CATCH TRAIN WRECKER

S. S. Crandall Arrested For Attempts to Wreck C. N. W. Passenger May 17 and 22
WAS AN AMATEUR DETECTIVE

Crandall Offered His Services to the Officers in Ferreting the Mystery and the More They Worked on the Case, the More Sure They Became He Was Guilty—Tried to Imprison Innocent.

Special to Times-Republican.

Fort Dodge, June 6.—S. S. Crandall, an amateur detective, was induced to come to this city yesterday afternoon to assist in ferreting out the mystery which surrounds the attempts to wreck the fast passenger on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad on the nights of May 17 and 22, and was placed under arrest and charged with the crime by Special Officers E. E. Stark and G. A. Gaton.

On the night of May 17 two ties were placed on the track of the Northwestern line near Linnberg, and were struck by the fast passenger, known as No. 16. Little damage was done, however. Six ties were placed on the track near the same place on the night of May 22, and were struck by the same train, badly damaging the engine. The train was stopped only after two of the ties had become wedged in a bridge.

Shortly after their arrival at Dayton, Crandall, who claims to be a member of the famous Webster Detective Agency at Des Moines, offered his services to the officers, saying he had evidence which would place the blame on the guilty parties. He was led out as much as possible by the officers and the more they worked on the case the more they were satisfied he was guilty of the crime. Finally he made an offer for a stated consideration to place the blame on the guilty party, and was induced to come to this city to meet the proper parties to close up the matter.

When seen by your correspondent, late yesterday afternoon, Special Officer Stark stated that Crandall was a man of most unenviable reputation, and had a warrant issued by the Dayton territorial with his threats of his power as a detective. He claims to have evidence of his connection with other crimes in the past, and feels sure of landing him in the penitentiary for a long term.

Crandall's offer to place the blame for the crime is stated by the officers to be an attempt to imprison an innocent man who had incurred his enmity before his arrest here. He attempted to gain possession of mail addressed to other parties, and advertised at the local postoffice, but was refused. The Northwestern detectives feel jubilant over arresting the man before the warrant was issued by the federal authorities. Fully a hundred of the residents of Dayton will be in the city Friday to testify at the preliminary hearing.

AMES COLLEGE EVENTS

Alumni Present in Large Numbers to Attend Festivities of Commencement Week—Corner Stone of New Agricultural Hall Laid Today by Governor Cummins.

Special to Times-Republican.

Ames, June 6.—The fair weather yesterday made this the best of the days of commencement week at the Iowa State college, and alumni from nearby towns came in in great numbers to attend the exercises. The exercises Monday and Tuesday were slim, from the audience standpoint, on account of the inclement weather, but with the bright sun yesterday morning, the festivities began in earnest. The feature booked for yesterday was the senior breakfast, an annual event, which took place on the campus, in the big tent. Here the seniors gathered and held forth in their last joyful feast and the time they had was indeed a merry one, for they did not leave the scene of their pleasures until time for the alumni business meeting, which occurred at 10 o'clock in the college chapel.

The festivities were not wholly confined to the senior class events, however, for the class of 1937, the largest ever graduated from the college, formed plans to have a picnic. Seeing that there were a large number of their members present, they arranged to have a morning breakfast also, and at 7 o'clock about twenty members of the class proceeded to the north woods.

The agricultural faculty matched themselves against their graduates in a ball game, and beat them by the score of 12 to 1. The game was a good one, and well played through. Following this the real game of the faculty and seniors came on. Each side made frequent changes of pitchers and other players during the entire game, and when the whistle sounded at the finish the score stood 12 to 7 in favor of the seniors. The climax of the game was the part that brought the greatest joy to all concerned. At this juncture President Storms, Deans Stanton and Curtis and Professors Bennett, Pammel, Bissell, Newsam and several others got into the game, and did some of the most spectacular playing witnessed on the state field this year.

The alumni reception was held last evening, in connection with the twilight promenade, and hundreds of the old and new graduates strolled about the campus and the new central building, which will be on to midnight.

HAVE FUN WITH HISEY.
Pranks of "Rah, Rah" Boys Land Wheelbarrow Candidate in Jail.

Iowa City, June 6.—Andrew Townsend Hisey, candidate for president of the United States, was arrested yesterday afternoon and placed in the city hall jail. The arrest was the outgrowth of a disturbance on the university campus and the streets. University students drew Hisey's buggy thru town and stopped at corners, where the old man addressed them. The speeches drew crowds and blocked the streets. The police finally took the would-be successor of Roosevelt to jail. Five hundred "rah rah" boys followed and surrounded the jail. The prisoner was released later and requested to leave town.

OGDEN BANK CHANGE.
City Bank Changed From Private to a State Institution.

Special to Times-Republican.

Ogden, June 6.—A deal has just been closed whereby the old City Bank of Ogden will be changed from a private bank to a state or national institution. This bank was organized June 1, 1884, with a cash capital of $40,000, and with W. Farley as president; D. C. Nelson, vice president, and F. Lorenzen, cashier. The cash capital was gradually increased to $85,000, where it has remained for the past fifteen years. In 1895 F. Lorenzen was made a member of the firm and remained as such and also cashier, until his demise in 1902. Mr. Nelson withdrew from the firm in March, 1933, and the estate of F. Lorenzen and F. M. Lorenzen remained with the bank until 1934, when they withdrew, leaving Mr. Nelson as the sole owner. The estate of F. Lorenzen and F. M. Lorenzen remained with the bank until 1934, when they withdrew, leaving Mr. Nelson as the sole owner.

Webber Frazer, of Mason City, Lost Jewel at Charles City.

Special to Times-Republican.

Mason City, June 6.—Webber Frazer, a jeweler of this city, is mourning the loss of a fine shirt stud, valued at $200, which some light fingered individual secured from his person while at the Woodman picnic at Charles City this week. How the gem was secured, and when, is all a mystery to Mr. Frazer. He says he noticed a suspicious character eyeing the jewel, and who followed him for a short time, but he was not aware that the fellow or any one else got close enough to him to take the diamond. It was considered a beauty, void of all "yellow streaks," and prized very highly by the owner. Police were set on the matter, but it is feared it cannot be recovered.
