The S. S. Mariposa from San Francisco for the Colonies is due here tomorrow, with dates to August 28.

Mr. Harry Armitage goes to the Volcano by the steamer W. G. Hall today. He will probably spend a week with Madame Pele.

The Stillman-Molteni wedding is postponed till Saturday, on account of Princess Liliuokalani's birthday celebration yesterday.

This is a slack season in Supreme Court Chambers, giving the clerks an opportunity for entering up and classifying the term and other work.

The new police broom might develop fresh business in sweeping behind some exteriors that only show temperance drinks to the general gaze.

Mr. Lincoln has secured the contract for a brick building on the southwest corner of King and Maunakea streets, and has sublet the brickwork to Mr. Thomas.

Five cases, of persons arrested on warrants, all broke down in the Police Court yesterday, everyone of the accused being discharged, and that was the whole business of the sitting.

Besides the wine set mentioned yesterday, the Nihoa Society presented Princess Liliuokalani, on the eve of her birthday, with two large kahilis of white Kaula feathers, and a large French clock.

If anyone doubts the unflagging industry of the Chinese, let him go out Palama way at three or four o'clock in the morning. He will meet a John on the trot with a pair of baskets, containing vegetables or fowls, every few rods.

Capt. Kibling, of the schooner Emma, reports an affray with knives among his Japanese sailors, at Waimea, Kauai. One of them was badly cut about the head. Clubs had to be used by the captain and mate to restore order.

Hon. A. F. Judd, Chief Justice, leaves for Kau, Hawaii, by the steamer W. G. Hall to-day, to hold the September term of the Third Judicial Circuit Court. There is a pretty large calendar. Major Antone Rosa, Deputy Attorney-General, goes to represent the Crown.

Mr. Lycan is reported to be developing a new and peculiar home industry at Hilo, in the shape of fern fertilizer, and those who have had experience with it give it decided preference over any imported fertilizer known. He is said to have orders from Hilo planters for all he can produce for some time to come.

The Fire Department.

The Board of Representatives of the Fire Department met at the Central Station last night. There was a good attendance. Almost the only business done outside of the routine was a report of progress from the Relief Committee on the firemen made destitute by the great fire in April. The committee recommended the disbursement of $635 for relief of firemen and $315 for furnishing the China Engine Company's hall when built. It is hoped that the Board will have the final report for adoption at the next meeting. The Chinese company have several sites for their hall under consideration, but are not likely to come to a decision until after the passage of the Appropriation Bill by the Legislature.

A Midnight Sooner.

Only one cell was occupied in the Station House at eleven last night, and that by a heavyweight inebriate, who, as the youngster said, was all asleep but his nose. Half an hour later two officers came up from the water front, each escorting a young wahine. The damsels were arrested on board a schooner for disturbing the quiet of the night. In the receiving room one of them acted the stage Topsy. "Oh, golly, Ise so wicked," she looked, as she snickered and winked while the officer emptied her holoku pockets of a variety of truck. The pair were making belligerent demonstrations toward each other, so that it was deemed advisable to place them in separate cells. It was a lamentable midnight scene, one that suggested a good deal of neglected responsibilities in the community.

The Birthday Celebration.

The arrangements for the celebration of Princess Liliuokalani's birthday were all successfully carried out. Flags were flying throughout the city and on the shipping in port, in honor of the royal natal day. Marshal Kalukou, Deputy Marshal Dayton, and the police force of about fifty men paid their respects in the early morning—the Marshal being the chief spokesman. Their greetings were cordially reciprocated by Her Royal Highness.

During the forenoon Mr. L. Montgomery Mather was presented by Major A. Rosa, and read the following address composed by himself:—

TO HER ROYAL HIGHNESS PRINCESS LILIUOKALANI. Liliuokalani much loved Princess, In sweet remembrance of thy natal day, Let all thy many friends their love express—In modesty, their thoughts to thee convey. Under this clear blue sky where thou wert born,

On this fair land, thy name is heard with joy, Kindness and love awake with thee each morn; A nation knows thy heart without alloy. Long life to thee, kind Princess good and true, A perfect peace and perfect health be thine, Numbering with coming years, as they ensue, Increasing friends whose hearts shall intertwine.

L. MONTGOMERY MATHER. A copy of the address, engrossed on a white satin tablet made by Mrs. Julius H. Smith, and ornamented by Mrs. Strong, was presented to the Princess by Mr. Mather.

The First Division of the Liliuokalani Educational Society presented Her Royal Highness, their President, with a set of silver spoons and forks, Miss L. Brickwood making an appropriate presentation speech, to which the Princess gave a feeling reply.

The King and Queen arrived about noon, being received by a guard of honor. His Majesty, after the interchange of salutations, assisted by Her Majesty, invested the Princess with the cordon and decoration of the Royal Order of Kapiolani, the King wearing the same insignia on the occasion.

The Second Division of the Educational Society next appeared, with the gift of an elegant silver set, suitably inscribed, comprising pitcher, cups and bowl. Her Royal Highness graciously and cordially returned her thanks to the ladies, whose spokeswoman was Mrs. Charles W. Clark.

