

IT IS FOR LADIES, TOO. They Can Stop Their Hair Falling Out With Herpicide.

Ladies who have thin hair and whose hair is falling out can prevent the hair from falling out, and thicken the growth, with Newbro's Herpicide. Besides, Herpicide is one of the most agreeable hair dressings there is. Herpicide kills the dandruff germ that eats the hair out of the root. After the germ is destroyed, the root will shoot up, and the hair grow long as ever. Even a sample will convince any lady that Newbro's Herpicide is an indispensable toilet requisite. It contains no oil or grease, it will not stain or dye. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

SPINNEY WINS OUT

Iowa Member of Bankers' Union of the World, Is Elected Its President

STORMY SESSION AT OMAHA

Altho Injunctions Were Served On Spinney and Several of His Associates, the Former Succeeded in Being Elected President—Is Well Known in Des Moines, Iowa.

Omaha, May 12.—The annual meeting of the supreme council of the Bankers' Union of the World developed into a stormy session, during which the police were called to restore order and the sheriff served an injunction on Dr. E. C. Spinney, restraining him from transacting business.

After the reading of the report of President Spinney, Supreme Banker Swartz secured the floor, denouncing Spinney and his method of conducting the business of the order. A number of delegates declared that Swartz was out of order. Dr. Spinney, who presided, called on the police to eject Swartz, but Swartz sat down and avoided the trouble.

At this juncture, and just as Chairman Spinney called for nominations for president, Sheriff Power appeared and served an injunction on Spinney and a number of his associates, who were restrained from taking further action in the election of officers and from the voting of proxies.

Dr. Spinney at once appointed Ezra Howard chairman and retired to see with the delegates. Howard continued the session, proceeding at once with the election. It resulted:

President—E. C. Spinney, Omaha. Vice President—A. W. Field, Lincoln.

Secretary—E. H. Drake, Lucerne, Minn. Banker—Ezra Howard, Edgar, Neb. Physician—D. Fensch, Omaha.

Correspondent—Miss M. Murdock, Omaha. Guard—Dr. A. M. Laird, Kansas City. Sentinel—A. S. Avill, Gren Carbou, Ill.

Attorneys have been retained by the Swartz faction, who declare they will fight the matter out in the courts. The injunction against Spinney will come up for hearing on Thursday.

Des Moines, May 12.—Dr. E. C. Spinney is well known in Des Moines, where he was engaged in the insurance business for years. His family recently moved to Des Moines from Omaha and are now residing in their old home on West Tenth street.

Dr. Spinney expected to move the headquarters of the Bankers' Union of the World to Des Moines last fall, but owing to a hitch with the Nebraska authorities and the objections of Auditor B. F. Carroll did not do so.

The affairs of the company have been in litigation for some time and are now being represented by the guardian of a receiver appointed by the district court.

Dr. Spinney has been connected with fraternal insurance companies for a number of years and prior to that time was the representative for several general old line insurance companies. He gained considerable notoriety a few years ago when he absorbed the Ancient Order of the Red Cross, a fraternal society founded at Waverly by A. H. Pomeroy, the eminent politician, who took his own life in his room in the Kirkwood a few years ago.

DOMESTIC TRADE MOVEMENTS.

Department of Commerce and Labor Presents Some Interesting Statistics.

Washington, May 12.—Domestic trade movements for the first quarter of the current year, as reported to the department of commerce and labor through its bureau of statistics, make favorable comparison with preceding years on the subject of live stock receipts at western markets and lumber movements in the south and on the Pacific coast. In all branches of trade dependence on river and lake navigation there was a much lighter movement than in 1903, owing to the later opening of the season of navigation.

Live stock receipts at five markets to the end of March, amounted to $8,444,713 in 1903, compared with 7,603,961 head in 1903 and 8,031,098 head in 1902. The strength of the feeder movement, including those shipped and driven to the country, at Kansas City and St. Joseph combined was materially greater than in either 1902 or 1903. Among special movements the sheep trade at Omaha has made exceptional progress in contrast with former seasons. Shipments of horses at St. Louis reflect the extraordinary increase of demand, attributed mainly to the expansion of the farming area, which naturally results from continued high prices of such products as grain and cotton.

Receipts of wheat at eight primary markets for the crop years to the end of March totaled 195,499,127 bushels thus far this year, in contrast with 213,378,934 bushels last year and 197,513,925 bushels for the preceding year. Totals reported from eleven primary markets for the crop years to the end of March are 199,028,997 bushels for the first quarter of 1904. Last year the corresponding total was 159,937,712 bushels. Lateness in the opening of this navigation on the lakes is responsible for the lighter tonnage for the first three months of this year. The total freight receipts were 502,017 net tons, compared with 510,968 tons in 1903, and 614,818 tons in 1902. The month of March closed with only indications of early opening by way of either the Straits of Mackinaw or the Saint Marie canals. Navigation between Sandusky and Kelley's Island in Lake Erie was conducted during practically the whole of March, and some of the lake pulp lines have opened for navigation. Besides lateness of season, the absence of a definite understanding between vessel owners and shippers on the lakes has deferred preparations for the opening of navigation.

At the Atlantic Gulf and Pacific seaboard, nine primary seaports of the United States give the quarter's receipts of grain as 65,412,298 bushels, including flour reduced to bushels. A year ago the corresponding total was 57,009,681 bushels, or a decrease of 8,157,383 bushels, equalling 32.6 per cent. At Gulf ports receipts fell off during March, attributable in part to the continued demand of northwestern milling interests.

