will probably suit a Saturday night house better than Verdi's music.

Pilot Laureason Hurt. Pilot Laureason met with a quite painful accident yesterday which might have been very serious but luck was in his favor.

In attempting to board the Eskimo he Phelps early in the morning the ladder let down over the side of the vessel slipped and caused the pilot to fall back.

He struck his back on the gunwale of the pilot boat and fell into the water.

Apaki and Nibo two of the boat crew jumped into the water to aid their captain and he was hauled into the boat. He made his way to the deck of the Phelps and brought her into port.

He was pretty well shaken up and had to be helped from the pilot boat into the buggy. A physician was called who upon an examination failed to discover any broken bones.

Captain Laureason is severely bruised and will not be about for more than a week.

Late last evening he was feeling much better but suffering quite a deal of pain.

While the pilot was in the water the crew of the Phelps offered no assistance whatever.