He was a native of Whitestown, Ind., where he was born Feb. 14, 1838.
Mr. Isenhower served in Company D, Thirty-first Iowa infantry, enlisting at LaPorte July 23, 1862. He was discharged at the same place June 27, 1865.
The home records show Mr. Isenhower to have a brother, David L. Isenhower, and a sister, Mrs. B. A. Carr, living at LaPorte. It was learned, however, that both these relatives are not now in LaPorte. Accordingly a nephew, Charles Isenhower, at Waterloo, was notified.

BOTTLES IN THE PULPIT.
[Sioux City Journal.]
Down at Greenfield, in Adair county, this state, a Methodist preacher appeared in his pulpit with a supply of empty bottles—estimated by one writer to be a bushel—at one time supposed to be filled with liquor agreeable to the bibbler, which were gathered by his little son in the alley back of the parsonage; and there were others too far imbedded in the ice to be rescued in time. The whole congregation was moved to sit up and take notice, while the preacher pursued his advantage to deliver a sermon on the evils of intemperance. It is hardly presumable that all the alloys in the town carried an equal supply of castaways, and therefore curiosity introduces an interesting side issue concerning the partially exhibited for the parsonage alley as a convenient repository. No one in Greenfield thinks of charging the parson with criminous association. Theorizing must be projected on other ground. Whatever may relate to the garbage question in Greenfield, the thing remaining is that Greenfield, the contrary, is not strictly temperate.

A Few Horse Don'ts.
Don't ask me to "back" with blinds on; I'm afraid to.
Don't let some blockhead drive me that has less sense than I have.
Don't run me down a steep hill, for if anything should give way I might break your neck.
Don't whip me when I get frightened or I will expect it next time and may make you trouble.
Don't drive me with an "overcheck" on; the sun hurts my eyes and I can't see where to step. It's inhuman and cruel.

Too Much Water on the Hair a Mistake
(From Toilettes of Today, Paris.)
"If your hair is becoming dry and brittle, breaking off and losing color, follow the lead of the many who have abandoned the use of soap and water and taken up the new method of dry shampooing," said Claribel Montague in her lecture on "Beauty" at the Theater Monnet, Thursday. "It has been proven beyond question that too frequent wetting and the application of alkaline substances to the hair is a mistake.
"Even those who formerly were devoted to shampooing with eggs now use therax and orris root, and they unhesitatingly declare that this dry shampoo makes the hair as bright and fluffy as ever did eggs.
"To make the dry shampoo mix four ounces of powdered orris root with four ounces of therax. Sprinkle a tablespoonful of the mixture on the head and brush it well thru the hair. Do this once or twice a week if the hair is thin and scanty and you will soon notice a new growth of hair. Nothing will make the hair so beautifully fine and lustrous as this dry shampoo."
