AN AERIAL STATION

COUNCIL BLUFFS OFFICIAL STOPPING PLACE IN TRANSCONTINENTAL ROUTE.

MACHINES WILL ALIGHT ON TOP OF HIGH HOTEL

Company Said to Have Been Formed to Operate Aeroplanes Between New York and Pacific Coast—Des Moines Also Will Be on the Air Route—Other News of the State.

Special to Times-Republican.

Council Bluffs, Feb. 3.—Council Bluffs is to be one of the official air-station stations on the Trans-Continental route to be established this year, and the matter has so far progressed that the roof of the Ogden hotel has been selected as the depot in this city, where aeroplanes traversing the country under the auspices of the manufacturers of flying machines, will stop and register. Charles E. Kimball, proprietor of the Ogden hotel, was approached some time ago with the proposition and after some hesitation, has agreed to it. The proposed route will extend across the continent from New York to San Francisco or Los Angeles. At a distance of every fifty or sixty miles stopping places will be arranged and the machines will touch at these points on their journey across the country. Recently an association of manufacturers of aeroplanes and flying machines of all kinds was formed and arrangements for the various depots was commenced. The scheme now under way purposes to promote several trans-continental races each year. Aviators from all over the world will be given inducements to participate in the events and from what can be learned of the scheme it is to be something similar to the Glidden tours promoted by American automobile manufacturers.

On the difficulties of aerial races this far has been to find suitable places to land for repairs or to take on supplies. It is to eliminate this difficulty that the stations are being provided. The highest building in the cities through which the route is laid is declared to offer the best station for a station and it was for this reason that the Ogden hotel building was selected. The machines in most instances can be stopped in a distance of twenty feet, but a clear space must be provided for the descent. The roof of the Ogden hotel is about 114 feet square and without difficulty a large platform will be built and such other alterations made as are required.

"I just recently decided to make the Ogden one of the stopping places," said Mr. Kimball. "I did not care to go into the matter until I knew that there was some certainty of the thing being a go. One of the leading hotels in Chicago has already made the necessary arrangements. I suppose it will be about the first of the year before everything is ready.

The first station west of Council Bluffs will probably be Lincoln. On the east the first stop will be Des Moines. Among the large cities in which there will be stations are Pittsburg, Cleveland, Chicago, Denver, Salt Lake City, and Ogden. A large sum of money has already been raised by the promoters and it is claimed that they spring every important manufacturer will be a member of the organization.

TEST FOR ENUMERATORS.

Applicants For Taking Census to Be Examined Saturday.

Special to Times-Republican.
Hampton, Feb. 3.—Applicants for positions as census enumerators in this county will have an opportunity on Saturday, Feb. 5, to test their ability to properly count the heads and return the statistics as required by the census bureau. On that date an examination will be held at the court room for those who wish to qualify as enumerators. It will be under the direction of T. W. Purcell, and is said to be but a simple test that should not be difficult for any one of ordinary intelligence. Applicants are to present themselves at 1 o'clock p. m.

COLLEGE AFTER IOWA MAN.

Prof. W. H. Pew Offered Directorship of New Hampshire Station.

Special to Times-Republican.
Ames, Feb. 3.—W. H. Pew, assistant professor of animal husbandry in Iowa State College, has just received an offer from the New Hampshire State College to take the position of director of the agricultural experiment station at that institution. The position in question is one of responsibility, such as is seldom tendered a man so young as Professor Pew.

Professor Pew graduated from the animal husbandry department of the Iowa State College in 1907 and was im-

Free Rheumatism Cure

A Home Cure Will Be Given FREE By One Who Had It.

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bed ridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I will send a free trial of this precious remedy by mail, postpaid to any sufferer who writes for it. Just fill out the coupon below and mail it to me today.

mediately elected professor of animal husbandry in the New Hampshire College. He made good and the Iowa College officials took him back to Ames, Sept. 1, 1909, and he has proven to be one of the competent, enthusiastic and popular instructors at the Iowa State College. Now New Hampshire comes back and offers him the highest agricultural position in her college. After careful consideration, Professor Pew has decided to remain at Ames and help carry on the work of the department, where his associations are most congenial and his untiring efforts fully appreciated.

ONAWA STAYS "DRY."

Applications for Four Saloon Permits Turned Down—Vote 5 to 3.

Special to Times-Republican.
Onawa, Feb. 3.—The city council of Onawa decided Monday night that the town should remain "dry" by refusing to grant the four saloon licenses asked for by M. M. Wise, Frank Wise, T. A. Cody and A. J. Heitman. The applications of the four men were voted on at one time and the vote resulted five to three for no saloons in Onawa.

