

Kokomo Woman Gives Fortune

To Help Women Who Suffer. In the past few years Mrs. Cora B. Miller has spent $125,000.00 in giving medical treatment to afflicted women. Some time ago we announced in the columns of this paper that she would send free treatment to every woman who suffered from female diseases or piles.

More than a million women have accepted this generous offer, and as Mrs. Miller is still receiving requests from thousands of women from all parts of the world who have not yet used the remedy, she has decided to continue the offer for awhile longer, at least. This is the simple, mild and harmless preparation that has cured so many women in the privacy of their homes after doctors and other remedies failed. It is especially prepared for the speedy and permanent cure of leucorrhoea or whitish discharges, ulceration, displacements or falling of the womb, profuse, scanty or painful periods, uterine or ovarian tumors or growths; also pains in the head, back and bowels, bearing down feelings, nervousness, evening chilliness, the spleen, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness and piles from any cause or no matter of how long standing.

Every woman suffering, unable to find relief, who will write to Mrs. Miller now without delay will receive by mail free of charge a 50 cent box of her simple home remedy, also her book with explanatory illustrations showing why and how to take a safe remedy that can be taken at home without the aid of a physician. Don't suffer another day, but write at once to Mrs. Cora B. Miller, 1074 Miller Building, Kokomo, Indiana.

TWO RHODES GOLDEN WEDDINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blink and Mr. and Mrs. James Daugherty are married. Fifty Years - Talking New School House for Gilman - Liscomb Meningitis Cases Very Sad.

The fine lot of county correspondents on the staff of the T-R have furnished another large grist of interesting happenings this week. At Rhodes that village had the novelty of seeing two families enjoying the celebration of golden weddings. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blink and Mr. and Mrs. James Daugherty were the participants. Gilman taxpayers and school patrons are agitating the question of building a new school house, and the proposition will likely be voted upon at the coming election.

The two children of Rev. and Mrs. Frank Ovlatt, of Liscomb, who have been ill for a few weeks of spinal meningitis, are in a very critical condition and the cases are extremely sad. The little girl has gone completely blind, and the baby boy is entirely helpless.

Numerous changes thruout the county in places of residence, farmers moving to new places and people leaving the farms and going into the towns, are told of from almost every point. Several will come to Marshalltown.

The news of the county, of interest to all readers interested in the county, is classified as follows: RHODES. Feb. 27.—Two golden weddings, with well-known residents of this place as participants, were celebrated last week, and a remarkable occurrence in town history. The first celebration, on the 18th, was of the fiftieth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blink. At a solemn high mass, at the Catholic church, conducted by Rev. Father Schlueter, as celebrant, Father John Friedman, of LaMotte, as deacon, and Rev. P. M. Loughnan, of Marion, as sub-deacon, the wedding vows were again taken. Rev. Father Joseph Schlueter, of Haverhill, pronounced the benediction.

Mr. Blink was born at Laurens, France, July 30, 1836. She came to Sonoma, Ill., in 1856. Mr. Blink was born in Bladen, Germany, March 29, 1834, and came to Sonoma, Ill., with his parents in 1852. In 1855 he went to Chicago and followed his trade as wagon maker. In 1858 he was joined in wedlock to Miss Margaret Halter at Aurora, Ill. After two years, in 1860, they came to Iowa and settled on a farm, two and one-half miles south of Rhodes, and remained there for thirty-nine years, during which time they accumulated a great deal of this world's goods. At the time he retired from the farm they owned 1,000 acres of land, Marshall town's choicest land. This property has been divided among his children.

In 1894 Mr. and Mrs. Blink moved to Rhodes and built their beautiful residence with the intention of spending the remainder of their natural life. To their happy union were born ten children, six sons and four daughters, thirty-four grand children and one great grand child, all living. The children are George, Albert, Leopold, and Charles, of Rhodes; Louis and Mrs. J. E. Reas of Melbourne; Mrs. William Webb of Haverhill; Mrs. T. E. Marshall, of Henryetta, Okla.; Martin, of St. Paul, Minn.; Mrs. A. Elliott of Mingo.

