Outside furriers keep coming to Marshalltown to stay a few days and among other things to take orders for repairing and remaking. After the work is done many of the garments are brought to me to be made right, after the outside furrier has almost ruined the garment. Why not bring the work direct to me and have it done right, as guaranteed, and thus save paying two prices for the same.

THE DEFENSE'S WINNING

Testimony in the Moore-Goodrich Suit in Progress in Mr. Goodrich's Behalf.

Witness Allison Refuses to Answer Questions Pertaining to His Personal Affairs.

Mr. Goodrich on the Stand Most of the Day—Case Will Occupy All Week.

Judge Burnham has a difficult task in following the mass of evidence and weighing the value of the same in the somewhat famous Moore-Goodrich suit over the estate of the late W. L. Smith. The case is dragging somewhat, and it will probably consume the balance of the week.

Plaintiff's direct evidence was concluded Wednesday afternoon last, and Attorney James Allison, of State Center, who was one of Mr. Smith's legal advisers and was familiar with his business affairs, was placed on the stand to testify in Mr. Goodrich's behalf. On cross-examination Mr. Allison was questioned in relation to the ownership of nearly $12,000 he had in a safe in State Center, and in regard to the return he made to the assessor in the year 1897. Mr. Allison refused to answer some of the questions in regard to his personal accounts, and Judge Burnham did not compel him to do so.

Mr. Allison was on the stand again this morning and was followed by Mr. Goodrich, who brought with him a stack full of books and papers. He was on the stand the balance of the day and was able to answer readily all the questions propounded by his attorneys and to give an explanation to the various business transactions in handling some of the mortgage and money of his father-in-law's estate.

Mr. Goodrich was examined at length regarding the Peter Cooper transaction and how it was handled, and testified practically the same as he did on the former examination when the case was in court.

Unless the cross examination of Mr. Goodrich and other witnesses develops something more than has yet been brought to light, it is the opinion of some of the disinterested attorneys who have been following the case that Mr. Goodrich has the best of it.

FINDINGS ARE SECRET.

G. A. R. State Committee Inspects the Soldiers' Home. Several members of the Grand Army committee selected by the state encampment to inspect and report on the condition and management of the Soldiers' Home have been in the city, and departed Wednesday for their homes. The members present were H. M. Pickel, of Des Moines; L. B. Raymond, of Hampton; and Phil Schaller, of Schaller. Adjt. Gen. Black, of the Grand Army, was in the city with the members of the committee. It is understood the committee agreed upon its report, but no facts in regard to it were given out, the committee having decided to maintain secrecy until the report is in the hands of Commander Bailey, the head of the Iowa department of the G. A. R. Mr. Bailey will probably issue the report in circular form. Sensational claims have been made that the committee would recommend that the Home be taken out of the hands of the board of control, but whether this was done and what effect it would have on the legislature are matters of doubt. It was given out that the committee found the Home in fine condition and complimented Commandant Horton and his officers on their successful administration.

ON THE OLYMPIA.

Lieut. Ed Beeson Writes of Trip to Manila—Mailed at Honolulu.

Lieut. Ed Beeson, assistant surgeon of the Thirty-ninth United States Volunteers, son of Quartermaster and Mrs. B. A. Beeson, of the Soldiers' Home, has written to his parents of his trip on the Pacific aboard the transport Olympia. According to the calculations when the letter was written, Nov. 14, Lieut. Beeson would be in Manila at the present time, or was due to arrive there today. He writes of his trip as follows: "On Board the Olympia, Nov. 14, 1899.

Dear Ones at Home: We steamed out of the mouth of the Columbia river Sunday morning the 5th and after three hours' sailing we struck rough weather, which continued to get rougher as we went along. The waves kept running higher and higher and the wind blowing harder and harder. At first I enjoyed it hugely. We were all sitting up on deck and one by one they got up and made for the stern. As one would get up the rest of us would laugh and make remarks such as, "Weich, don't leave us." "Where are you going now?" "Come back, Stimson," etc. etc. It was easy to tell where they were going. I sat there a long while checking to myself that I wouldn't get sick, but I thought that only two left that I was a very good sailor. I will never brag again about my abilities as a sailor. When it did take me it came all at once and I didn't have time to go anywhere, but just made a rush for the railing and "holloed" New York! Well, I threw up everything there was in me and more, too. Finally I got to my state room and was content to stay there. I knew when I had enough. For three days and nights this was the sickest crowd I ever saw.

