

Hamlin Garland's absorbing tale based on the Great Colorado Miners' Strike begins next week. Whole-some thrilling from beginning to end—the best of all Hamlin Garland's great stories. Watch for the first chapter.

CHICAGO PAYS A TRIBUTE TO FIELD

All the Great Business Houses of the City Closed During Funeral Today

SIMPLE SERVICES ARE HELD

Private Citizen Never Before Paid Such Signal Respect as Was Accorded the Memory of Marshall Field—Funeral Services Were Private and Attended by Only Close Friends.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Funeral services for Marshall Field were held today at his late home, and in the First Presbyterian church. The services at the home were characterized by simplicity and brevity and none but those immediately connected with the family and household were in attendance. The service at the church an hour later was attended by many friends of Field. This service, too, was private, admission to the church being only by presentation of a card. In the afternoon a memorial service was held in the auditorium, which was packed to the doors by employees of Marshall Field & Co. Rev. John A. Morrison, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated at all three services. The body of Field was placed in a vault at Graceland cemetery directly after the second service of the day.

Never before in the history of Chicago has such respect been paid to the memory of a private citizen as was shown today to that of Field. During the hours of the funeral services all the large retail establishments on State street and one thousand enterprises operated by the Chicago Commercial Club, and situated in all parts of the city were closed. The board of trade held but a brief session, and at every club house and prominent office building in the business section of the city flags were displayed at half mast. A number of mass meetings were held by the various organizations during the day and resolutions eulogizing Field were adopted.

SENSATION STIRS BRITISH.

Changes of Campaign Corruption Made by Defeated Candidate.

London, Jan. 19.—Thomas Gibson Bowles, the unionist free trader, who was defeated at King's Lynn, in Norfolk, by a tariff reformer, provides a new sensation in the campaign by the publication last night of a correspondence with Sir Alexander Fuller Acland-Hood, the chief conservative whip.

In this correspondence Mr. Bowles accuses the unionist party of sacrificing his seat in the House of Joseph Chamberlain simply because he is a unionist free trader. In it are scathing letters to Sir Alexander containing numerous thinly veiled personal insults, accusing him of deliberate breach of faith and politically dishonorable conduct.

Continuing Mr. Bowles attacks the source from which the conservative party fund was derived, a correspondence chapter and verse regarding the incident of some years ago when Ernest Terah Hooley "of unhappy memory" contributed $50,000 to the party fund "in circumstances most discreditable." This contribution, Mr. Bowles said, was refused and was returned by Lord Salisbury at his instance. Mr. Bowles, insinuating that his successful opponent received support from the party fund, says: "From now on, a fund I should deem it shameful to receive assistance." Alexander makes emphatic denials.

BRITAIN IN WAY OF PEACE.

Otherwise Conditions Favor Agreement at Algiers.

Algiers, Jan. 19.—Great Britain's attitude toward the Moroccan question is considered as being one of the leading obstacles to an amicable ending of the international conference being held here.

France, it seems, is disposed to discuss with Germany the basis of an agreement, but whether Great Britain will favor such an agreement is not known. However, nearly every one thinks that the longer the preliminaries are kept up the less will be the danger and that time alone will aid in harmonizing the various differences. Smallpox, it seems, will have a hand in the negotiations also. The disease exists here, it was learned yesterday, and the delegates are considerably worried.

FATHER AND SON-IN-LAW SUED.

Mother and Daughter Apply for Divorce at Same Time.

Baltimore, Jan. 19.—Mrs. Charles Elliot and her daughter, Mrs. George Lepp, aged 19, both began suits for divorce at statutory periods in the same court yesterday, the same attorney appearing for both.

LIBERALS GAIN TWELVE.

Two Labor Gains Also Noted as Result of Yesterday's Elections.

London, Jan. 19.—Twelve liberal and two labor gains were announced today as the result of yesterday's elections. The totals now are: Liberals, 218; unionists, 84; Irish nationalists, 70; laborites, 37.

CARDINAL SPINOLA ILL.

Death of Archbishop Seville, is Expected Almost Hourly.

Seville, Spain, Jan. 19.—Cardinal Spinola, archbishop of Seville, is seriously ill, and death is expected shortly.

May Agree on Contraband.

An informal session of the conference was held yesterday after the delegates to permit the delegates to speak their minds on the contraband question without having their views officially recorded.

The session resulted practically in an agreement on the main lines of a plan for the repression of contraband entering Morocco. It was feared that this question of contraband might lead to Franco-German tension as to who would carry out the repressive measures proposed.

The delegates were in accord upon the need of all the powers passing laws penalizing the introduction of contraband. They also tended toward a plan under which Morocco would adopt rigid repressive measures in co-operation with the powers. This followed a proposition submitted by Spain which was designed to reconcile the differences between France and Germany.