After the ceremonies at the church the guests were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Blink, where a bounteous dinner was served. The other fiftieth anniversary celebration of the week was that of Mr. and Mrs. James Daugherty, on Feb. 21. As some of the children could not come home, it was decided that Mr. and Mrs. Daugherty should go to Des Moines, where they celebrated their golden wedding at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Frank Fisher, 1115 Nineteenth street, where all the children were present. Mr. and Mrs. Daugherty were married at Windridge, Pa., on February 21, 1858. Mrs. Daugherty's maiden name was Sarah Ellinger, Nichols. To this union were born six children, two having died. Those living are all residents of Des Moines. Mrs. Frank Fisher, Mrs. Alle Bechtelmeier, Harry Daugherty and Miss Myrtle Daugherty. Mr. and Mrs. Daugherty were among the first residents of Des Moines, which name has since been changed to Rhodes. Mr. Daugherty served his country as a soldier of the civil war. Mr. and Mrs. James Daugherty have but three grand children. One grand child, James Harris, makes his home with Mr. and Mrs. Daugherty. Their many friends and neighbors wish Mr. and Mrs. Daugherty many more happy anniversaries.

Mr. and Mrs. John Reagon of Colo visited over Sunday at the home of James Strickler. Mrs. William Armstrong, of Madrid, came Friday and visited among friends.

PISO'S CURE

Children's Coughs and colds cause the little ones needless suffering. With Piso's Cure in the house serious colds can be prevented and relief afforded. It is the only remedy by which all danger from coughs, colds, bronchitis and chest affections can be averted.

until Sunday. She was the guest of Mrs. F. E. Bentley. Curtis Bodi had the sad misfortune to have the horse he was riding Saturday fall, resulting in breaking Mr. Bodi's leg in two places. Mr. Kruse and Mr. Lynch's car left Monday for Canada. Mr. Kruse has been employed in E. W. Harmon's meat market for several years, and Mrs. Kruse has been employed as they were for people and good neighbors. Mr. William Board is now leaving after the interests of the meat market.

Mr. M. F. Baker has moved his family into the property recently vacated by Mr. Cronse. Mr. Charles Cartright moved onto the Nason farm, southeast of town, where he will work the coming season for Edward Nason. Mr. Sharp and family have moved to Keryle, near Des Moines. Mrs. R. A. Bonham entertained at dinner Sunday at her home, Mesdames Bentley, Doyle, Ruth, Darling, Gillman, Everett and Armstrong.

Mr. A. O. Wilson and family have moved into the M. U. parsonage. Mr. George Gilbert made a business trip to Dakota this week. Mr. D. R. Kolms was called to Baxter Tuesday by the death of his brother, E. Kuhns. Mr. R. A. Bonham and family will move to Cambridge, where Mr. Bonham has secured a position in the title office.

Mrs. E. F. Bishop, of Hobart, Okla., is here calling on old friends and neighbors. She is the guest of Mrs. R. E. Gray. David Lowe, of Nevada, has been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mooers. Mrs. Hattie Francis is in Des Moines this week. Mr. Louis Phillips, who had the misfortune to fall from the hay rack on the barn and break two of his ribs last Monday morning, is getting along as well as can be expected. Owing to his age it will be some time before he will be able to get around.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen have moved into the section house. Mr. Prosser and family will occupy the Allen property. A farewell party given in honor of Mrs. F. E. Somers and Mrs. R. A. Bonham was held at the Somers home Wednesday evening where a large crowd of old friends and neighbors gathered and spent the evening in games and music after which refreshments were served. The honored guests were asked to move from this place, and it is with much regret that their many friends see them go. A token of remembrance was presented Mrs. Somers and Mrs. Bonham.

The Ladies' Cemetery Aid society will meet and spend the day Friday with Mrs. Levi Flora. Dan Beary moved onto the Neff farm Tuesday.

GILMAN. Feb. 27.—S. Breckenridge has bought from Miss Martha Carson her residence property on Church street, and will occupy it with his family in the near future. Miss Carson and her brother, William, will return to Marshalltown and occupy the residence property recently purchased by them. L. M. Hull and family have moved on to the J. H. Scurr farm, near Ferguson.