It now seems that there will be little chance for the reinstatement of saloons here. An entire new city administration will be elected this spring and an effort will be put forth to elect a city council favorable to a "dry" town.

ASKS $10,000 DAMAGES

Miss Laura Molsberry, a School Teacher of Plymouth, Brings Suit Against Otto Christians, Prominent Business Man of Grafton, for Injuries in Auto Accident.

Special to Times-Republican.
Plymouth, Feb. 3.—Damages to the extent of $10,000 is the demand which Miss Laura Molsberry, a school teacher of Grafton, for injuries which she sustained in an auto accident last fall. Miss Molsberry has retained one of the prominent legal firms of Mason City to prosecute the action and they are at present working on the case. In the petition which has now been completed it is alleged by Miss Molsberry that she was struck by Christian's auto while walking along side of the roadway north of this place to her home in town from the rural schoolhouse where she was teaching. She alleges that the automobile was being driven at an unusual rate of speed and that it was the recklessness of the driver which caused her injuries. She also claims that the impact with which she was struck by the machine carried her fifty feet in front of the fender before the car was stopped.

The plaintiff claims to have suffered great bodily injuries from the accident and to have been dangerously ill for some time and has not as yet recovered from the effects.

This suit promises to be one of the most sensational ones in the county. Mr. Christians is one of the prominent business men of Grafton and a great stir was occasioned when the accident happened and many wild rumors were attached to the stories concerning the accident. He was accompanied by three well known men at the time. The trial will in all probability be brought up at the next term of the district court.

The independent grain men also feel that they have made a remarkable success of their mutual insurance company, having secured $571,000 of policies before a year has elapsed.

The grain dealers have had complaint against the railroad commission and the securing of sites is now easy. The railroad commission has aided greatly in bringing about this state of affairs.

The railroads will fight the order of the hauling commission in the matter of the hauling of cars belonging to other companies. It is probable that a test case will be made of the one

NEW LAWS LIKED

FARMER GRAIN DEALERS PLEASED WITH ANTI-DISCRIMINATION MEASURE.

NO COMPLAINTS NECESSARY SINCE LAW WAS ENACTED

Better Feeling Between Grain Men and Railroad Commission—Railroads to Fight Order of Commission Compelling Hauling of Cars of Other Companies.

Special to Times-Republican.

Des Moines, Feb. 3.—Before the annual convention of the farmer grain dealers of Iowa today the matter of the effect of the law passed at the last session of the legislature to forbid unfair discriminations was brought up and discussed. Members have given the law considerable attention the past winter. There have been no prosecutions reported; but the grain dealers feel that the very fact of the law being on the statute books has made it unnecessary to complain or to enter into price contests. The bill forbids unfair rates or price making on creamery products, grain and poultry. It will be recalled that an effort was made to include lumber. The chief complaint was in regard to creamery products. The centralizers were said to be destroying the co-operative creameries by cutting rates to kill off competition and then new lease of life. In fact it is confidently asserted by the independent grain dealers that in their long struggle with the line and company elevators they have never before held such a position of advantage.

The independent grain men also feel that they have made a remarkable success of their mutual insurance company, having secured $571,000 of policies before a year has elapsed.

The body of the late David M. Laird, a railroad grain buyer at Spencer and Struble, who died at his residence in Minneapolis, was brought to LeMars for interment on Saturday and buried beside his wife in the city cemetery. Mr. Laird was 80 years old at the time of his death.

Waterloo. Doty is receiving many letters from school men and women from all over Iowa commending him for suggesting a uniform dress for school children and expressing the wish that a law to that effect be passed. The senior girls of the Waverly high school voluntarily adopted uniform dress, wearing blue serge sailor suits. They like the innovation so well they regret they do not think of it before.

Northern Iowa Items

Hardy. Harry L. Beadell, a Hardy farmer, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with Commissioner McArthur. He says his debts are $557 and his assets $250.

Fort Dodge. Frank D. Peet, cashier of the State National Bank of Fort Dodge, has just purchased the Turner farm, about two miles east of the city, at $97.50 an acre.

Independence. Mrs. Ruth R. Campbell, one of the oldest residents of Independence and one of the wealthiest women of the county, is dead, after a protracted illness.

Charles City. Lou High has sold his 160 acre farm near Charles City for $127,500, an acre or the 150 acres for the sum of $23,000. This is one of the largest prices received for land in that county.

Trær. John Chaulupnick, who was injured in a railroad wreck on his way to Trær from California asks $1,000 damages from the company. He has been offered $50 in settlement.

