

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with the difficulty of kidney trouble, and the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the difficulty is kidney trouble.

TWELVE ARRESTS ON INDICTMENTS

Sheriff's Officers Busy Making Arrests on Grand Jury Warrants

MANY ARE NUISANCE CASES State Center Druggists Among the Number Together With Two Other Cases From That Place—A. G. Clark Indicted for Keeping a Gambling House—Other Bills.

The sheriff's officers were kept busy Saturday afternoon and night making arrests on indictment warrants, returned to them by the grand jury. Twelve arrests in all were made, and most of the number are for nuisance. Included under this charge are three State Center druggists and two other residents of that place.

James Malloy of State Center, was another to appear Saturday night, having been indicted on a charge of nuisance. His bond was likewise set at $500 and was furnished by Herman Kutzner, of State Center, appeared this morning. He was indicted on the charge of nuisance and furnished bonds in the sum of $500.

Another nuisance case is that of Peoly Evans of St. Anthony, who was arrested Saturday night by Deputy Sheriff Alva Nicholson. Evans was unable to furnish bonds and is in jail. Another case charging inebriety has been filed against Evans in the district court. The plaintiff is Mrs. G. Olson.

The grand jury returned another indictment against Frank Wicks, the case having been resubmitted to the jury. Wicks was indicted by the grand jury and tried at the August term, resulting in the jury disagreeing. In order to ascertain if another grand jury would consider the evidence sufficient to warrant another trial, witnesses were subpoenaed and a bill was returned. Wicks has been in jail since his arrest last July.

Alleged Prostitutes Indicted. Prostitution is alleged in three cases and keeping a house of ill fame in another. The defendant in the latter charge is Mrs. Bertha Swank, formerly of Albion, who has been employed as a waitress in different restaurants in the city for several months. Mrs. Swank was arrested by Sheriff Hutson Saturday night and is ordered to secure bonds of $500 thru the aid of relatives.

Jewell Kozick, Mrs. Ida Ritter and Freda Ritter were arrested Saturday night by Sheriff Hutson, charged with prostitution by indictment warrants. Mrs. Ritter is the wife of Chris Ritter, who has been in jail since last summer, charged with larceny from the person, and Freda Ritter is his younger sister. The Kozick girl's home is in Chelsea, and she is employed as a domestic in this city. The bonds of each is fixed at $500, and the Ritter women are in jail. Efforts are being made to secure the release of the Kozick girl on bonds.

HOLLOWE'EN CELEBRATION.

S. M. C. Club Entertains at Ghost Party Saturday Evening. A ghost party was given by the members of the S. M. C. Club to a number of their friends, Saturday evening, in a vacant house at the corner of State and Sixth streets. Invitations in verse, printed on yellow paper, had been issued, and the guests who were kept in ignorance of the destination, were taken to the house in a hack, being called for at the door by two "maids" attired in long white robes and ghost masks. They were received into a room and directed to the dressing room by Rita Lewis, who was dressed in white and wore a witch cap, and furnished violin music at intervals during the evening. One room was hung with sheets and the gentlemen were received there by eight ghosts, whose identity they were required to guess. Dainty cards with numbers on them corresponding to those worn by the ghosts, were given out, and after the latter had unmasked it was found that Mr. Charlie Darling had guessed the most correctly. He received a silver match case as a prize. Cutting a plate of flour and "diving" for the ring hidden therein, furnished much amusement.

The evening's festivities were early interrupted by the advent of a weird fortune teller seeking admission, which was granted. Cards and palm reading were both used to tell fortunes, which proved to be a feature of the evening. The supposed "psychic" identity was unmasked to the gentlemen until sunrise, when she unmasked and proved to be Dr. Exie Burkart.

Partners for supper were secured by the gentlemen bobbing for apples, each apple having on it in plastic the initials of some girl. A three course supper was served at 12 o'clock. Printed menu cards with a hand-painted pumpkin having inscribed on it "S. M. C. 1904" in one corner, were given most correctly. The menu served was mayonnaise salad, fruit salad, sliced veal, rolls, olives, pickles, and stuffed dates; pumpkin pie, doughnuts and coffee; cranberry sherbet, fruit, and cake. The dining room was in red and white, strings of cranberries and popcorn extending from the ceiling to the corners of the long table, draped around the sides with red crepe paper. A large mirror and cut glass dish of fruit formed the centerpiece, and at each plate a tiny candle burned, red ones being set in white apples for the gentlemen, and white ones in red apples for the girls. After the last course, mystery cakes, each containing an article indicative of something, were passed. The house was lighted entirely by jack-o-lanterns and Japanese lanterns. Other decorations were in boughs of pretty autumn leaves and red berries, and a cozy corner, curtained off with portieres, and piled with sofa cushions, had been arranged for the fortune teller.

HIT BY STRAY BULLET.

South Side Lad Has Close Call From Stray Bullet Injured. While playing in the yard at his home with several of his boy companions, Sunday evening, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Briley, living on May street, was struck by a stray bullet and slightly injured in the shoulder. The bullet struck a hammer the lad had in his hand, and glanced, hitting him in the shoulder, inflicting a slight flesh wound. The discharge of the weapon was heard by the boys, but although a search was made for the person who might have fired it, no one was found in the vicinity of the place.

In the District Court.

The testimony in the case of LaPlant vs. Falgatter Bros., was concluded Saturday afternoon in the district court. The argument was set for today. Judge Barnham this forenoon dismissed at plaintiff's costs the plaintiff's petition in the case of J. K. P. Shetter vs. Stewart. The action was one to set aside a deed to city property, made by the late J. K. P. Shetter to Mrs. F. G. Stewart. A son of the decedent plaintiff was substituted as plaintiff and excepts. A similar case is brought against Samantha Shepard Cunningham, Weber, et al, and it was likewise dismissed.

IOWA LEAGUE AVERAGES

President Norton Issues Official Record of the Players For the Past Season

WARNER LEADS ON SECOND Marshalltown's Manager Has Highest Fielding Average For His Position—Grays Had no Batters in the 300 Class—Rich and Greene Rank High Among the Pitchers.

The official averages of the players of the Iowa State League for the past season, compiled by President Norton, have been made public, and will furnish interesting "dope" for the fans. The averages, while not absolutely correct, are as nearly so as it has been possible to make them. One omission has been made, in that Hoy's record is not given at all. He played center field for the Grays.

While Marshalltown had no hitters in the 300 class, her players' fielding records show up much better. Manager Warner headed the second base men, and to Williams really belongs the honors at third base. Corbett, of Burlington, has the highest average, but he only played in fourteen games. Beaver, who played in 104 games, leads Williams by twenty points in percentage. When the putouts and assists are considered the story is different. Williams also played in 104 games and had fifty-three more putouts than Beaver, and thirty-seven more assists, showing that he covered much more ground and took many more chances. Among the pitchers Disch and Greene rank high, occupying fifth and sixth place, respectively. The pitchers' records, the batting averages and the fielding averages of the leading players are as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Player Name, Average. Includes Pitchers' Records and Batting.
