LOCAL NEWS.

Skating to-night at the Yosemite.

The dancing school at the Yosemite rink has disbanded.

Honolulu society will miss several fair ornaments after the Mararoa calls.

Miss Fennell has charge of the school at Pahala, Hawaii, this term, in place of Mr. Glendon.

Some of the rescued sailors of the Dunnotar Castle are willing to stay here if they can get work.

A monthly dividend of a dollar a share will be served on ice to day at Mr. W. E. Foster's office.

The King goes down to his boat house at five in the morning to supervise the training of his oarsmen.

Captain Killman, of the bark Atlanta, now in port, came to Honolulu as chief officer of the steamer W. G. Hall.

Hon. W. C. Parke was sixty-five on Tuesday, and bears his years well. He was Marshal thirty four years up to 1884.

Messrs. E. P. Adams & Co. will sell the steam laundry at noon on Saturday, as a whole and undivided property.

Hon. J. L. Kaulukou, Marshal of the Kingdom, was serenaded by the Royal Hawaiian Band at his residence last evening.

The Hawaiian Agricultural Company is making a third reservoir on the Pahala plantation, enabling water to be taken and can flumed to any part of the plantation.

Some people do not believe there will be any steamer here from the Coast before the Mararoa on Saturday week. There may be a surprise for the doubters, however.

The building from which Mr. Michiels was ejected by fire, on Fort street, and the adjoining one occupied by Mr. Eckart, are to be substituted by a neat block of a pair of stores.

A member of the Honolulu Yacht and Boat Club says the papers all seem to ignore its operations, yet the senior and junior crews are having hard practice right along. They are out every evening.

The infant whose birth is recorded in this number has come into the world fatherless, her mother being widow of the late Mr. Faught, mate of the Kilauea Hou, who died suddenly while visiting the Pali about two months ago.

An attempt was made on Friday night, by some unknown person, to burn down the skating rink at Wailuku, Maui. An old woman and a little boy put out the flames, that were made lively by a previous application of kerosene.

In the Police Court yesterday, two drunks paid the usual six dollars, and Wailua, charged with disturbing the quiet of the night, forfeited bail, $10. Several Chinese assault and battery cases, and the case of Soy Yong, were continued.

A gang of Japanese mutinied on the Naalehu plantation, Hawaii, recently, but were thwarted in a violent movement toward the manager's house, by the coolness of the manager, Mr. Center, and all taken before the district judge at Waiohina and fined.

When the steamer W. G. Hall was on the homeward trip, off the Kona coast an object was sighted which appeared to be an upturned boat. The course was changed to pick up the article, but it proved to be a large log that had evidently been in the water several months.

Consideration of a proposition to amalgamate the Eclipse with the Myrtle Boat Club was the business at the special meeting of the latter last night. After an animated discussion the club adjourned without taking a vote. It is said that a two-thirds vote is necessary to effect the union, and that several members are strongly opposed to it.

Last evening an eight-oared and two six-oared boats, His Majesty in one of the latter, took a turn round the spar buoy. The Myrtle senior and junior crews were also out. There was a little difficulty over the transfer of an oarsman from the junior to the senior crew, but the captain having given a decision the juniors loyally conceded the point.

There was nothing unpleasant happened at the hotel on Tuesday night. An item in this paper, which seems to have been misunderstood to that effect, referred simply to a lawyer, who was playing billiards, giving a HERALD reporter an item of Court news, at the same time playfully menacing him with a cue if he put anything in the paper about him.

Wanting Information.

Mr. Mort Oat was yesterday asked the following questions, each perhaps several times:

Where is the steamer?

Where's the Elder this morning?

What time do you think she will be telephoned?

Do you think it will be the Australia, or the Elder, this trip?

Did the Surprise leave before the Elder, and do you think she will bring a mail?

Is the Mararoa due to-day?

Will there be any Young Ladies' Journal on this steamer?

Do you think the steamer will be here before noon?

Is there any definite news as to which steamer will come this trip?

To which he gives the following sweeping reply, subject to eventualities before this is printed:

We would not be surprised to see the Surprise coming surprisingly slow round the heads, and no doubt we will be somewhat Elder before she arrives, as we understand she is an ox-liary, and they are always slow; and, finally, we know nothing about it, but think that in the course of human events we shall probably have a steamer this week.

Another Chinese Robbery.