"The first two days it was so rough that it was not safe to be on deck, so the waves washed over it so strongly that it would carry a man overboard. The poor men down in the hold could not get out. Their bunks are built in tiers of three, one over the other. Those lying in the lower berths had to take what came from above. They were washed into our state rooms and my trunk and dress suit case floated around like a cork in a tub of water. At the end of three days I got over my sickness, but the rough weather continued for three days more.

"The end of the third day I procured a quart of champagne and drank the whole of it. It was the first thing I could get that would stay down. But it is all over and we are having fine weather and a smooth sea, and everything has dried off. It is warm. The officers all have on their khaki uniforms. The sailors are in white. We will stay three or four days and then twenty-three days more on water. Have not seen land since the 5th.

"Honolulu, Nov. 17.—This is without doubt the most delightful place in the world. We leave in an hour and I am feasting on scenery.

"I hope you may all see Honolulu sometime. Good-bye. Love to all. "ED."

M. M. Garvey Quits the Position Assumed by Him a Few Days Ago.

Mr. M. M. Garvey, who resigned his position as deputy sheriff the 1st of the month to accept the management of the A. Berry saloon on North First avenue, has quit the latter position. He found the position unsatisfactory and that as manager he was not able to conduct the business in a manner suitable to both himself and the owners. He is undecided as to his future plans.

ANOTHER EXPANSION.

It will be of interest to readers who use McElree's Wine of Cardui in their homes to know that the sale of this remedy has so increased during the past year that the manufacturers have again had to increase their capacity by the addition of another large building. It has often been said that an article that finds favor with the ladies is sure to achieve great success. No more striking example of this could be found than the history of Wine of Cardui. From thousands of ladies' letters received by the manufacturers the following are selected:

From Mrs. Mary Pankowski, 33 Rose street, Chicago, Ill.:

"I have taken a bottle of Wine of Cardui and feel no better than when I wrote you. I did not have any pains at my last monthly period."

From Mrs. M. A. Thompson, Kalama-zoo, Mich.:

"I suffered from what was supposed to be tumor of the womb, but I have taken five bottles of Wine of Cardui and am almost cured."

From Mrs. J. L. Todd, Staley, S. C.:

"I do not think I would have been living if I had not taken Wine of Cardui. We desired a child very much, and I now have a baby 7 months old."

From Mrs. W. S. Harris, 715 Walker street, Kansas City, Kas.:

"I have tried Wine of Cardui and found it to be the greatest medicine on earth for female troubles."

TRY GRAIN-O! TRY GRAIN-O!

"Ask your grocer today to show you a package of Grain-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it like it. Grain-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. One-quarter the price of coffee, 15 and 25 cents per package. Sold by all grocers.

Father and Son Learn of Each Other's Whereabouts After Forty Years.

A Veteran of the Soldiers' Home Hears from His Aged Father, Whom He Supposed Dead.

State G. A. R. Committee Visits the Home, but Its Recommendations Kept Secret.

Veteran William Mann, of the Soldiers' Home, received this week a letter from his father, William Mann, Sr., of Camden Town, London, from whom he had had no tidings for forty years. Mr. Mann endeavored for years to ascertain the whereabouts of his father and sisters, although he had long given up his parent as dead. He advertised in the columns of the T-R several months ago, but no word was received from this country. Accordingly he wrote in a London journal, "Lloyd's" Newspaper, inserting an advertisement asking as to the whereabouts of his sisters, Emma and Mary Ann. As an answer he received a letter from his aged father, an old English carpenter, now in his 80s. The letter informs him that his sister Emma died fourteen years ago at Lenington and that Mary Ann, he thinks, must be dead, as he had had no word from her for six or seven years.

Veteran Mann never dreamed of gaining any tidings from his father, for he himself is 60 years of age and he had no hopes that his father was alive. It has been forty years since he has seen him, the last time being when he left England for Canada. He was in Canada during the progress of the civil war and went to Detroit, where he enlisted in Company H, of the Nineteenth United States volunteer infantry, on December 13, 1864. He served three years to a day and was discharged at Fort Smith, Ark. He has been a member of the Soldiers' Home since 1892.

