WILL PERKINS QUIT?

With Only Small Part of His District His Case Looks Hopeless

HERRIOTT'S NOT MUCH BETTER

Perkins Has Talked Harmony in the Party and It Has Been Suggested That a Good Way to Secure It Would Be to Allow the Majority to Rule—Political Gossip.

Special to Times-Republican. Des Moines, April 24.—Will George D. Perkins now withdraw in the interests of harmony in the republican party is a question that is being asked by numerous politicians, not with any thought that he will withdraw, but attention is called to the idea by the vigorous editorials in the Sioux City Journal in favor of harmony. It is impossible now that either Herriott or Perkins can be nominated. Even with Herriott still in the field there are grave doubts of Perkins being able to give his delegation to any other candidate than Cummins after he is thru with it himself. Congressman Hubbard is at the head of the Sioux City delegation. He no doubt wishes a renomination. He is the eleventh congressional district had gone largely against Cummins the Sioux City delegation could be thrown to the support of Herriott or some other candidate. With the Eleventh district going so largely for Cummins and with Perkins carrying only Monona and Osceola outside of his own home county, it is believed that Congressman Hubbard will hardly care to counter to the action of the large majority of his congressional district and throw the delegation from his county to Herriott. He might have an excuse for going counter to their wishes so long as he voted for his home county, candidate, but it is believed that he will bow to the will of his congressional district with Perkins out of the road.

It is one of the planks of the Perkins platform that there should be harmony in the republican party. He and his friends have been claiming that Governor Cummins' candidacy is dividing the party. At the present time in the campaign it has been demonstrated that Perkins is lamentably weak in his own corner of the state. Cummins has over 250 delegates thus far and Perkins has less than 100. He will have but three counties in his own congressional district and quite likely none in the Tenth district, and has but two other counties in the state, making three out of the counties of the state have their conventions. With this situation staring him in the face, it is claimed that if any one should retire in the interests of harmony in the party it is Mr. Perkins. If the fight is prolonged till the state convention the bitterness will continue. If Mr. Perkins withdraws now, the campaign will be over with a perfunctory matter. There will be an end to the fighting, for the reason that there will be but one side in the field. Without a candidate the railroads must retire. The campaign thus far has been short-lived, and to eliminate the contest on the governing side at this early date would kill off the little bitterness that has been engendered more readily and completely than anything else. For these reasons politicians are saying that if there is any merit in the contention that harmony should prevail in the republican party, that harmony could best be advanced at this time by the withdrawal of Mr. Perkins, who since early in the campaign has been the chief apostle of the harmony talk.

The Cummins campaign is well in hand, and the leaders of the progressive movement are more than pleased with the results of the campaign during the past week. The campaign has started with a complete victory for Cummins in more than half the counties that had been expected it would be at this time in the campaign. It is recognized that one of the most important matters now to keep in mind are the results of the county selections of representatives and senators. The progressive movement in Iowa politics depends as much on the legislature as on any other thing. It is the way one politician put it. It is known that W. Blythe and his followers are exerting every vigilance to capture as many of the representatives and senators as possible. As the game of the stand-patters is to block rather than initiate, if the stand-patters have one house in control all reform legislation can be killed. For this reason it is deemed very essential that the closest vigilance should be exercised that the next legislature be in perfect harmony with the governor on all important questions.

There is quite a conflict of opinion between Howard Tedford, state binder and editor of the Mt. Ayr Record, and Joseph Wall, in charge of the county accounts in the office of the state auditor. The difference is a monkey of Tedford by showing that his figures were wrong. Tedford printed a lot of figures to show that Cummins is the most expensive executive the state has ever had and further to show that while the railroad assessments have been raised the farm assessments have been raised also so that there is no relative increase in the railroad assessment. Governor Cummins was able in an address which he delivered down there to show that the figures were all wrong. Governor Cummins produced the printed reports which showed no such condition. Tedford was unable to answer to the governor's arguments and figures and fell back on Wall. He had received his first figures from Wall and was put out that Wall had not given him the right figures and thus he had been put in a hole. Wall claims, however, that he gave Tedford the figures as they were on the books and is not responsible for the figures that appeared in the Mt. Ayr Record.

There has been some digging into the warrant books in the state auditor's office of late to ascertain just how the account of Howard Tedford, state binder, stands with the state of Iowa. It has been discovered that up to the present time he has drawn something like $120,000 from the state of Iowa. This has been for his work as state binder, and thus he has assisted in contributing to some of the extravagance that he has laid at the doors of Governor Cummins. It is further true that if the secretary of state had permitted him to be paid for some of his work on the same basis as Life Young was paid, and as Mr. Tedford wanted, that he should be paid, he would have had about $100,000 more from the state than he has. As is well known the payment by George L. Dobson to Life Young on the basis in question resulted in the suit against Life to compel him to refund the amount over paid and in the suit Judge Howe decided that since the money had been paid by a state official, even if it was an over-payment, it could not be recovered.

FARMERS ARE AROUSED

Politics, as Well as Crops, Occupying Their Attention This Spring

UNANIMOUS FOR CUMMINS

Only One Out of Large Number Interviewed in Cerro Gordo Was For Perkins—Women Also Interested—Practical Results From the King Road Drag—Wilson's Rural Letter.

Special to Times-Republican. Clear Lake, April 23.—Presidential campaigns excepted, political enthusiasm is not usually found to any great extent among the people dwelling along rural mail routes. The man who mentions political matters to those at work on their farms usually receives the information that the less the farmer bothers his head with politics, the better off he is; that the men elected to office do as they please anyway, and that it makes little difference who is elected. One is almost led to the conclusion, sometimes, that in the minds of his neighbors the farmer who evinces a desire to participate actively in affairs of government is performing an act that merits only the contempt of those who give little thought or attention to such things.

