CROWNING THE POPE

Details of the Coronation Ceremonies to Be Performed at St. Peter's Sunday

TIARA TAKES PLACE OF MITRE

Ancient Rites Observed Since the Fourteenth Century, Will Be Performed—Bells of 500 Churches in Rome Ring This Morning in Honor of Election of Pius X.

Rome, Aug. 6.—The coronation ceremonies will be performed at St. Peter's on Sunday morning, according to a rite dating from the latter part of the fourteenth century. As the pope enters the church the clerk of the papal chapel holds up before him a red surmounted by a handful of wax. This is lighted and it flashes up for a moment and then dies out at once as the clerk chants "Holy Father, thus passeth away the world's glory." This is done three times. Mass is then begun as usual, but before incensation of the altar, "blessing of the pontiff elect," is pronounced by three cardinal bishops, each of whom recites a prayer over him. After the collects come the so-called laudes, that is, three-fold supplication to God for the welfare of the new pope.

The coronation itself, takes place after mass in the balcony over the portico of St. Peter's, looking over the great piazza. The second cardinal deacon takes off the mitre, which until now the pope has worn, and the senior cardinal deacon (Macchia) places the tiara on his head and all the people cry out "Kyrie Eleison." The pope then kneels on his knees and the coronation day, although of course he is pope from the day of his election.

Bells Ring for Pius X. Rome, Aug. 6.—During a full hour this morning the bells of Rome were vibrating with the sound of the coronation day. The bells of the 500 churches, which were all ringing together, absorbed all other noises. The ringing was in honor of the election of Pius X.

All the churches contemporaneously celebrated masses for the event. The bells involuntarily served another purpose, that of ringing in the coronation of the pontiff. The ceremony of the coronation, which is a kind of coronation, then formed a procession to the hall of the throne, where the members of the diplomatic body gathered. Senior Quix Antas, Portuguese ambassador, dean of the college, presenting their homage to the new pope and assuring him of their fidelity. Pius X. answered with great cordiality, thanking them heartily for their goodness.

Secretary to the Pope. Rome, Aug. 6.—Pius X. has appointed his private secretary, Monsignor Bressan, as his private chaplain, which means he will also be the pontiff's chief private secretary.

Rome, Aug. 6.—Count Mucelli, of the noble guard, who was cardinal's attendant during the conclave and who has an American wife, availing himself of the privilege to ask the new pope for a favor, has implored Pius X. to reinstate his comrade of the noble guard, Count de Marquis, who had been suspended for having given an afternoon tea inside the Vatican to several ladies of the Quirinal Society, including Mrs. Meyer, wife of the American ambassador.

NEURO EDITORS ADDRESS POPE

Appeal to the New Pontiff to Give Attention to Lynch Problem. Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 6.—The Negro Editors' Association yesterday adopted resolutions appealing to Pope Pius X. to intercede in the color problem of the United States. The resolution recites the fact that there are "hundreds of thousands of negroes who are afflicted with the Roman Catholic church, and as the Protestant church, the ruling power of this country, has persistently refused to take any action looking to a stopping of indiscriminate lynching, the Negro Editors' Association, as the petitioners state they have confidence in the influence of the new pope as a man of the masses to gain the confidence of the people in this country. They also ask the pope to instruct the Roman Catholics, who form a majority of the labor unions in America," to use their influence to gain the admission of negroes to a full brotherhood in the industrial army.

WILL CHANGE FREIGHTS

Iowa Railroad Commission Will Reclassify Freight and Change Tariffs

SHIPPERS SHOULD WATCH OUT

A Complete Revision of the Classification of Freight to be Undertaken Soon by the Iowa Railroad Commission—Can Towns Enforce Their Itinerant's License Ordinances?

Des Moines, Aug. 6.—In a very short time the Iowa Railroad commissioners will enter upon the revision of the entire Iowa classification of freight. There is a demand on the part of both shippers and railroad men that there be many changes made. The Western Traffic association makes a new western classification on an average twice each year, but it has been the custom of the Iowa railroad commission to only issue bulletins showing changes from time to time. When the last general revision was made about a year ago the classification had stood for four or five years with the changes announced on the bulletins. This made the Iowa classification hard to follow even by those who were expert at it. The new classification contained many changes from the one issued previously, but these were mainly the revisions that had been effected from time to time. A few weeks ago it was issued the commissioners made a large number of changes on a public hearing. Another public hearing is to be held soon and this is likely to result in making a general revision as there is demand for it all around. The classification of freight is the one on which all local business is done. Rates are not based upon it where the freight crosses a state line, but in such cases the Western classification, issued by the traffic association, governs. The two have been kept pretty nearly alike on most articles of commerce. The Iowa classification requires lower rates on a great many articles than are carried in the state, but it is regarded as significant that despite this fact there has been a steady increase of profits on this business.
