From the information furnished by the county superintendents, Prof. Riggs says in the circular that the wages of teachers have not kept pace with the increased cost of living...

1. Better salaries paid in other lines of employment that employ for the full year and do not require as great expense in preparation.

2. General prosperity and easy circumstances of farmers and others relieving young women from the necessity of teaching.

3. Better salaries offered teachers in western states.

4. Low estimate placed upon the value of education by the people.

5. Increased opportunities for employment, many more doors being open to young men and young women than formerly.

State Architect Leibbe has proven his resourcefulness by inventing a scheme to prevent or at least to retard runs on banks.

He would, thru clearing house associations, have understandings so that immediately there is a run started on a bank and people get panicky instead of paying out cash to the persons in the run the bank pay checks on the other banks.

NEW LAW NOT UNJUST

New Plan of Teachers Examinations For Certificates is Fair to All

THE FIRST YEAR PROVES IT

Comparatively Few Failed to Pass Examinations During Twelve Months of Its Operation—State Architect Leibbe Prevents Novel Plan for Meeting Runs on Banks.

Special to Times-Republican.

Des Moines, Nov. 1.—The first definite information on the working of the new state uniform teachers' certificate law was given in the circular issued yesterday by the state superintendent. The fact that there were 26,138 applicants for teachers' certificates during the year ending Oct. 1, 1907, the first year of the new law, and that there were 102 more failures to pass the examinations than during the preceding twelve months, is considered in itself as a defense of the new law.

It has been the claim of those who opposed the law, particularly of those of Polk county, and others, that the new law was responsible for hundreds of failures to pass the examinations and that many competent teachers were deprived unjustly of certificates.

There were 4,844 failures during the last twelve months under the new law and 4,742 during the twelve months preceding that, under the old law.

The circular issued by Professor Riggs is a justification of the new state law. It contains eight pages and goes into details regarding the working of the new law for the first twelve months.

The circular was mailed today to the county superintendents, prominent educators and newspapers of the state. It attempts to show the situation and to the shortage of teachers and make an explanation. In the first place it is charged that the shortage of teachers has been growing slightly greater each year for the past five years and that this shortage was growing greater each year before the new law went into effect.

One year ago October 1, there were 133 schools that remained closed because of a lack of teachers. This year on October 1 it is shown by the circular published by Superintendent Riggs there were 421 schools remained closed for want of teachers, but it is shown that there were 412 unemployed teachers in the state and that 117 of these were ready to accept positions in the state.

It is thus claimed by Professor Riggs that the reason the schools remain closed is because the directors do not pay the wages and that for this reason persons holding state certificates seek employment in other lines of activity or remain idle, a privilege they have since their fathers and brothers are making so much money and crops are going so well.

The information on which the circular is issued was obtained from the reports of the county superintendents in answer to questions asked by Professor Riggs. It is shown that the conditions of the school teachers are improving under the new conditions.

In the first place the reports from the county superintendents show that 58 per cent of the schools of the state are paying the teachers higher wages than they did last year; that most of the districts in fifty-six of the counties are now employing the teachers by the year instead of by the term, and that in every county more districts are employing by the year than formerly.

2. General prosperity and easy circumstances of farmers and others relieving young women from the necessity of teaching.

3. Better salaries offered teachers in western states.

4. Low estimate placed upon the value of education by the people.

Twenty-five Boy Detectives Keep Watch at Sioux City.

Special to Times-Republican.

Sioux City, Nov. 1.—Twenty-five boy police and detectives were added to the regular police force to better preserve order in the city last night on account of Halloween.

Chief Dineen fearing that the boys would commit serious offenses against the public morals in their desire to celebrate, took every precaution to provide against any serious infractions.

The twenty-five boys went out as "city-cops" and it was their duty to report any serious offenders. They were not empowered to make arrests, their only duty being to look after the localities in which they were stationed and if, in their opinion, the depredations were too violent, to notify the police in their districts.

Inquiry Shows He Took Little More Than Just Dues From Hartwick.

Special to Times-Republican.

Hartwick, Nov. 1.—A thorough examination of the books today by the auditor revealed the fact that the amount of money taken by Beaman, the absconding Milwaukee agent, will not amount to more than $50.

This is a much smaller amount than was first supposed, and is in fact but little more than was coming to him.

As yet he has not been apprehended, and probably will not be, as the company is little inclined to prosecute. Since the amount is so small the officials are at a loss to understand his strange action.

CLARK CLAIMS RECORD

Disputes Claims of Others to Being Oldest Resident of State of Iowa

IN STATE TWENTY-FOUR YEARS

Moved to Iowa in 1833—Has Been Lumberman, Steamboat Man and Coal Mine Operator—Now Living in Retirement in Buffalo, Iowa—General State News.

Special to Times-Republican.

Davenport, Nov. 1.—In a Burlington dispatch the other day it was stated that the honors for the oldest continuous resident of the state lay between several men, of whom John S. Knapp of Fort Madison, actually held the record, having come to Iowa Oct. 9, 1825, making his time of continuous residence in the state a period of seventy-two years.

This record and all the others mentioned, however, are eclipsed by that of a Scott county man, Captain Warner Lewis Clark of Buffalo, who has lived in the state seventy-four years. Captain Clark was born on the banks of the Wabash river in Illinois, November 14, 1822.

Here, after many hardships, chief among which was the loss of his father and stepmother, he was married in 1851 to Miss Harriet Baker. This was at the early age of 19 years, his bride being a year younger, and with a family of six of his brothers and sisters to support. Eight children were born of the union.

