OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Orpheum tonight. Guess your guess and try and win a Cleveland bike. Hats and shirt waists for the races today from Mrs. Hanna. Potatoes and eggs are scarce and high in the local market. Telephone 540 and secure your tickets for the Orpheum tonight. Mrs. H. Bertleman and Mrs. Crockett sailed on the Mauna Loa yesterday. Tomorrow afternoon there will be the usual Sunday concert in the capitol grounds. E. W. Quinn, 115 Union street, is prepared to furnish estimates on first class modern plumbing. There will be no concert today, save on the Kaimanui wharf where Captain Berger's band will play all day. The tearing down of the old McGraw mansion was begun by the purchaser of the building, John Underkirk. Egyptian cigarettes, with gold, silver and straw mountings, at David Lawrence's, Love building, Fort street. K. R. K. Wallace of the Wilder Steamship Co., wife and family, left in the Mauna Loa yesterday for a short trip to Kona. Kaia, a young Hawaiian, who smashed the windows in Akana's store, was fined $10 and costs in the police court yesterday. The charge of robbery against Ah On was not heard in the police court yesterday, as the prosecution was not ready. It will be taken up on Tuesday. Chas. N. Marquez is prepared to take a limited number of pupils in shorthand. Apply at this office for further instructions. Real Estate Agent W. E. Bivens, corner King and Bethel streets, is offering a few choice lots for sale at bargain prices. See ad on other page. The firm of Moroff & Eppers has dissolved partnership by mutual consent. The firm name will be known hereafter as Chr. Eppers & Co. The exodus of orientals from Honolulu still continues. The steamship China went away with a crowded steerage, having all the Japanese and Chinese she could take. There were 189 Chinese from here on board, and 106 Japanese, homeward bound. Prof. Lyons says the north pole can be reached next year, if ever. The professor knows it was hot this year. He figures that the heat of this summer, which has extended all over the world, has very materially reduced the ice in northern zones and that next year travel in those parts will be far easier than ever before.

AMUSEMENTS. According to time-honored custom the Orpheum will be packed tonight. The company returns on the Kaimanui today from the rainy city and will spend the afternoon shaking off their sea-sickness by being in the trim for the sock-day makers tonight. The box office will be open all day. Telephone 548.

JAPANESE CHRISTIANS CONSIDER MORAL EVIL.

THE REV. I. OTA ADDRESSES JAPANESE Y. M. C. A. UPON THE SUBJECT.

Says His Race is Disgraced and an Appeal Must be Made to Euro-Minded Citizens.

The local Japanese are beginning to wake up in regard to the Iwilei crime. The little brown men realize the stigma and shame thrown on the name and honor of their own country by this open lawlessness. The Rev. I. Ota, the leading Japanese minister of this territory, addressed the members of the Japanese Y. M. C. A. last evening at the Japanese church. "The time has at last come," said Mr. Ota to his attentive hearers, "when we should act and not sit idle. All of us know of the fearful Iwilei houses of ill-repute. What shall we do in regard to the matter? Sit idle and let it go on? No. Let us band together and carry on a war against this evil to the death. "Some of you would suggest that you appeal to the government. The government is the last place in the world where we would receive any assistance. Everything that could be done to nurse this filthy child into a full-grown and matured villain has been done by the local authorities. They have furnished it with police protection, medical attendance and assured its success by shutting out all competition. No, I tell you, and tell you plainly that the government is body and soul with these open cess-pools, and what help is to be received must come from the pure-minded citizens who wish to protect their homes by rooting out the evil of the century. "And think of the stigma and shame cast on the name of Japan. Of all the inmates at Iwilei over 91 per cent of them are of our own race. Is it any wonder that people of other races look upon us as a licentious people, demoralized by giving way to the dictates of passion? The French race is an example of the effect of moral vice upon a nation. Thirty years ago France, seemingly invincible, but rotten to the core with licentiousness, was broken in pieces by Prussia's sturdy armies. Did she learn her lesson? No. Every year she stands her physical examination for entrance to the French army has been gradually lowered so that now some 'egg-heads' look like school boy brigades. "Follow countrymen, the solution of this problem is in our own hands. It is ours to make and save or let our country become the France of the Orient. What shall I let? Shall we allow our countrymen to go on as they are now, until the man of Japan is but a shadow and wreck of humanity? Time has come when we must take aggressive action or forever remain idle. What is your decision?" The applause with which the speaker was greeted gave evidence of the feeling of his hearers upon the subject. They were appalled by the dismal outlook for their country's manhood. Mr. Ota intends to form a society for the purpose of putting down social vice among the Japanese and he is already assured of a large membership. Mr. Y. Yamaguchi, a member of the Japanese parliament, spoke on the subject, "My Political Experience in the Japanese Parliament."

HARD TO CONTROL DRAYS. Attorney General Dole Renders a Decision on It. The following opinion was given to High Sheriff Brown by Attorney General Dole yesterday in regard to teaming on Fort street: "Referring to your request for my opinion relative to your power to prohibit the use of Fort street as a thoroughfare for drays on account of the congested condition of said street, I have to say that, in the absence of any statutory provision, I greatly doubt whether it can be done. I would suggest, however, that, if the matter is brought to the attention of draymen, I believe their good sense and desire to do the gentlemanly thing will lead them to use less crowded streets whenever they conveniently can. "Very respectfully yours, "E. P. DOLE, "Attorney General."

ORDERED TO HONGKONG. Dr. J. W. Kerr of the Quarantine Service Goes to the Orient. Dr. J. W. Kerr of the quarantine service, who has been here several weeks assisting Dr. Garnichol, has been ordered to Hongkong, where he will have charge of the examination of passengers and freight for the United States. This will greatly facilitate the examination of passengers arriving here and at coast ports.