Mr. Daugherty and family now occupy the dwelling house on High street vacated by the Hull family. E. Simmerman has moved into the Duffield property on High street. Dr. D. P. Gaunt and family will, in the near future, move into the residence recently vacated by W. Seager and family on Elm street, and the property on same street vacated by W. Doze.

The subject of a new school house, which it is thought by many is suited to the present needs of the district is again being agitated and will probably be submitted to vote at the proper time. Friends will regret to learn that Rev. R. F. Lavender, former Congregational pastor here, but now pastor at Wittenberg, is suffering from inflammation of the kidneys at his residence in Newton.

Mr. Binder and family are soon to remove to Carthage, Mo., to locate on a farm of 320 acres, owned by them. L. H. Shannon will move about March 10 on a farm owned by him near Barnesville, Minn., and in connection with the farm about 240 acres near by owned by W. J. Leafley of this place.

The first statement of the Citizens' Savings bank of this place was published in the current issue of the Dispatch, and shows the total assets, including bills and bonds not on hand and in the hands of other banks, over drafts, and value of real estate, $72,481.36, and liabilities including capital stock actually paid in, $15,000; deposit accounts, $57,368.89, and profits, a total of $72,481.36. This makes a very good showing for its initial statement.

The mud, which was stirred up considerably yesterday and frozen hard last night, makes the condition of the roads today, almost impassable, and in a message excuses the torrid language of movers obliged to travel them at this particular time.

LISCOMB. Feb. 27.—Mrs. Della Spelcher was a Liscomb visitor Friday, returning to her home in Peoria, Ill., on Saturday morning. Mrs. Spelcher was returning from Duluth, where she had been visiting the Garfield Beeson family, and only made a short visit to her mother-in-law, Mrs. Barbara Spelcher, and aunt, Mrs. Jennie Early, while she remained in town. H. A. Robinson and wife returned to Colorado Springs, Saturday, having spent a week with Iowa relatives.

Misses Roxy and Etta Early entertained Mrs. Sade Boughly, Mr. Earl Parker and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Scott at a charming dish supper Tuesday evening. A very pleasant time was enjoyed. Miss Roxy and Mr. Parker furnishing some excellent piano and violin music for the occasion.

Mrs. Mary Middleton, of Union, accompanied by a friend, Mrs. C. W. of Kansas, were guests of Mrs. Ella Hargis, Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Scott entertained a number of friends and relatives at dinner, Friday. Miss Roxy Early went to Eldora Thursday at which place and Hubbard she will visit a week before going to Des Moines to begin the season's work in the millinery store. E. H. Trease has been ill for a few days, but is better. Mrs. Frank O'Brien is reported as improving in health. Social services were held in the Christian church Sunday, the pastor still being under quarantine. Rev. Loucks will preach a sermon on "Spiritualism" in the Reformed church Sunday evening.

Mr. E. C. Clark, Mrs. Sada Boughly and Miss Etta Early visited Marshalltown Saturday. Miss Belle Scott came home from Radcliffe Saturday and visited until Monday. There was a men's meeting held in the Reformed church Sunday afternoon at which time important questions were up for discussion.

The Royal Neighbors of this village went to the John Lighter home four miles east of town, Tuesday, and passed the day most pleasantly with fraternal sociability, which was manifested in the abundant dinner which was served and the friendly converse indulged in later, when the diners regaled us of their vocal organs. Mr. and Mrs. Lighter will move to a farm near Marshalltown in the near future. Miss Rose Lincoln went to Marshalltown Friday evening to visit her mother, and did not return home until Monday morning.

A number from here, mostly school children and teachers, attended the spelling match and oratorical contest at Marshalltown Friday evening. Miss Minnie Melchior, of this place, was successful in winning second prize in the oratorical contest, which pleased her classmates accordingly.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. McFee entertained at dinner on Sunday, Mr. C. C. Church and family. The children of Rev. Frank Ovlatt are still in a precarious condition, the little girl being blind and the baby boy quite helpless from the disease, which is spinal meningitis. There seems as yet to be but faint hopes of their recovery.

Mrs. Grace O'Brien returned home to Webster City, Saturday, where she resumes her work in the telephone office. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen have moved into the section house. Mr. Prosser and family will occupy the Allen property.

