 This ideal weather is making glad the hearts of the farmers as it insures them a bumper corn crop. The yield of oats in this section was good—thirty to sixty bushels per acre—and the quality was superb, overrunning in weight by almost every instance. Apples are abundant, very large and of fine quality. It is every alternate year that the apple crop is good. Peaches are quite plenty but plums are scarce. Potatoes are, I think, as a rule, a lighter crop than usual, but plenty for home consumption and some to spare. On the whole the good year 1908 has used us well in this part of the state.

 A lady from Minnesota writes: "As a result of using Danderine, my hair is close to five feet in length."

Beautiful Hair at Small Cost
 HAIR troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention it merits. If you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful, it would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment; when the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful. The natural thing to do in either case, is to feed and enrich the soil of scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

Knott's Danderine has a most wonderful effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is similar to the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp. It penetrates the pores quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-giving qualities. One 25-cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth, as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself.