After spending a few years in the lumber business, Captain Clark took to steamboating, which became very profitable for him, and later he opened up coal mines in Buffalo to supply his pocket line with coal.

Clark survived the panic of 1859, which ruined so many fortunes, with enough money to ensure a comfortable old age, and in spending the later years of his life in health and happiness at Buffalo. At the recent opening of the Hennepin canal, Captain Clark was present and made one of the most interesting addresses of all on the program, and his friends expect him to continue his activities for many years to come.

ELOPING WIFE CAUGHT.

Stopped By Officers at Rock Rapids Depot—Affinity Leaves Hurriedly.

Rock Rapids, Nov. 1.—Mrs. Ernest Jastorff, wife of an honest, hard-working and respectable resident of this place, was captured at the Rock Island station as she was about to board a train in company with Carl Whitrock, with whom she intended to elope.

With her was her youngest child, two years of age, and in her possession was a large sum of money. Mrs. Jastorff returned to her home with her husband and child, and upon the suggestion of Marshal Carroll that he make himself scarce, Whitrock left the city on a gallop, and has not been seen since.

Whitrock and Mrs. Jastorff met at a dance soon after the latter's marriage, and at that time it is said the two had planned an elopement, but Whitrock became involved in trouble at Alford, and was arrested for an alleged assault upon Mrs. Kohle, of that place. Recently he was acquitted of the charge, and began calling on Mrs. Jastorff. He did it secretly, however, and the woman's husband never saw him or suspected his wife, and her escape was a severe shock to him.

Whitrock testified at his recent trial that he had a wife and child in South Dakota.

NEGRO PORTER ARRESTED.

John Robertson, Webster City, Committed More Than One Theft.

Special to Times-Republican.

Webster City, Nov. 1.—Deputy Sheriff Brown has returned from Des Moines, with the colored porter, John Robertson, who was taken in custody by the police of that city and will undoubtedly be bound over to await the coming term of the district court.

It seems that Robertson's theft from Miss Bryan a hotel domestic, was not his only crime here.

P. M. Banks, the popular city clerk, when he went to his room at The Wilson Wednesday evening to change his attire preparatory to spending the evening out, found the clothing of every description, even to night shirts, white vests, shirts, collar buttons, silk handkerchiefs and other personal effects had been taken from his dresser and wardrobe, packed in his grip—a splendid outfit—gone.

On Robertson's person were found the watch and fob belonging to Miss Bain, and he also had with him the leather grip and other effects belonging to Mr. Banks. Aside from this it is said that Robertson also stole from the room of a traveling man a Smith & Wesson revolver.

LARK AT MT. PLEASANT.

Girls of Iowa Wesleyan Juniors Suspected of Using Rope Ladders.

Special to Times-Republican.

There are no such classes as the junior class at Iowa Wesleyan. Their originality and invention were plainly evident Wednesday night or rather yesterday morning, when they laid aside all their dignity and business and became a class of young ladies.

They were out on the skates, while much amusement was obtained from watching the beginners in their first experience. But the question is how the fair ladies from the dormitory were present when it was long after the lights were out. Nobody knows, but rumor has it that rope ladders were in evidence and more haste than grace was used. However, they escaped the vigilant eye of the preceptors, and that was their main object.

THIRTY BABES IN ONE HOTEL

Unusual Coincidence at Sioux City Has Manager Guessing.

Special to Times-Republican.

Sioux City, Nov. 1.—Thirty cute babies, with no intention in the world of seeking newspaper notoriety, registered at the Vendome hotel last evening. They came not because they had a choice in the matter but because their parents brought them.

It was only an unusual coincidence and Manager Smoyer did not think anything of the first dozen, but when the list kept on growing he began to believe that a baby show was scheduled here. The hotel parlor was turned over to the tots and while some played "horse" others gave a "party" and brought their dolls to the event.

The gurgling laughter of happy childhood seemed to puff new life in the old building.

A Perfect Baker Peoria Lexington Steel Range

The Stove with a double-flue bottom, which makes it a perfect, even baker. This double-flue bottom retains the heat in the stove—prevents the oven being chilled because of the dead-air space. Dead air does not convey heat or cold. This keeps the oven at an even temperature all the time with considerably less fuel, and insures quick, even baking.

A Fuel Saver King Bee Air-Blast Heater

The King Bee is an air-tight stove. It will burn hard coal, soft coal, wood or any other kind of fuel—and will positively give more heat for the same fuel than any other stove. The King Bee gives all the heat to the room, because the drum can't warp and let in a draft. When a draft gets in between the firepot and the drum, the fire cannot be controlled, and half the heat is wasted. This is prevented on the King Bee because of The Anti-Buckling Ring. The Anti-Buckling Ring goes around the stove just above the firepot and prevents the drum from warping. A sectional view would show it shaped like a letter "T" lying down—"T" inverted down to the upper flange of the ring, then cemented and riveted to the ring and not the firepot. The slightest draft is entirely shut out. If you want to save in fuel, invest in a King Bee.

Our Guarantee We guarantee every stove to be made of flawless material, and the workmanship to be the very best. We guarantee to replace any part of any stove that cracks from the heat inside one year from date of purchase. We guarantee to replace any stove within 30 days from date of purchase if unsatisfactory through defect in its construction, provided stove is set up according to instructions on reverse side of guarantee ticket accompanying each stove. This guarantee goes with every stove manufactured by Culter & Proctor Stove Co., Peoria, Ill.