Yesterday's meeting strengthened the feeling among the delegates that the results of the conference will be satisfactory.

For Trade Only, Says Mr. Root.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Secretary Root has discussed with the subcommittee of the house committee on appropriations the situation in Morocco. Speaking to the situation in Morocco, Secretary Root said: "We have no political interest in the Morocco conference at all, but we have a trade interest. The ostensible object of the conference is entirely commercial. The political aspect of the conference arises solely from the fact that there are strained relations between Germany and France and it is supposed that a crisis will arise. We could not have that. That is the only political side it has."

Mr. Taftney Asked if Any Political Questions Arise

in His Discussion.

"There is a possibility that a conflict on some commercial question properly arising may be made a cause of war between Germany and France. The conference relates to provisions for securing peace and order in Morocco. It is a question of political—just as we protect them in China and Korea and all over the world, so that the question of policing Morocco is a question of accomplishing something that our country would have to accomplish for itself unless some arrangement was made. Then the questions of trade restrictions constitute the rest of the substantial matter of that conference."

Good Order a Necessity.

"It is our business to look after the lives and property of our citizens and when they get into a half-civilized state where the government is not sufficiently orderly and strong to protect them, we protect them ourselves, just as we protect them in China and Korea and all over the world, so that the question of policing Morocco is a question of accomplishing something that our country would have to accomplish for itself unless some arrangement was made. Then the questions of trade restrictions constitute the rest of the substantial matter of that conference."

WILL DEMAND APOLOGY.

France Deems President Castro's Action Insulting and Unwarrantable.

Washington, Jan. 19.—It is learned here that France will demand an immediate apology of President Castro, for what is regarded as his insulting and unwarrantable treatment of the French chargé d'affaires. Three French warships are within striking distance of the Venezuelan coast, and two more have been reported from Paris, which are on their way to West Indian waters.

RESPECT MOHAMMEDAN SUNDAY.

No Session of International Conference on Moroccan Reforms Today.

Algiers, Jan. 19.—This being Mohammedan Sunday, there will be no session of the international conference on Moroccan reforms, thus deferring the Moroccan delegates. In the meantime exchanges between delegates of the powers have brought about an agreement not to consider questions outside of the prearranged Franco-German program.

DEFEATS GOVERNMENT TROOPS.

Former President of Ecuador Occupies Quito, the Capital.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Jan. 19.—It is rumored here that General Eloy Alfaro, former president of Ecuador, and leader of the revolution against President Garcia, has occupied Quito, the capital, after defeating the government troops.

FAMOUS PRISON CLOSED.

Schlossberg State Prison, Russia, Has Held Many Political Prisoners.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 19.—The Schlossberg state prison, famous as the place of incarceration for so many political prisoners, has been closed. The prison was practically emptied on the occasion of the publication of the amnesty decree last fall.

CHANGES IN FORCE

Secretary Wilson Says Many of the Changes Regarding Statistical Work, Proposed by Keep Commission Have Been in Force a Long Time.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Secretary Wilson, of the department of agriculture, was not disposed to make any statement regarding the report of the Keep commission, when asked for his opinion of it today. In reply to questions, however, the secretary said the fullest opportunity had been given the commission to investigate the methods of the crop estimating board, in preparing their estimates. As to the recommendations of the commission looking to improvement in the work of the statistical bureau, the secretary declared that many of the changes suggested actually had been made in the department, and were now and had been for a long time. In force. The secretary said the whole matter would have to be carefully considered by him.

REPORT FAVORS SEATING OF YOUDE

Committee on the Contest From O'Brien County Reports to the Legislature

THE DEMOCRATS ASK FOR TIME

Republican Majority Wanted the Report Made Special Order for This Afternoon, But Objection Was Made and the Matter Went Over to January 30—Other Legislative News.

[By Ora Williams.]

Special to Times-Republican.

Des Moines, Jan. 19.—The report of the committee on the O'Brien county contest was presented to the house today in favor of seating Youde, republican. The democrats asked time to prepare a minority report in favor of Whitmer. The republican majority of the committee desired to have the report made a special order for this afternoon, but after discussion it was made a special order for January 30.

Speaker Clarke was called away on account of his brother's sudden death at Red Oak and Speaker Protem Cummings occupied the chair during the day in his absence.

Lundt introduced a resolution requesting the governor to give notice to all lobbyists that they must report to him on arriving in the city, state their business and appear at once before the committee and leave the city within thirty hours afterwards, and that lobbyists living in Des Moines shall not loiter about the state house. Objections were made to its immediate consideration.

The report of the committee on normal school was filed and ordered printed. Copyright introduced in the senate a bill that would revolutionize divorce proceedings and the laws divorces on scriptural theory, and in the house Dashiell offered a bill requiring reports of divorces to go to the state board of health.