Cherokee. The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hinman, of Golden, Colo., formerly of Cherokee, was run over by a bobbed at Golden and her left knee was literally mashed to pieces.

LeMars. Machinery in the mill of the Plymouth Roller Milling Company, LeMars, caught the clothing of John V. Spencer and after whirling him around many times threw him to the floor. He will live.

Webster City. The New Orpheum theater, at Webster City, formerly operated by Fred N. Martin, has been leased by Rogers & Woolwine, of Jefferson, who operate several leased moving picture theaters in Iowa.

Allison. The Allison school board has under consideration plans for the enlarging, remodeling and modernizing of the school building. The proposition may be submitted to the voters at the coming election.

Mason City. Ralph Pepper, an employe of the People's Electric Company, received 2,300 volts of electricity from a live wire and fell twenty feet to the ground. His flesh turned black, but he may live.

Alton. Night Watchman Charles Parks, of Alton, shot and nearly killed a hobbo giving the name of James Beck, in the railroad yards of Alton. There is little hope for the man's recovery. He is in a hospital at LeMars.

Eldora. C. D. Beck, of Marshalltown, who for the past thirteen months has been acting as secretary for Superintendent Kauer, has accepted a similar position with Dr. H. W. Emery. Mr. Beck came from Marshalltown here.

LeMars. William Price, indicted for grand larceny, pleaded guilty to stealing six which came from Davenport on the complaint of the Clark Coal and Coke Company. The commission directed that the Milwaukee Company had no right to refuse to accept cars of coal shipped from Illinois in cars of other companies and tendered to the Milwaukee for shipment to Iowa points. The company had claimed that this was interstate business and also that it could insist upon reloading in its own cars. The Iowa commission took ground more advanced than ever before by any state commission, in holding that the interstate character of the shipment ended when the cars were delivered to the consignee in Iowa, and that the railroad business is now so interwoven that the cars of all companies must be treated by all companies exactly alike. If this decision stands, and Mr. Eaton, the attorney of the board believes that it is impregnable, a long step will have been taken by Iowa in the breaking down of the unnatural barriers of trade and commerce which the courts have erected. But the commission now receives word that the Milwaukee company refuses to observe the order. The next step will be to go into court and enforce the same, which will give the courts a whack at the principle. No more important case has ever been before the state board.

Senator W. H. Berry, chairman of the parole board, will not participate in the pardon case of "Bill" Richards. Berry was called in as an attorney in the case to assist in selecting the jury which tried Richards, hence he is disqualified to act, and he is not sorry for the fact. It is probable that the late Senator Emmert, if he had lived, would also have considered himself disqualified, as he had personal knowledge of some matters which would have prevented a judicial determination of the application. Richards' application is backed by a great array of names of prominent persons, but the people of the county where he was employed are opposed to his parole. Hays to oppose the parole. The parole board will at its meeting next week consider and pass upon 148 cases now pending. Many of these cases are, however, only preliminary in nature, or are cases where the prisoner asks that his limit be now fixed for the sentence. In a few cases there will be direct and immediate parole. Although the business of the board has been much larger than was anticipated it has been admirably kept up.

State Auditor Bleakley is finding it difficult to get off the practices on the part of banks of the state which hinder the proper administration of the law. For instance it is known that there is a tendency to organize state or savings banks and national banks under one management and to mix their affairs, and this tends to a state or savings bank frequently placed practically all with its reserve in the national bank with which it is affiliated. Now the state auditor is required to pass on the sufficiency of the security for the reserve, but of course he can not look into the affairs of a national bank. The attorney general, whom the matter was referred, finds no way of handling a case like this other than by a conference of state and national examiners; and in fact, that was the purpose of a recent conference of these bank examiners, the office of the state auditor. Another practice of some of the banks is that of arranging with its correspondent to have a nominal transfer of government bonds made to the bank and be of record Jan. 1, under which arrangement an exemption is claimed from taxation. There seems to be no way to stop this save to make a case of palpable fraud and evasion of the law by jugsury.

"You may state for me and make it as emphatic as possible, that there was not a word of truth in the story which last week was published about a conference of Judge Prouty with Governor Carroll, and the story was not given out by me," said Secretary Nye of the governor's office. "It is not true that I gave out the story or that it was authorized. It was a sheer brain dream and without foundation." The story was printed in the evening paper which has assumed to be the organ of the governor and which is bitterly opposed to Senator Cummins. The effect of the story was to cause both Prouty and Carroll much embarrassment without any other effect than to lead a few unthinking persons to believe that Senator Cummins is undertaking to dispose of state politics.
