Arousing Uncle John. (Kansas City Journal.) There was the usual crowd of villagers, sitting on the postoffice steps waiting for the mail to be distributed, and among them was Uncle John. He had joined the sitters without saying a word, and at the end of fifteen minutes one of the men winked at the crowd and said: "Well, Uncle John, but have you heard about the big earthquake in Vermont, with 10,000 people killed?" Uncle John looked at him in a weary way and shook his head. "And the cyclone in Connecticut yesterday and 500 houses blown down?" continued the man. Uncle John yawned and was not the least interested. "The Ohio river rose 200 feet of a sudden the other day and carried the city of Cincinnati down stream. Tens of thousands of people lost their lives. Any of your relatives down there, Uncle John?" The old man slowly shook his head and reached down to pick up a silver and pick his teeth with it. "And the whole state of Pennsylvania is caving in," said the joker, "and by tomorrow there will be a great lake where 4,000,000 or 6,000,000 people have lived." Uncle John took the news without a word. In fact, he yawned and stretched over it. "By thunder, but there goes a rat under that pile of lumber across the street," exclaimed the joker as he rose up. "Say, you fellows—"

But he got no further. Uncle John was across the street and had a club in his hand, and within the next ten minutes he had done a half day's work tearing down the pile to get at the rat. He had been aroused at last.
