STRADDLED THE ISSUE
DECISION AS TO STUDENTS VOTING AT MT. VERNON NOT SATISFACTORY.
QUESTION PUT UP TO IOWA SUPREME COURT

Conflicting Decisions Quoted by Judge Treichler in Rendering Opinion That Does Not Decide—Point Never Ruled on by State's Highest Court—Other News of the State.

Special to Times-Republican.
Cedar Rapids, Feb. 11.—A few days ago in Linn county district court, Judge Treichler decided adversely to a Cornell College student who brought suit for damages against the Mt. Vernon election board for being denied the right to cast a ballot. It seems that Treichler's opinion was a square straddling of the issue, something unusual for a district judge in Iowa. The case was that of Lane vs. Mitchell, Neff and Smith. The testimony showed that Lane did not make his home with his parents, but went to Mt. Vernon to make his way thru school, and thought he had the right to vote there. Judge Treichler, however, left to the supreme court the question of the legality of the rejection of the young man's ballot.

Treichler quotes one case in Nebraska and one case in Pennsylvania, saying that if the Nebraska case were followed the verdict would be for the plaintiff, and if the Pennsylvania case were followed the verdict should be for the defendant. He then adds that because of the fact that there is no supreme court decision in Iowa directly deciding such cases, he will not decide the matter for himself but will refer it directly to the supreme court for their determination. The judge, however, goes into an analysis of what constitutes a legal voter, and says if certain conditions prevail the student is a voter, and if such conditions do not prevail the student is not a voter. Inasmuch as the evidence was of the most direct sort, the friends of the student are claiming that the judge should have rendered an opinion on the merits of the case, as he saw them.

SELLS FINE HOMESTEAD.
T. B. McGrath, Boone, Disposes of Farm to Educate Children.
Special to Times-Republican.
Boone, Feb. 11.—T. B. McGrath, has sold his splendid farm in this county and will remove over to near the Iowa State College at Ames, so as to give his children the best of educational opportunities. Mr. McGrath having amassed a fairly large fortune since starting in as a farmer, decided that he could use some of his money to advantage in offering to his children complete courses in the state agricultural college at Ames, second to none in the world.

Accordingly he disposed of his big farm, composed of 240 acres in Colfax township, for $125 per acre, making the amount of the transaction $30,000. The purchaser of this farm was a Mr. Kennedy, who comes from Illinois. He will shortly take possession, and will then occupy one of the finest farm properties in the state.

PASSING OF LEAGUE BALL.
Athletic Park at Cedar Rapids to Be Dismantled.
Special to Times-Republican.
Cedar Rapids, Feb. 11.—The Cedar Rapids baseball park, on the west side of the river, a park which has been used for baseball and carnival purposes for fifteen years, is to be dismantled completely. The ground has been purchased by a real estate firm, and will be platted and put on the market.

This marks the passing of league ball under conditions which so long obtained. There may be league ball this year, but if the city obtains entrance into a league this year or later, new grounds will be secured on the east side, and an entirely new equipment provided.

Coin.
While assisting with the work about the slaughter house, Robert Irvin met with a serious accident. He was trying to hang a dressed hog on the rack with several others, and slipped. In falling he pulled the rack with its heavy load down on top of him. The load was of such great weight it crushed him badly and among the worst injuries three ribs were loosened from the back.

Defiance.
While Fred Wetherly, the 12-year-old son of David Wetherly, a prosperous farmer, was in the feed yard about the cattle along with another boy about his age, he got kicked down in some way and had his leg fractured just below the knee. It is not known just how it was done, whether the cattle got scared and ran over him or a bull in the lot pitched at him. The boys were so scared they can not tell.

Colfax.
John Patterson died here of pneumonia, which resulted from an accident a week before. He was employed in the coal company miners' store and was assisting to unload a wagon load of flour. The driver in turning a corner upset the load, Mr. Patterson being caught under the weight of several sacks of the flour, was injured about the chest. He was 27 years old, and leaves a widow and child.

QUACK GRASS MENACE
NORTHERN IOWA FARMERS WARNED TO KEEP FIELDS CLEAN.
THREATENED WITH PEST UNLESS ACTION IS TAKEN

Ames Expert Says It Will Cost Land Owners From $12 to $15 Per Acre to Get Rid of Grass Unless Spread is Stopped—Horse Nettle Bad in Southern Iowa.

Waterloo, Feb. 11.—Between seventy-five and one hundred farmers, township trustees, road supervisors, and citizens of Waterloo, assembled at the court house Thursday to listen to a couple of addresses. Professor Campbell of Ames, agricultural college, delivered a lecture on weeds and how to eradicate them.

Professor Campbell's address was an easily understood. He was logical in his treatment, taking up the definition of a weed, the various kinds, their uses and abuses, their reproduction, and how to eradicate them.

A weed is commonly applied to a plant in field or forest for which we have no particular use, but this is a mistake, said Mr. Campbell. A weed in the true sense is a plant that is detrimental to agriculture and horticulture. There are three kinds of weeds—annual, biennial and perennial. The annual is the kind that germinates, flowers and goes to seed the same year; the biennial germinates one year and sends out the flower the next, such as pusley, wild carrot, etc.; the perennial grows in groups such as quack grass, Canadian thistle, etc.

Professor Campbell said that northern Iowa is threatened with the quack grass pest and unless the farmer takes good care of his property it will cost from $12 to $15 an acre to rid himself of the rapidly growing pest. The southern part of the state must combat the horse nettle with equal tenacity.

ANTY DRUDGE

Anty Drudge at a Wedding.
Anty Drudge—"My present is a homely one, Dearie, just a box of Fels-Naptha soap. But if you use it in the Fels-Naptha way, it will lighten your work and bring more happiness than any silverware or bric-a-brac."
The Bride—"Thank you truly, Anty Drudge. I shall follow your advice faithfully."

Woman's work is being made easier. Take the weekly wash, for instance. It used to be an all day job, with the woman getting up at 5 o'clock in the morning to heat water for boiling clothes. Now, she washes with Fels-Naptha soap in cold or lukewarm water, and the whole washing takes little longer than half the time of the old way.

No boiling, no steaming suds, no hard-rubbing; and the clothes are cleaner and fresher than ever before. Then, too, the clothes last longer when washed with Fels-Naptha—a lot of mending saved.

Follow directions for using Fels-Naptha on the red and green wrapper.

Comment is sometimes made that Fels-Naptha soap will not wash greasy dishes, pots and kitchen utensils without hot water. But those who understand how Fels-Naptha is to be used do all their kitchen work regularly with lukewarm or cold water.