This morning about two o'clock Officer Hopkins was walking through Chinatown, when his attention was attracted by a Chinaman with a lantern looking round Anin's coffee house on the corner of Hotel and Maunakea streets. It was a clerk of that establishment searching for traces of a robbery just committed in the front shop. Someone had broken in the front door with the aid of a chisel, and got away with three tins of salmon, a large box of Manila cigars, and a box of tobacco. The clerk heard the noise made by the burglar, but did not reach the shop in time to prevent his escape. A native policeman on that beat was informed of the occurrence and immediately started to look for the robber. Hopkins took the lantern from the clerk and followed the chase. He found the box of tobacco on Hotel street, but saw nothing of the thief. Evidently some smart Chinaman has succeeded to the business of Chun Hook, now serving an almost indefinite period on the reef.

The Kamehameha Well.

Mr. J. A. McCandless has reached a depth of 315 feet in the well he has been boring on the site of the Kamehameha boys' school at Kalihi. There is now a splendid flow of water, gushing up sixteen inches over the top of the pipe, the bore of which is 7 3/8 inches. The intention was yesterday to cease boring last evening, as there is a supply sufficient for the houses in the neighborhood, over what will be required for the institution itself. Our reporter, on visiting the spot yesterday, found himself surrounded by a swarm of native youngsters in nature's garb, who were bathing in the stream flowing from the well. It was observed that the water was remarkably clear to come from a well while the boring process was going on. It will be like purest crystal, evidently, when the hole is tubed. The trustees are to be congratulated on making such a fortunate strike of the necessary water at such a comparatively small depth.

Reception to Mr. Carter.

His Excellency Governor Dominis has ordered the Band to play at the house of Mr. P. C. Jones, Nuuanu avenue, this (Thursday) evening, in honor of his guest, His Excellency H. A. P. Carter, Hawaiian Minister Plenipotentiary and Envoy Extraordinary at Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will open their house from half-past seven to ten o'clock, and will be pleased to see any of Mr. Carter's friends who desire to call upon him at that time. The following selections will be played by the Band:

- Overture—Romantic.....Keler Bela
Selection—Flying Dutchman.....Wagner
Waltz—Venetian Nights.....Strauss
Selection—Bohemian Girl.....Balle
Tuberose and Lei Aloha.....
Selection—Mikado.....Sullivan
Gavotte—Welcome.....Kluss
Waltz—Gasparone.....Millocker
Polka—Stefanie.....Fahrbach
Star Spangled Banner and Hawaii Ponoi.

About nine o'clock last night Officer Wm. Tell arrested four Chinamen at Leleu, on a warrant for smuggling opium. An hour later Officer Hopkins "pulled" two more caught in the act of smoking the drug at Cape Horn. If this officer keeps on he will soon be able to take out a pilot's license for rounding the Horn. He has conveyed something like a dozen derelicts into port from that quarter within a week.

The town was very still last night.

The HERALD circulation is booming.

The House is taking up business at random.

Mr. R. A. Macfie, jr., Kilauea, Kauai, and Mr. W. H. Lewes, Kukuiahae, Hawaii, are registered at the Hawaiian Hotel.

It is fitting that the custom house should be punctilious on etiquette. A country stands or falls by its manners and customs. How much liquid loyalty was franked through for the elections is a secondary matter to etiquette.

LEGISLATIVE SUMMARY.