The movement to abolish the circle at the head of official ballots in Iowa, under the leadership of Senator Smith, of Mitchell, is likely to prevail. Senator Smith has a consistent record on this subject and he is in earnest. Of course it will be said of the measure that it is a democratic one and the effort will be made to draw party lines in favor of maintaining the circle. The democrats will vote for the bill, for they have always contended that the present system is unfair to a minority party. For instance the second district members declare that two years ago Judge Wade would have been declared elected again if it had not been for the ballot circle, and that several hundred votes were not counted at the head of the official ballots.

The proposal for an amendment to the constitution permitting the making of laws by the initiative and referendum idea, is distinctly a democratic one. It was presented by Mr. Lundt, the member from Tama. It provides, however, that the present system of legislation by general assembly shall continue, but the direct method will be grafted upon it so that a certain number of voters may demand a vote direct on a bill desired enacted into law. This is something but little discussed about the method and the resolution will receive consideration.

Mr. Powers, of Floyd county, has a bill before the legislature to change the method of electing directors of the state department of agriculture, so that instead of having the district directors elected by vote of the entire state farmers institute at the December meetings, they shall be elected by balloting confined to each district alone. It has been charged, probably with some foundation, that under the present system of election at large men represent districts who are not in fact the choice of the districts. It is not represented, however, that because of this system there has come to the department any great harm; on the contrary, good results have been achieved in all recent years and the board has been kept free from weak or objectionable members. But Mr. Powers says there has been complaint about the method and he was asked to introduce the bill named.

The judiciary committee made some slight changes in the bill which is intended to punish men for desertion of their families, and recommended it for passage. It is a measure which has long been advocated by persons who have been students of sociological questions. They are pointing to the fact that Iowa is behind other states in this matter.

The plan of enlarging the powers of the state board of health so as to cover school houses, as provided in the Courtright bill, has been urged by some school men of the state. It contemplates having on the board who is recognized as an expert in many matters, though the contemplated in the case engineer who is a member of the board is to pass on all new school buildings a certain regulations in respect to light, heat and ventilation.

WOULD CHANGE IOWA LAWS.

Traveling Men Do Not Like Present Regulation of Fraternal Insurance.

Special to Times-Republican.

Des Moines, Jan. 19.—Because its members want a change in the Iowa laws regulating fraternal insurance, the Iowa Traveling Men's Association is planning to amend the law governing the fraternal societies of the state to conform to the desire of the association. The matter in question refers to the funds in reserve and the interpretation of the law by State Auditor Carroll who cannot see the law as the traveling men do. If the law is amended it will affect the reserve fund and privileges of all the fraternal bodies in Iowa who have an insurance feature in connection with their organization. The Iowa traveling men's association was organized under the laws of the state of Missouri, hence it is reasonable that there is a conflict. Senator Gale is the chairman of the legislation committee of the Iowa division and today a meeting will be held to consult as to the protection of the law.

FIRE AT FORT DODGE.

Barn and Contents Destroyed, Causing Considerable Loss.

Special to Times-Republican.

Fort Dodge, Jan. 19.—Fire at 1 o'clock this morning destroyed the barn of Louis McCarthy. The barn and contents are a total loss. Two horses, several tons of hay, carriages and grain were burned. The loss is over $850, with little insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown, the blaze being discovered by people returning from a party.

RAPS PLAN FOR N. E. A.

Miss Haley Says Proposed Charter Wrongs Members.

Washington, Jan. 19.—An echo of the fierce fight over a new charter that engaged the pedagogues at the convention of the National Educational Association at Asbury Park last summer was heard at a session of the house committee on education yesterday. Miss Margaret Haley of Chicago, with power of attorney for a large element of the association, appeared before the committee to oppose the bill to incorporate "The National Educational Association of the United States." This bill proposes to continue the present association on reorganization lines that are held by those represented by Miss Haley to be prejudicial to the interests of the rank and file, as well as being dictated according to the established rules.

Miss Haley objected to the bill on the ground that it involves essential changes in the constitution of the association which are not in accordance with the requirements for amending the same. She declared the Asbury Park convention had no power to make the changes without giving a year's notice.

It was argued that the proposed new charter would place the permanent fund of the association beyond the control of the people who create it, and therefore violates the fundamental principle of Anglo-Saxon law.

"But even if sure of having an honest board of trustees always in the future to control this fund," said Miss Haley, "let it be remembered that one of the five trustees who signed the report in favor of the change was Newton C. Dougherty, now serving a term in the penitentiary, a self-confessed forger and embezzler."

Another point made was that the National Council of Education, which was left after the trustees were provided for, might consist of representative educators, but its president in 1904-05 was the Boston agent for the American Book Company, who was the chairman. Boston inquired as to what proportion of the members opposed the charter at the annual convention, and Miss Haley replied that the convention chairman refused to permit a division vote on the question.