The Kuonoono Society (Savings Bank) presented a fine tea and coffee set, Mrs. Junius Kaa addressing Her Royal Highness in Hawaiian. Other gifts were as follows:—

- Embroidered sofa cushion, by Princess Like- like; Diamond ring, by Governor Dominis; Carriage rug, by Miss Helen Cleghorn; Silver soup ladle by the First Minister, Mr. W. M. Gibson; Set of silver salt spoons, by Mrs. F. H. Hayselden; Japanese embroidered screen, by H. M. Chamberlain, Col. C. P. Iauken; Silver card case, by Hon. F. H. Hayselden; Cut glass preserve set, by Miss Liliu Carter; Silver salad fork and spoon, by Hon. and Mrs. Samuel Parker; Sugar tongs, by Miss Edith Turton; Silver bouquet holder, by Miss L. Hart; Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Hart, parents of the last mentioned, gave a rich cake.

At the noon hour His Majesty and a distinguished company held a miniature military review in an adjacent lot, the Prince's Own being put through a variety of manoeuvres, which were executed very well although the ground was soft from brisk showers of rain just before. The Royal Band played at the drill and throughout the day. There were many callers of both sexes throughout the day, and a very large company was present at the feast in the afternoon, which passed off in grand style. The Ministers, Government officials, military officers, Legislative Assembly and representative citizens were present in force, leaving the city very dull all day. A large crowd of people collected in the road opposite the residence. Unfortunately, a clandestine traffic in spirits appeared to be going on in the near vicinity, which resulted in some creditable scenes. One of the soldiers became affected and played the monkey among the crowd.

At five o'clock the Prince's Own formed and marched into town, presenting a very fine appearance in step and carriage. They were headed by the band.

Last night a ball was held at the house, at which His Majesty the King, Princess Poamoaikalani, the Governor of Hawaii, and other immediate friends of the Heiress Apparent were present. Only native dances were performed, and the enjoyment of the occasion was immense.

A Dull Evening.

Last evening was so dull in town that the HERALD reporter determined to make a statistical showing of just how dull it was. Therefore he visited most of the places of resort other than the saloons, and counted heads.

At Charles McCarthy's billiard room there were two or three teams engaged over the green tables.

In the Y. M. C. A. reading room there were eight persons, four or five of whom seemed to be sailors, and the rest young boys, one of the latter being a frowsy-headed native urchin. The office, parlor and class room were deserted, while four or five men sat conversing in the portico.

Entering the Honolulu Library and Reading Room Association building, two men were observed in the game room over checkers or dominoes. There were four men in the reading room, in the midst of literature for the twenty thousand.

Being told that the Honolulu Rifles kept its armory open nightly, Sundays excepted, for recreation and social intercourse, the reporter tramped out there only to find the place in darkness.

Thence going to the Yosemite skating rink, his ears were captured on approaching by strains of dulcet music. It was the regular night for a dancing class. The dancing master was cavorting round with a male pupil, while a third occupant of the floor was going it alone practising some fantastic step. The manager complacently said that it was hardly time for the class to be all there—it was a little after eight o'clock—but it was all the same to him, as the fourteen pupils enrolled paid whether they attended or not.

The Hawaiian Hotel was next visited. Half a score of sports were engaged in the card room. Two or three were liquidating their sorrows at the bar. One young man was letting himself down easy from the baseball season, by persecuting the ivory balls on a pocket table in the billiard room, while two or three sat round, one of whom said all "he news he had was that it was very hot, only he used a different term from "very."

It was getting too melancholy, however, so the final call was made at the Fort street shooting gallery. Two grown-up lads were trying their marksmanship on the big ghost away down the vista. Mr. Higgins said it was so dull on some evenings that a cannon might be fired down Fort street without hurting anybody. Unless matters livened up, he proposed to move the target into the street.

A Japanese Barrister.

Mr. Keigoro Katsura has been admitted a member of the Hawaiian bar, licensed to practise in all of the courts of the Kingdom. He came here duly accredited from a leading law school of Japan. The Justices of the Supreme Court were surprised at his attainments in law and general scholarship. He understands English thoroughly, writing it with correctness and precision, but speaking it with some difficulty in pronunciation. Mr. Katsura has gone to Hana, Maui, to engage in a case in which some of his countrymen are interested.

TRADE POINTERS.

Advertise in the DAILY HERALD.

Popularity is a fine thing, but not so fine as the goods at the Popular Millinery House.

Mr. Fishel is too busy in clearing out goods to do more than point to where his advertisement ought to be.

C. Brewer & Co. are ahead of the Government in issuing a loan, offering greater inducements besides, with their first mortgage bonds of $500 at nine per cent.

Selling old goods cheap is no great merit, but when new goods are offered at very low prices, as they are by B. E. Ehlers & Co., people buckle on their wallets and go forth to buy.

Mr. Goldberg always carries an elaborate selection of clothes and gentlemen's furnishings, and his prices cannot be demurred at. You cannot miss his stand any more than his advertisement in the HERALD.