Yesterday, the hundred and eighth day, the House began the lengthened time table, opening at half-past nine. On the report of a select committee, presented by Mr. Richardson, the bill amending the law relating to acknowledgments to contracts was forwarded to third reading on Saturday. Next on the order was the consideration of a bill to amend section 780, Civil Code, also a resolution presented by Mr. Dickey, relative to the distribution of representatives. At present the representation is 28 members to every 2,873 of the population on an average, under which Hilo sends 1 member to every 3,994; Puna sends 1 member to every 944; Hanalei sends 1 member to every 3,908; Kohala sends 1 member to every 5,070; North Kona sends 1 member to every 1,773; South Kona sends 1 member to every 7,825; Kau sends 1 member to every 3,483; Lahaina and Kaanapali send 1 member to every 756; Wailuku sends 1 member to every 2,907; Makawao sends 1 member to every 2,814; Molokai and Lanai send 1 member to every 1,307; Honolulu sends 1 member to every 5,122; Koolauloko sends 1 member to every 2,621; Koolauloa sends 1 member to every 1,321; Waialua sends 1 member to every 1,265; Ewa and Waianae send 1 member to every 2,374; Waimea sends 1 member to every 1,762; Lihue and Koloa send 1 member to every 3,484; Hanalei sends 1 member to every 3,569. A majority of the select committee on election laws recommended the appointment of representatives to be on the basis, generally, of 1 to every 3,000 inhabitants, which would allow, for Hilo and Puna, 3 representatives; Hanalei, 1; Kohala, 2; Kona, 1; Kau, 1; Lahaina and Kaanapali, 1; Wailuku, 2; Makawao, 2; Hana, 1; Molokai and Lanai, 1; Honolulu, 6; Koolauloko, 1; Koolauloa and Waialua, 1; Ewa and Waianae, 1; Lihue and Koloa, 1; Hanalei, 1; and Waimea, 1. It was decided to hear the minority report, but that not being at hand on the moment, Mr. Kaulukou's bill to amend section 5, chapter 86, Penal Code, was taken up. That member having moved it pass, Mr. Thurston made a speech, strongly deprecating the proposed step as plunging the nation further down the decline of corruption. He described the rottenness of a system in which candidates could appoint the inspectors of elections, with such force as to bring Mr. Dare to his feet. The Attorney-General said he had signed the report of the committee, but did not think he was committing a crime. Mr. Thurston asked the Attorney-General if he considered it fair, honest or decent for a candidate or candidates for election to have the appointment of the inspectors of election. Mr. Dare replied that he did not think it fair, and no candidate who was a gentleman would be guilty of the like. Mr. Thurston said that was precisely what was done in twenty-six out of twenty-eight districts of this Kingdom at the last election. The Attorney-General's answer showed that in signing this report, he knew nothing about what it meant, and if he had not committed a crime, he had done what might result in criminal acts by others. The passing of this bill would result in the utter degradation of this country in the election affairs. If the Attorney-General assisted in killing a man, it was all the same to the victim whether that assistance was rendered designedly or in ignorance. Mr. Kaulukou moved the previous question, which carried, and the bill passed, on the ayes and noes, by a straight party vote of 19 to 12. The minority report above referred to, was produced and read, and the representation bill ordered to be considered section by section. Mr. Hayselden opposed this, however, and then when overruled, moved the indefinite postponement of the first section. Mr. Dickey was surprised that members could, in view of their oath, oppose a bill to conform the representation to the requirements of the Constitution. Mr. Gibson quoted Scripture to point out an argument that the spirit of the Constitution was not intended to give districts representation in proportion to their non-voting population. Mr. Dickey, in replying, said the Minister might twist the Constitution round to suit his argument, but he could not twist numbers round to show that Makawao, with 625 voters, and Kaanapali, with 171 voters, were represented in accordance with either the spirit or the letter of the Constitution. Mr. Kaulukou resented the reference to the oath, and said he was willing Makawao should have two members, Kohala two, and Honolulu more than it has; yet he could not support all the provisions of the first section of the bill. The motion for indefinite postponement was carried, and then the house took noon recess.

In the afternoon there was an edifying debate on the second reading of a bill to repeal the law requiring voters to show tax receipts at the polls. Mr. Hayselden, while admitting the evils of the present system, moved the indefinite postponement of the bill. This was lost on the following division: For indefinite postponement—Kanoa, Dare, Hayselden, Lilikalani, Baker, Amara, Kaulia, Kaulukou, Kaunamano, Nahale, Nahinu, Aholo, Kaukau, Kauai, Polohau, 15. Against—Bishop, Dominis, Cleghorn, Kuhlhelani, Parker, Kauli, Brown, Pahia, Wight, Kalua, Richardson, Dickey, Kaai, Thurston and Paehaole, 16. The first and main section of the bill reads as follows: "That from and after the passage of this Act, it shall not be necessary to use any tax receipt bearing the words 'qualified to vote,' at any election; nor shall such tax receipts be furnished by any tax collector or board of inspectors of election, to any voter, nor shall it be necessary to produce such tax receipt at the polls prior to depositing a ballot or at any other time." Another election law was passed to clear up the doubts hitherto existing as to previous residence of voters. The main section makes a previous residence of thirty days necessary to qualify a person to vote, and for violation imposes a fine of not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars, or imprisonment at hard labor not to exceed two months.