PENALTY FOR NEGLECTING FIRE.

South Dakota Farmer Allows Blaze to Get Beyond Control.

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 12.—Carl Heckel, a well-known Davison county farmer, permitted a grass fire to get beyond his control. He was arrested and found guilty, and in addition to being fined $500 has been made the defendant in a suit instituted by a neighbor who asks damages in the sum of $2,500 for property destroyed by the fire. Heckel, in default of the payment was sentenced to a term of 250 days in jail. He at first intended to escape the payment of the fine by serving the jail sentence, but has now decided to pay the fine and secure his release.

Boston, Mass., May 12.—Putting baby to sleep in a box on top of the roof of a modern skyscraping apartment house, or in an iron balcony far above the sidewalk, or even in the broad window seat of an upper story is the newest method of fresh air training which is developing among the wealthy and aristocratic families of Back Bay and Brookline.

The treatment became so popular that along almost any street in the exclusive section of the city one may look up to the upper stories of houses, and outside the window is a box which would be taken for a window garden. And so it is, but it is a garden for the little bud of our family.

The method, begun when the baby is not more than 2 or 3 months old, may be continued until the child is 5 or 6 years old, or as long as the custom of having a daily nap is kept up. It is not devised especially for sickly children, but for the strong as well. Advocates of the method point out several advantages. For the child there is fresh air instead of the vitiated air of the house. This in itself conduces to sound sleep and good nature. It has the advantage over a carriage ride in that it avoids the noise and dust from the street as well as contact with other children, where is always present the possibility of contracting children's diseases.

For the mother or nurse it means a saving of several hours every day during the life of the baby, for while the little one still gets air, the mother or nurse is spared the long and often laborious work of pushing the carriage up and down the street, and they have time for other pressing household duties or for recreation.

During the last winter, notwithstanding the severity of the cold, there were few days when babies were not placed in their accustomed sleeping places on the window sill or on the roof.

Most mothers or nurses wrap up the baby just about as an Indian squaw wraps up her papoose. Then it is laid on a hair mattress in a box or basket, strapped securely to the box, and covered with blankets. Above the bed is spread an awning shielding it both from the wind and direct rays of the sun.

An Open Letter. From the Chapin, S. C. News: Early in the spring my wife and I were taken with diarrhoea and so severe were the pains that we called a physician who prescribed for us, but his medicines failed to give any relief. A friend who had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand gave each of us a dose and we at once felt the effects. I procured a bottle and before using the entire contents were entirely cured. It is a wonderful remedy and should be found in every household. H. C. Bailey, editor. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

CHAPTER XIII.

THE appearance of this witness had undergone a change since she last stood before us. She was shamed and still, but her manner showed resolve and a feverish determination to face the situation which confronted her. In the breasts of those who had Mr. Jeffrey's honor and personal welfare at heart a nameless dread, as if they already foresaw the dark shadow which minute by minute was slowly sinking over a household which up to a week ago had been the envy and admiration of all Washington society.

The first answer she made revealed both the cause of her shame and the reason for her firmness. She was in response to the question whether she had seen Miss Tuttle before she went out on the walk she was said to have taken immediately after Mrs. Jeffrey's final departure from the house.

Her words were these: "I did, sir. I do not think Miss Tuttle knows it, but I saw her in Mrs. Jeffrey's room. I am not especially proud of what I did that night, but I was led into it by degrees, and I am sure I beg the lady's pardon." And then she went on to relate how after she had seen Mrs. Jeffrey leave the house she went into her room with the intention of putting it to rights. As this was no more than her duty, no fault could be found with her, but she owned that when she had finished this task and removed all evidence of Mrs. Jeffrey's frenzied condition she had no business to linger at the table turning over the letters she found lying there.

Her cheeks were burning now, for she had found herself obliged to admit that she had read enough of these letters to be sure that they had no reference to the quarrel then pending between her mistress and Mr. Jeffrey. Her eyes fell and she looked seriously distressed as she went on to say that she was as conscious then as now of having no business with these papers; so conscious, indeed, that when she heard Miss Tuttle's step at the door, her one idea was to hide herself.

That she could stand and face that lady never so much as occurred to her. Her own guilty consciousness made her cheeks too hot for her to wish to meet an eye which had never rested on her any mistress and Mr. Jeffrey. Her eyes fell and she looked seriously distressed as she went on to say that she was as conscious then as now of having no business with these papers; so conscious, indeed, that when she heard Miss Tuttle's step at the door, her one idea was to hide herself.

"I cannot." "But you swear?" "I swear that it was Tuesday night, the night immediately preceding the one when—when my wife's death robbed me of all earthly happiness." "It was feelingly uttered, and several faces lightened; but the coroner repeating, 'Is there no way you can prove this to our satisfaction?' the shadow settled again, and on no head more perceptibly than on that of the unfortunate witness.

It was now late in the day and the atmosphere of the room had become stifling, but no one seemed to be conscious of any discomfort, and a general gasp of excitement passed through the room when the coroner, taking out a box from under a pile of papers, disclosed to the general gaze the famous white ribbon with its faint bow, lying on top of the fatal pistol.

RECENT INVENTIONS.

An apparatus which makes it possible to draw in perspective mechanical, without previous training, is the invention of a Swiss, who names it the perspectograph.

A machine has been invented which is capable of splitting wood two feet long and eighteen inches thick. It is run by a three-horsepower gasoline engine and consists of a huge knife which works through the knottiest wood at the rate of sixty strokes per minute.
