

THE MAN OF TODAY.

Though Apparently Strong and Healthy He May Be in Imminent Danger.

We read of the sudden death of men apparently full of health and strength, and we are astounded. But were they healthy? No, though outwardly there was nothing the matter and no symptoms appeared by which a doctor could discover their disease, there was, notwithstanding, a disease present, which silently and secretly was laying up poison which, when the exciting cause should come, would immediately flood the lungs with its deadly secretions and render them inert and useless, so that the man, who had been apparently a tower of strength grew feeble as an infant, and in spite of the efforts of the greatest doctors, slowly choked to death.

Medical writers tell you that the victim of pneumonia is drowned in his own secretions.

But why were not these secretions carried off? Because the kidneys were unequal to the task and needed aid. If business men and men of affairs generally, when apparently in perfect health, could be induced to take precautions, how greatly would the number of widows and orphans be diminished in this fair land!

The remedy is so simple, so well known, so infallible.

To avoid pneumonia and Bright's disease and all other ills arising from diseased livers and kidneys, all that need be done is to take as directed Warner's Safe Cure. It will cleanse, it will strengthen, it will feed these organs, so that they can do their work.

Autumn, then, with its sudden changes of temperature, will have no terrors for us—for colds cannot find lodgment in a healthy body, and as for the greater evils of which we have been speaking this medicine is known to furnish perfect immunity from them to all who take it faithfully according to directions.

OPENS THE SEASON

Marshalltown Women's Club Officers and Directors Hostesses at Initial Meeting.

Ladies Receive the Members, City Teachers and Members of School Board

Mrs. Adaline M. Payne, of Nevada, Reads a Paper—Outline of Work and Committees.

The officers and directors of the Marshalltown Women's Club, as hostesses, opened the club social season of the city Wednesday night at the Odd Fellows' hall, when they received the members of the club, the city teachers and the members of the school board, to the number of about 150. The affair was indeed a pleasant one, arranged for the happiness of the guests in every particular. The receiving party was composed of the club's officers. The decorations of the club room were very simple, bits of greenery adorning the walls, while on the platform were several stands of cut flowers—mermet and pearl roses. Miss May Wason opened the evening with a masterly rendition of G. Symbat's "Tocatta," responding to an encore with Godard's "Noeluzo."

The speaker of the evening, Mrs. Adaline M. Payne, of Nevada, wife of Editor Payne of the Nevada Watchman, and one of the brilliant literary women of the state, was then introduced by Mrs. Augusta W. Robbins.

Admitted to the club ladies before, as heard by the club ladies before, as one of the other occasion she appears, before them. Those who had had the good fortune to be present at the state federation meeting at Burlington had also heard her, and knew that a rare treat was in store for the lady's auditors. Mrs. Payne's paper was "The Beautiful as an Educator," and the manner in which it was treated showed that the subject had been made a careful study. One of the principal ideas brought out by the speaker was that character enlarges capacity of mind or develops perfect immunity from them to all who take it faithfully according to directions.

"Beauty of nature or of art spur patriotism and strengthens permanence," said Mrs. Payne. "Ownership of it is not limited by title deeds, but is conferred by the seeing eye and the feeling heart without regard to wealth or station."

"Nations recognize and assert this ownership, and whole peoples lift their hands in honor when beauty, to which civilization has bowed, is threatened with destruction."

"The legislative struggle for the preservation of the natural beauties of our own land is maintained that the highest uses of education may have the benefit of those features, in days to come."

"The influence of art is not an adequate substitute for the solid training which down through centuries has developed Puritan virtues and sterling qualities of mind. It is, however, a valuable factor in rounding out character. It cultivates the heart, smooths down, softens and slows down."

"The study of nature furthers obedience to law and peace of mind. The systematic study of the elements of beauty aids perception and imagination, classifies judgment and helps discrimination."

"Abstract beauty, appealing directly to the imagination, mind speaking to mind, has the advantage that we may take it with us into the lowliest places. To assimilate beauty requires more than an occasional glance at it. Only as it becomes a part of our experience does it become to us a means of growth."

Mrs. Payne closed by showing some of the ways we have of conveying the beautiful to act as educators, speaking of art objects, village improvement societies, art clubs, literary organizations and library movements, saying that we all are missionaries carrying the gospel of the beautiful to the busy people."

After Mrs. Payne had concluded a musical trio, Miss Mabel Woodbury, violin; Mr. John Woodbury, flute, and Miss May Wason, piano, played a number by F. Behr, which was followed by a very sweet and pretty vocal number, Allison's "Love is a Bubble," by Miss Edna Louise Parker, who was accompanied by Miss Bessie W. Parker.

