ROWING DISCORD.

Word comes from the "rural districts" of the renewed efforts of the Administration native paper to create party strife and distrust, if not hatred, of the foreigner.

Administration of Government is for the people, not for personal emoluments or aggrandisement, nor for an exercise of petty spite against any individual, class or party.

THE SAN FRANCISCO PETITION.

We will defend the honor of the King and the good repute of Hawaii whenever either are wantonly or unjustly assailed.

The merchants of the Pacific Coast have mostly been our friends and they continue so. If they deem that the interests of Hawaii and San Francisco are reciprocal, it follows that mutual advice, whether it is given or received, comes as from friend to friend.

His Majesty is being wounded and made ridiculous by his seeming friends, and we assume that it is but right and just that his cause be protected by shielding it from their inconsistency and demagoguery.

The Crater of Haleakala.

With the first faint light of the new day the camp is astir, and the outlines of the rugged masses of lava scattered over the crater's floor, the grand slopes and curves of the picturesque cones, and the massive walls behind and opposite the camp—with huge buttresses on their sides and torn and riven blemishes crowning their lofty heights—are brought more and more clearly into view as the approaching sun illumines the clear sky.

The loftiest peaks and ridges are of a warm purple tint that passes into brown and black shadows in the deep hollows. As the sun rises these shadows become luminous and the peaks are glorified by a crimson flush and glow while the sky beyond them changes from cold steel-blue to lovely azure.

Our first expedition this day is to the Pa Pua o ka Pele, (the "Pig Pen of Pele") where, in Hawaiian mythological times, the fiery goddess Pele punished her pet porkers.

There are spots in this area where the liquid lava has raised up masses of gigantic blocks into a great mound, and make itself the rugged foundation of the ponderous pile.

velvety-black patches of lava-sand, on which grow "silver swords" and tufts of bunch grass. At the further side of the basin is a chasm, through which—we are told—broke Pele's wild pigs and rushed out and down the great North Gap hotly pursued by the fierce goddess.

After a while we rode on, skirting the basin on one side, and visiting a mammoth cone we passed on our way to our camp. From the point where we all instinctively drew rein, the great hill—over seven hundred feet high—stands framed, as it were, by two massive monuments of basalt whose square outlines form a great gateway to the plains on which the cone stands.

It is difficult to realize the great size of these cones, and it is not until we recall the dimensions of Punch Bowl, and Diamond Head, near Honolulu, that we find those well-known craters are smaller than the one whose beauty we so much admire in Haleakala.

The steep south wall of the crater shows where ancient flows of lava have broken down as the flood of liquid matter rushed out from underneath. The out-jutting crags and peaks of basalt are worn into curious shapes and partially hid in vegetation.

EDITOR HONOLULU PRESS, Sir: Noticing your reference to the "battle axes" of the New Hebrideans, the thought occurred to me that it might be of interest to you and many of your readers to know more about these weapons.

The Hebridean having once fitted his axe, carries it from that time forth over his right shoulder, firmly grasped in his hand, ready for immediate use.

To the Editor HONOLULU PRESS.—Sir: For fear of being overtaken by an epidemic here, at some future, and perhaps not very distant day, in an article headed "Sanitary Affairs," in the P. C. Advertiser of September 15th, there is a very great effort made to screen the present Board of Health for its incompetency, and as that institution is run for the glory of its President, the master is not forgotten.

VENTURE.

This well-known Trotting Stallion is now standing at the corner of Punchbowl and Queen streets, and breeders, horsemen and stock-owners should take advantage of the opportunity to obtain his blood while they have the chance.

It does not require a great horseman to discover great points of excellence in VENTURE. The ordinary citizen, upon beholding him, will be impressed immediately with his grand make-up, magnificent length, and elegant finish.

A great deal of importance has lately been attached to the value of a horse that is being kept for stock purposes, whether he is standard or not, and the President of the National Association of Trotting Horse Breeders to America strongly advises people not to purchase stallions that are not standard bred, and he also advises them to select one not only standard bred, but a possible one that is standard bred by his own performance, which is a public record of 2:30, or better, and even more than this by the performance of his get also. Now, if this rule was rightly applied it would exclude all such great horses as Electioneer and the sire of Maud S. and Jay Eye See, etc., for while they have become greatly renowned by the performance of their get, they never were turf performers themselves.

Now, we will see, for curiosity, how near VENTURE comes to possessing these three qualifications, namely: Breeding, performance and performance of his get.

As to breeding, he is the peer of any horse on earth, and I don't except the great Hermit, who is the most popular stallion in England, and whose service fee is £500, he being the sire of three Derby winners.

As to his own performance, he meets the requirements, having a public record of 2:17 1/2—2:30 being the standard of admission.

His get are now just beginning to be appreciated in California, one of which (Vengeance) won a good race quite lately in Sacramento, in straight heats, making a record of 2:14, and is said to be able to trot close to 2:00, when called upon to do so.

With these facts before us, VENTURE looms up as one of the greatest horses, not only in this but in any other country, and the day to pass when people will breed anything but the very best; and while the death of two such great horses at Howell and Bazaar, is greatly deplored by all true horsemen, still it is a great consolation that there is so good a horse as VENTURE to fill their place.

VENTURE is an aged horse, but he is one year younger than Dictator, who was sold on 7th last year in Kentucky for $25,000, on the strength of his being the sire of Jay Eye See. His stud fee is $500. He is also ten years younger than Volunteer (sire of St. Julien), whose fee is $500. All things taken into consideration, I cannot see why VENTURE is not as desirable a horse to breed from as any of them, or why we is not as worthy of the patronage of the public. Below I will give his pedigree, of which I invite a comparison with that of any other horse in the country:

VENTURE, chestnut horse, 16 hands, foaled in 1864; sired by Belmont, he by American Boy, he by Sea Gull, he by Imp. Expedition.

6th dam, Dromedary, by Dromedary, by Old England.

7th dam, by Cates Arabian. 8th dam, Miss Cate, by Cate.

9th dam, Miss Madeline, by son of Greybe 10th dam, by Purline.

11th dam, Miss Doss, dam by Woolcock. 12th dam, by Croft's Bay Barb.

13th dam, Desdemona, dam by Makinias. 14th dam, by Britmer.
