ADVANCE IN WHEAT

Prices Half a Cent Higher Today Notwithstanding the News Was Bearish.

Offset to the News Was Good Cash Demand and Heavy Sales

Corn Market Strong and Receipts Light—Cattle Lower and Hogs 10c Higher.

The following market letter is furnished the Times-Republican by Martin & Slack, members of the Chicago Board of Trade, from their local office, over 22 East Main, thru A. J. Clark, local manager.

Special to Times-Republican. Chicago, Nov. 12.—Wheat—Notwithstanding statistically bearish news the wheat market has shown a good undertone and closes at 1/2 cent advance. The influences against the price early were world's shipments of over 9,000,000 bushels, an increase of one passage of over 1,000,000 bushels and a visible increase of 671,000 bushels. The offset to this was a good cash demand, with sales of 336,000 bushels reported from here and twenty loads for export. Clearances, 680,000 bushels. An Argentine bullish condition was reflected by an advance of 2 1/2 frames a bushel at Antwerp. There was some increase in outside interest this morning. Although grain is still dull, the large buying sentiment which has been so pronounced in stocks has not as yet turned its attention to grain, but has its own market in good position to respond.

THE GAME REVIEWED

Ralph Hoagland's Comment on the Iowa-Michigan Foot Ball Contest.

Score of 28 to 5 Represents Relative Strength of the Opposing Teams.

Iowa and Minnesota Not Likely to Play for the Western Championship.

Detroit, Nov. 12.—Ralph Hoagland, Special to Chicago Tribune: The old gold of Iowa waved triumphant over the maize and blue of Michigan.

The score of 28 to 5, while it represented the relative strength of the two teams, reflects discredit on Michigan. The Wolverines may have played better foot ball in the past, but Iowa was unquestionably the stronger. The interference used by the Iowa team did not consist, as everybody supposed it would, in the much discussed guards back play of Pennsylvania, but was a product of Dr. Knipe's recent coaching. Michigan was undoubtedly more prepared to meet the guards back formation after its second trial, the brilliant generalship of Williams, quarterback and acting captain of the Iowa team, came into play. He began to diversify his playing to such an extent that even the shrewd Michigan forwards were completely taken off their guard.

GEN. HOWARD HONORED

Distinguished Guests at a Dinner in New York.

New York, Nov. 10.—The public dinner given last night in the ball room of the Waldorf-Astoria to Gen. O. O. Howard, in honor of his 70th birthday, was attended by 300 men prominent in business and professional life. Chauncey M. Depew presided and on the right sat Gen. Howard. To the left, Gen. J. R. Brooke was seated. Others at the guest's table were Governor E. C. Smith, George P. McLean, Thomas A. Reed, Gen. H. M. Burnett, the Rev. J. D. Burrell, Gen. Benjamin F. Tracy, Russell A. Alger, Gen. G. M. Dodge, Admiral A. S. Barker, Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, Rev. J. H. Barrows, Capt. A. T. Mahan, Comte de Sahucne de la Fayette, Gen. McCook, Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, Gen. W. D. Whipple, Booker T. Washington and W. T. Gaines.

One of the features of the dinner was the presentation to Gen. Howard of a handsomely bound and decorated album. It contained a handsome portrait of Gen. Howard, as well as a brief biography of him. It also contained a testimonial from a number of educational institutions and private individuals, including President McKinley and ex-President Benjamin Harrison.

The speakers of the evening were Mr. Reed, Capt. Mahan, Gen. Dodge, Booker T. Washington, Comte de la Fayette, Rev. John H. Barrows, Bishop Gaines of Georgia, Gen. Daniel E. Sickles and Gen. Wagner Swayer.

When the speaking began, Senator Depew praised the bravery of Gen. Howard during the war and spoke of the services he had rendered the country during his life. Then he said: "Now, gentlemen, let us drink the health of Gen. Howard. Let us congratulate him on having reached the age of three score and ten. He looks as young, as vigorous and as handsome as he did many years ago when I first saw him in a cadet uniform at my old homestead in Peekskill."

The dinner arose and drank the health of Gen. Howard and then gave him three cheers. Senator Depew then introduced ex-Speaker Thomas B. Reed. Mr. Reed said: "I haven't come here to praise Gen. Howard, but to honor him. He does not need my praise. He hardly needs my honor. He has won it all by himself, from the state of Maine. He started off equally well by being graduated at Bowdoin College, than where no better class of citizens come."

Mr. Reed then spoke of Gen. Howard as a soldier and a citizen, and complimented his brief remarks by saying: "Now we can praise him, not only because of the uniform he has worn so long, but because of the lofty life he has led as a citizen in times of peace."

Capt. A. T. Mahan was then introduced as the son of an old teacher of Gen. Howard. He spoke briefly and referred mainly to the deeds on the part of Gen. Howard on the battlefield. Gen. Grenville M. Dodge, president of the Society of the Army of the Tennessee, which Gen. Howard was commander, spoke of Gen. Howard as a soldier and told of having recommended him to succeed to the command made vacant by the death of Gen. McPherson. He referred to the Army of the Tennessee as the most successful army of the civil war. He spoke of the action of Gen. Howard in giving the credit of all the victories of that army to the work of the army.

Booker T. Washington, president of the Tuskegee Institute, was next introduced, and he said that he had the distinction of belonging to a race so important that it came to this country under extreme pressure; that it formed a part of the commercial prosperity of the nation in its early days. The unfortunate white man, he said, came to this country much against the protest of its leading citizens in 1492.

"We were a part of the commercial prosperity of the country," he said. "We had to be sent for. There was not one of us but what was worth from $500 to $1,000 when we came here. And the poor white man was not worth 50 cents. Even such men as our distinguished and illustrious chairman would not have brought 50 cents at that time."

The Georgia department of entomology burned 30,000 trees from a Nashville nursery, which, it is alleged, were infected with the San Jose scale. State Entomologist Scott left for Woodbury to destroy 20,000 more trees which he has collected there. The trees, it is said, have been shipped into the state without the proper certificate.

Bad Coughs

If you have taken just a little cold, perhaps vinegar and molasses or a little honey will stop your little cough. Even then there's a "perhaps" about it. Better get Ayer's Cherry Pectoral while you are about it. It cures the easy ones, and the hardest of the hard ones, too. There is nothing so bad for a cough as coughing.
