AN EXTREME TRUST.

The publication in full of the president's message in today's issue of the Times-Republican presents a forcible illustration of the extreme confidence and trust placed in that mighty news-gathering association known as the Associated Press.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

President McKinley sent to the American congress today a message that will take its place among the important state papers of our nation as one of the most notable documents in American history.

The four years of McKinley have seen the nation's business condition raised from the dismal depths of depression, financial panic and industrial stagnation into the light of the most glorious prosperity the country has ever known.

As to Cuba the president is definite in his statement that the island should be helped on to ultimate independence.

In discussing the prosperous condition of our country the president takes up the monetary situation and repeats his recommendation for a change that will put an end to the evils of the greenback currency.

The various foreign relations experienced by our government and the diplomatic achievements obtained are explained and commented upon carefully and systematically.

The Traer Star-Clipper notices that a minister's wife over at Green Mountain has sued for a divorce because her husband kissed the hired girl.

A NEW COMMONWEALTH.

It has been known for some time that Australia has lately been moving toward an independent government.

It is now reasonably certain that the last year of the century will see the political birth of another new Anglo-Saxon nation in the Pacific.

As every person uses towels in their office and business houses, it will furnish clean towels every week in any number wanted.

Queensland will have decided, by referendum vote, that they also will join as partners in the new Australian Commonwealth; and it is possible, though at present less probable, that West Australia will do likewise.

It is scarcely an exaggeration to say that the close of the century will witness no more important political event than that of the establishment of the new federation.

For the relief of the distressed in the island of Cuba the war department has issued supplies to destitute persons through the officers of the army.

All the manufacturers represented in the Fall River association have decided to grant an increase in wages of 10 per cent.

The Corning Gazette declares that there is no more necessity for a state printer and binder in Iowa than there is for state shoemaker.

Commenting on the fact that Dubuque has more saloons than any other county in Iowa, the Manchester Press says: "They cost her more money in poverty, debauchery and crime than any other, too."

The Davenport Democrat, "have arranged with the silver democrats and the silver populists to give a three-ring performance next year. The program will fall to draw the crowd."

The Ottumwa Courier notices that a one-rail electric road is proposed to cover the forty miles between Liverpool and Manchester in twenty minutes.

experience thus acquired will prove of great value in the formation of a representative convention of the people to draft a constitution and establish a general system of independent government for the island.

RELIEF FOR DISTRESSED. For the relief of the distressed in the island of Cuba the war department has issued supplies to destitute persons through the officers of the army.

To promote the disarmament of the Cuban volunteer army and in the interest of public peace and the welfare of the people, the sum of $25,000 was paid to each Cuban soldier before upon the authenticated rolls, on condition that he should deposit his arms with the authorities designated by the United States.

THE NEW REGIME. Following the exchange of ratifications of the treaty of peace, the two governments designated ministers to each other.

My last annual message the progress noted in the work of the diplomatic and consular officers in collecting information as to the industries and commerce of other countries.

Bureau of Republics. The interest taken by the various states forming the international union of American republics in the work of its organic bureau is evidenced by the fact that for the first time since its creation in 1890, all the republics of South and Central America are now represented in it.

INDemnITY. I would recommend appropriate legislation in order to secure the ratification of the treaty of peace with Spain, by which the United States assumed the payment of certain claims for indemnity of its citizens against Spain.

In accordance with an act of congress, approved Dec. 21, 1898, and under the auspices of the Philadelphia Commercial Museum, a most interesting and valuable exposition of products and manufactures especially adapted to export trade, was held in Philadelphia from the 14th of September to the 1st of December, 1899.

TRADE IN TURKEY. The arbitrary treatment, in some instances, of American productions in Turkey has attracted attention of late, notably in regard to our flour.

Peace Conference. In response to the invitation of his majesty, the emperor of Russia, delegates from twenty-six countries were assembled at The Hague on the 18th of May, as members of a conference in the interest of peace.

THE RESULTS. The final act of the conference includes provisions for the amelioration of the laws and customs of war on land, the adaptation to maritime warfare of the principles of the Geneva convention of 1864, and the extension of judicial methods to international cases. The convention for the pacific settlement of international conflicts embodies the leading features of the American plan, with such modifications as were rendered necessary by the great diversity of views and interests represented by the delegates.

Commercial Treaties.

The fourth section of the tariff act approved July 24, 1897, appears to provide only for commercial treaties which should be entered into by the president and also ratified by the senate within two years from its passage.

IMPANNELED RECIPROCAL CONVENTIONS. The reciprocal conventions have also been concluded with France and with the Argentine Republic.