A farewell party given in honor of Mrs. F. E. Somers and Mrs. R. A. Bonham was held at the Somers home Wednesday evening where a large crowd of old friends and neighbors gathered and spent the evening in games and music after which refreshments were served. The honored guests were asked to move from this place, and it is with much regret that their many friends see them go. A token of remembrance was presented Mrs. Somers and Mrs. Bonham.

wife, returned with him and remained until Sunday evening. Mrs. and Mrs. H. G. Lancaster and Mrs. and Mrs. D. B. Elliott attended a surprise silver wedding anniversary on Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Wheeler Thursday.

We failed to hear in time to report last week of the new son the star of the family at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bask, last Tuesday night. Our ever faithful mail carrier, Mr. John Gould, of Liscomb, failed to make his route on Wednesday of last week on account of the drifted roads. He generally gets thru if any of them do. Owing to the chickenpox, Elmer Schultz and Bertha Leichter, who were to have been two of the contestants in the spelling match at Marshalltown Friday evening, were not able to attend.

Tuesday the Royal Neighbors of Liscomb, had one of their good times, when they gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Leichter, bringing their own and family with them. Mr. Leichter's son moved to the McLeod farm in Taylor township. Mr. Riley Anderson returned Friday night from Wheeling, W. Va., where he has been spending the winter of the last season. He has decided to prefer to live his remaining years in good old Iowa.

Mrs. Cynthia McKibben, of Wisconsin, who has been visiting all winter at her son Riley's home at Marshalltown, will go south of Marshalltown, and to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taylor township, and Monroe and Finley, of Liscomb, went to Conrad Monday to visit her brother-in-law, Mr. T. McKibben, and nephew, Clarence.

Head left Sunday morning with a car of goods for Seymour, Mo., where he has bought a farm. He expected to meet in Marshalltown Mr. Farmer and son Otis, who formerly lived in this neighborhood, and who are now living on a farm near Kent, Minn., to a farm near Seymour.

On account of the prevalence of smallpox and other contagious diseases the North Star aid society was obliged to disperse with the annual dinner which it always has given every year, in honor of the members that move away the first of March. This year there were four, Mrs. J. T. Platters, who moves west of Rhodes; Mrs. L. L. Negley, who goes south of Marshalltown; Mrs. Roy Clark, who goes to Marshalltown, and Mrs. S. H. Roiston, who goes to Liscomb.

Mr. Adam Klinefelter held a very successful sale last week Wednesday. The children and family move did work to Waterloo to live, where he will engage in the buying and selling of stock. His son Oscar, has been attending the business college there since New Year's, and after the family wedding will return to Waterloo. Mr. Klinefelter and family will move to the new home, Mr. H. G. Thomas is moving to the new home, Mr. H. G. Thomas is moving to the new home, Mr. H. G. Thomas is moving to the new home.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

"I did not think you would come," he repeated, halting to rest on his crutches. He stood, balanced, staring dreamily into the dim perspective, and again her fascinated eyes ventured to rest on the worn white face, listless, somber in its fixity.

"The tears were very near her eyes; the spasm in her throat checked speech. At length she stammered, "I did not come because I simply couldn't stand it." His face cleared as he turned quietly. "Child, you must not confuse matters. You must not think of being sorry for me. The old order is passing—ticking away on every clock in the world. All that lapsed order of things is being reversed. You don't know what I mean, do you? Ah, well, you will know when I grow into something of what you think you remember in me and when I grow out of what I really was."

"Truly I don't understand, Stephen. But then—I am out of training since you went—went out of things. Have I changed? Do I seem more dull? I don't see—looking back across all the noise, all the chaos of the winter—I do not see how I stood it alone."

"Alone?" "Not seeing you—sometimes." He looked at her with smiling, skeptical eyes. "Didn't you enjoy the winter?" "Do you enjoy being drugged with champagne?" His face altered so quickly that, confused, she only stared at him, the fixed smile stamped on her lips; then, overwhelmed in the revelation: "Stephen, surely, surely, you know what I mean! I did not mean that! Dear, do you mean for one moment that—that I could?"