It is to be largely patriotic and the leading address will be made by Secretary Van Houten, of the State Agricultural Society.

MATRON AND MAID.

Sarah Cohen, an aged Jewish of New York, makes a comfortable living matching buttons for society women.

The Duchess of Devonshire, the Marchioness of Londonderry and the Countess of Cadogan seldom miss a great tea party.

The oldest daughter of Charles Kingsley, Miss Rose Kingsley, has been made an officer de l'instruction publique by the French government.

Mrs. Aubrey Richardson has written a book entitled "Famous Ladies of the English Court" that is creating some interest in London society. She does not spare some of the ladies.

Mrs. Melba says that the truest compliment she ever received was from a little boy in the west, who blushing remarked, "You can sing better than my pop-say when she has her fingers."

Miss Alice Swisher has been admitted to the bar of the federal court in New York. She is the first woman granted that privilege and was the first Russian woman to practice law in America.

For the third time Mrs. Sarah Storey has been elected supreme chief of the order of Good Templars of the Forest at the recent convention at Providence. She was the first woman to be appointed supreme state deputy.

Miss Garrison, superintendent of the English army nursing service, accompanied by seven sisters, who were also nurses, were the first regular nurses to arrive at the seat of war in South Africa.

The late Mrs. Mary Brunot of Pittsburgh, widow of Felix Brunot, bequeathed the bulk of her estate, valued at $110,000, to religious and charitable organizations, the religious beneficiaries being mainly Protestant Episcopal.

Mrs. Ellen M. Honora, the president of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, speaks fluently French, Spanish, Italian and German. Of all of these tongues she is said to be such a mistress as not to speak them with any trace of foreign accent.

Mrs. Alicia de Reyna-Barrios, widow of President Barrios of Guatemala, is about to go on the stage as an actress. She must now own her own living, as the $100,000,000 estate left by her husband was seized by creditors when the president was assassinated in a revolutionary riot.

CURIOS CULLINGS.

The Ainu women in Japan tattoo their faces to give them the appearance of men with whiskers.

The Islanders will not burn ash for firewood, because they believe that those who sit about such a fire will become enemies.

A reticent person's epitaph is to be seen on a tombstone in the graveyard at Stone, N. H. It runs thus: "I was so bashful—no one is no business of yours." There is not another word or even letter on the stone.

In Germany, as in many other European countries, there is a rule that no more people shall ride on street cars than can find seats. Consequently if a car is full, if a woman gets on and if a man gives the woman his seat, the man is ejected.

SLUGGISH INTELLECT

Caused by Coffee. "Careful inquiry in the school room developed the fact that those children who are habitually given coffee to drink have shallow complexion, are nervous, more or less irritable and very sluggish, intellect or an over-wrought and abnormal imagination, results of extreme nervousness. My own experience with coffee drinking kept me afflicted for some years with severe and constant headaches, with extreme nervousness at times."

It was compelled to abandon coffee altogether and was quickly relieved of the headaches and other troubles. I was fortunate enough to secure a package of Postum Food Coffee, but my first attempt at making it was a failure. After another trial and following directions which are very easy, by the way I secured a delicious drink, far superior in my mind to coffee. I have continued to use it from the start and my improvement has been steady with no ill effects at all."

The above was written by a school teacher, Miss E. Barnard of Oxford, Kas.

It is an easy matter to leave off the coffee habit, if Postum Cereal Food Coffee is used in its place, particularly when attention is given to its proper preparation. The whole secret of the preparation is in allowing the Food Coffee to boil long enough to bring out the taste and food value.

All first-class grocers sell Postum.

Shapely Married Women Mother's Friend. Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish form after marriage. The bearing of children is very destructive to the mother's shapeliness. This can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend. Mother's Friend also alleviates all the danger of child-birth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing, and thousands gratefully tell of its great good it has done them. Sold by all druggists at 25-50 cent bottles. Our little book, telling all about this great remedy, will be sent free to any address by THE BRADFORD REGULATORY COMPANY, Atlanta, Georgia.