But this spring it is all different. Everybody is talking about the present political campaign. Township, county and state issues all receive attention, and the most remarkable feature of it in this part of the state is the unanimity of the opinions expressed. Of the four or five hundred men living on the six routes from this town, but one lone individual announced his antagonism to the candidacy of the present chief executive. "I am a stand-patter," he declared, "and I am willing to give my reasons for being one. I don't believe any man ought to be governor of Iowa for seven years." When asked how long he thought a man ought to be in congress he said: "That's different. He ought to be left there so long as he does what is right. What power has the governor, anyway?" exclaimed he. "What has Cummins ever done for the people? No, sir, in with the other crowd."

CLINTON'S NEW Y. M. C. A.

Splendid $50,000 Structure Is Dedicated With a Three-day Program, Closing With a Banquet—International Secretary McMill Present.

Special to Times-Republican. Clinton, April 24.—Clinton's new $50,000 Young Men's Christian Association building was dedicated in a three days' program that closed in a banquet last night, during the progress of which time hundreds of Clinton people and out-of-town guests visited the magnificent building, situated at the corner of Fifth avenue and Third street. The banquet was a brilliant affair and was followed by a toast program, when many Clinton and out-of-town gentlemen responded to toasts. International Railroad Secretary McMill was present at the dedication, together with other Y. M. C. A. workers.

The new building is said to be as finely equipped and constructed as any association home in the middle west. It contains a large swimming pool, a splendidly equipped gymnasium, assembly rooms, auditorium, reading and game rooms, and has thirty-one dormitories. Its arrangement is of the best, and the furnishings and general equipment is the best that could be purchased. The project of erecting a new building has been under consideration for several years, the association out-growing the old quarters on the same site. The Clinton association was organized in 1890, and its membership is among the largest in the state.

FOR SUPERINTENDENT.

Eldora Man Will Seek Nomination for County Office. Special to Times-Republican. Eldora, April 24.—Another candidate for the county superintendent nomination at the republican primary to be held June 2, will be formally announced this week in the person of William Sparks, of Pleasant township.

Several have already looked the "ground" over and have decided not to enter the contest with Mrs. Ella B. Chassel, who is out for a third term. Mr. Sparks is at present a family manager and teacher at the Iowa Industrial School for boys, where he has served five years—four years under Superintendent B. J. Miles and the past year under Superintendent Col. D. Drake. He has been superintendent of schools at Union one year and at Aldon two years. While at the latter place a four county—Hardin, Franklin, Butler and Grundy—teachers' association was formed, of which Mr. Sparks was elected the first president. Before coming to Hardin county he taught in the southern part of the state. He is 46 years old and has been engaged in school work twenty-seven years. He is a graduate of the State Normal with the degree of master of Didactics and holds a state certificate.

He Sees Thru the Game.

J. L. Bleakly "senator" has been named by stand-patter Herriott, (Incumbent) governor of the state of Iowa, as one of the committee on investigation of insurance. This is a "corporation" scheme to make votes and gain legislative control of this district. We, the mass of us, are Cummins men, and we are not stand-patters. We want to see and hear Cummins. God bless him. Ida Grove, April 21, 1906. SAMUEL V. CARR.

TEMPERANCE WAR ON

The Fight Against Saloons at Mason City Will Be Bitter One

MEETINGS IN THE CHURCHES

Temperance People Are Determined to Defeat a Petition for Saloons in Cerro Gordo County—Some Business Men Favor the Return of the Saloon. Special to Times-Republican. Mason City, April 24.—Three monster mass meetings were held in this city Sunday in the interests of temperance. Never in the history of the city has the fight been so hotly contested as it is at present and everything is being done by the temperance people to defeat a saloon petition that has been filed in the office of the county auditor and they are being as stoutly opposed by the saloon element. The meetings were held in the different churches, one for men, one for women and the one in the evening for both, and at all the meetings the buildings were taxed to their capacity. Speeches were made by the business men and the preachers. One thousand dollars has been pledged by the business men to regulate the sale of the liquor under the present condition. This is done to show good faith, that no more illegal selling of liquor shall be carried on here. A few who signed the saloon petition argue as they reason for signing it that no effort has been made to control the drug stores. The question comes up before the supervisors this week. If the temperance people succeed in getting forty-five names off the petition the thing is defeated.

MORE SAVED THAN FIRST ESTIMATED IN FIRE AT MOOREHEAD.

Special to Times-Republican. Moorehead, April 24.—The men whose stores were burned out here have begun to take an inventory of their losses, and find them not so large as at first feared. Harper and Seelye rented the barn on the other side of town and are continuing as before. They have not as yet decided as to rebuilding. It is understood the pool hall owned by Herman Kalkett, a farmer north of town, will not be rebuilt. He carried off $200 insurance, so will be almost a clear loss. The hotel building and real estate office were owned by out-of-town parties, but are believed to be well covered by insurance, but it is not thought they will rebuild. Mr. Morrison was able to open the safe taken from the ruins and everything within was found to be intact. It was said to contain $1,600 in money and valuable papers. He only carried $700 insurance on the building and the rest of the money was lost. He had lately put in a car load each of salt, oil meal and flour, besides several hundred dollars' worth of farm seeds. The spectators yesterday feasted on roast potatoes taken from the ruins. The families who moved out on account of the fire spent the day moving into their homes and drying the carpets and bedding used to protect the buildings nearest the burning stores.