"No. You have not hurt me. Besides, I know what you mean." After a moment he swung forward on his crutches, hiding his lips, the frown gathering between his temples. They were passing the big, old fashioned hotel with its white facade and green lining, a lingering landmark of the older city.

"Well telephone here," he said. Side by side they went up the great, broad stoop and entered the lobby. "If you'll speak to Lella, I'll get Lella on the wire. Say that we'll stop for you at 7."

She gave her number; then, at the nod of the operator, entered a small booth. She was given another booth in a few moments. Plank answered from his office. His voice sounded grave and tired, but quickened, tinged with surprise, when Seward made known his plan for the evening.

"Is Mrs. Mortimer in town?" he demanded. "I had a wire from her that she expected to be here, and I hoped to see her at the station tomorrow of her way to Lenox." "She's stopping with Miss Landis. Can't you manage to come?" asked Seward anxiously.

"I don't know. Do you wish it particularly? I have just seen Quarrier and Harrington. I can't quite understand Quarrier's attitude. There's a certain hint of defiance about it. Harrington is all caved in. He is ready to thank us for any meritorious but Quarrier—there's something I don't fancy, don't exactly understand, about his attitude. That's why I've expected to spend a quiet evening, studying up the matter and examining every loophole."

"You've got to dine somewhere," said Seward. "If you could fix it to dine with us—But I won't urge you." "I'll go. Will you say that we'll stop for them at 7?" "I don't want to urge you," repeated Seward.

"You're not, I'll go. But—wait one moment—tell me, did Quarrier know that Mrs. Mortimer was to stop with Miss Landis?" "Wait a moment. Hold the wire." He opened the door of the booth and saw Sylvia waiting for him, seated by the operator's desk. She rose at once when she saw he wished to speak with her.

Hiram Powers property in town. A. A. Finders will move next week onto the Jake Powers farm, south of town. John Carter will move from the Powers farm into Ole Danielson's property in town.

J. N. Stevenson has traded his store here for property in Marshalltown. Roy Brooks visited a few days last week with friends in Grinnell. Mrs. John Donovan and daughter, of Glenburn, N. D., is visiting here with relatives. Mrs. Donovan is a niece of James Finders.

MINERVA. Feb. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nichols and son Lowell, of Greeley, are visiting at the home of the former's father, Mr. Warren Nichols. Several from this neighborhood attended the short course at Marshalltown Saturday.

Mr. Oliver Nichols accompanied a car load of cattle to Chicago Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. A. Breckinridge, of Clemons, spent Sunday as the guests of Mrs. Mary Elliott. Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Nichols, of Marietta, spent Sunday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Nichols. Mr. and Mrs. Dick Clay and daughter Alice spent Saturday in Marshalltown.

"Tell me something," he said in a low voice. "Did Mr. Quarrier know that Lella was to stay overnight with you?" "Yes," she answered quietly, surprised. "Why?" Seward nodded vaguely, closed the door again and said to Plank: "Yes, Quarrier knows it. Do you think he'll be there tonight? I don't suppose Miss Landis and Mrs. Mortimer know he is in town."

Plank's trouble-love came back over the wire. "I don't know. I don't know what to think. I suppose I'm a little, just a trifle, overworked. Somebody once said that I had one nerve in me somewhere, and Quarrier's probably found it. That's all." "If you think it better not to come—'I'll come. I'll stop for you in the motor. Don't worry, old fellow. And—take your fighting chance. Goodby." Seward, absorbed in his own thoughts, rose and walked slowly out of the booth, utterly unconscious that he had left his crutches leaning upright in the corner. It was only the surprise dawning into tremulous delight on Sylvia's face that at last arrested him.

"See what you have done," he said, laughing through his own surprise. "I've a mind to leave them there now and trust to your new cure." But she was instantly concerned and anxious and, entering the booth, brought out the crutches and forced him to take them.

"No flake now," she said decisively. "We have too much at stake this evening. Lella is coming. Isn't it perfectly delightful?" "Perfectly," he said, his eyes full of the old laughing confidence again. "and the most delightful part of it all is that you don't know how delightful it is going to be."

"Very well. Only I inform you that I mean to be perfectly happy. And that means that I'm going to do as I please. And that means—"