In response to applause Miss Parker sang one of Mrs. Carrie Jacobs-Bond's little numbers, "When Church is Out." Those present were especially glad to hear Miss Parker, as it is her last appearance in public before going to Chicago to take a course of voice training under a private teacher.

A social hour followed the completion of the program, during which time the members Mary Welles, Bessie Oliver, Nellie Whittin, Grace Duffield and Lella David served ices and cake. Mrs. W. B. Hawkins presided over the punch bowl throughout the evening.

There were present from out of the city Mrs. Carrie Jacobs-Bond, of Chicago, a guest of Mrs. H. J. Howe; Miss Bertha Whitaker, of Clear Lake, a guest of Miss Oliver; and Misses Blanche Denmead and Anna Lippincott, of Chicago, guests of Mrs. D. T. Denmead.

EASTMAN IS RELEASED

Young Man Who Robbed Lee & Benedict, His Employers, Discharged Under Conditions.

Signs His Own Bail Bonds and is to Report at Subsequent Terms of Court.

Northwestern Brings a Suit Against T. A. Cagwin and Wife—Loughrey Case Still On.

There will be one happy mother in the city tonight, in the person of Mrs. Mary E. Eastman, of 608 West Church street, whose son, Jay Eastman, aged 15, was this afternoon taken from jail and ordered released by Judge Caswell.

Eastman is the boy who, on June 3 last, while in the employ of Lee & Benedict, of this city, stole $55 in silver and bills, and $15 in checks, from the firm when he was sent to bank the amount. His disappearance from home on the following night led to the disclosure that the money had not been placed in the bank, and his arrest, in Chicago, followed a day or two later. The young man has been in jail since and his trial was to have occurred at this term of court. He had no hopes of anything short of a reform school sentence, and much less a term in the penitentiary, but a conference of Judge Caswell, County Attorney Stone, the young man's lawyer and Mr. Frank Benedict resulted in another course being pursued. At 2 o'clock this afternoon Eastman was brought before Judge Caswell, who explained the situation to him and told him that it was to be placed upon the signing of his own bail bonds, and that he was to report at the next term of court upon what he was doing, how he had behaved himself, etc. This was to be kept up at each term of court until it should be deemed advisable to discharge him, and that that would be done just as soon as the court became satisfied that he was going to be a good and honest man.

The boy was overwhelmed at his good fortune, which came as a great surprise, and he could hardly find words to thank the judge. He remained in court only a short time, or until he had signed his bond.

The Loughrey-Great Western case has occupied all of the day's session, making the fifth day that has been consumed in the case.

The Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company filed a petition this afternoon in the county court in which T. A. and Phoebe M. Cagwin, of LeGrand township, are made defendants. The case is the outgrowth of the recent case disposed of at the present term of court, in which Cagwin sued the company for his interest in a parcel of land that the company bought of A. D. Hannegan and which was an undivided farm in LeGrand township, and the company bought a strip for right-of-way purposes from Hannegan, without the consent of Cagwin. The railroad company now demands a judgment confirming the shares of the parties to this suit, and that a partition thereof be made. If an equitable division can not be made the plaintiff asks that a sale of the premises be ordered, and a division of the proceeds be made as by law provided.

MRS. BOND'S CONCERT TONIGHT.

At the Presbyterian Church—A Delightful Program.

Mrs. Carrie Jacobs-Bond, the famous composer of Chicago, who has been happily termed "the Eugene Field of songs," will give her first public recital in Marshalltown at the Presbyterian church tonight. All of her numbers will be her own compositions and will include the following new ones:

"When Do I Want You Most," "Old Songs," "When to Build Your Castle," "The Little Shoe," "Have You Seen My Kitten?" "The Naughty Little Girl," "A Bad Dream," "The Bird Song" (Lullaby), "Going to Church With Mother" and the "Death Song," together with "The Chimney Swallows" (instrumental), and "Come, Mr. Willing." There is an orchestra which will play an overture and Mr. Bar-borka, the violinist, will play two solos. This concert will be one of the most delightful musical events of the season.

WONDERFUL CURE OF DIARRHŒA

A Well Known Virginia Editor Had Almost Given Up, But Was Brought Back to Perfect Health by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy—Read His Editorial.

From the Times, Hillside, Va.: I suffered with diarrhœa for a long time and thought I was past being cured. I had spent much time and money and suffered so much misery that I had almost decided to give up all hopes of recovery and await the result, but noting the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy and also some testimonials stating how some wonderful cures had been wrought by this remedy I decided to try it. After taking a few doses I was entirely well of that trouble, and I wish to say further to my readers and fellow sufferers that I am a hale and hearty man today and feel as well as I ever did in my life.—O. R. Moore. This remedy is for sale by druggists.
