RURAL CARRIER PROBLEMS.

Postal Official Advises Delivery of Registered Mail at Doors of Patrons.

Special to Times-Republican.

Council Bluffs, Feb. 23.—With rural letter carriers from five counties in southwestern Iowa present the Postmaster's Association held a successful convention here yesterday. Avoca was selected as the place of holding the next meeting. Labor day the date and the following officers were elected: President—C. S. Overturf, Shelby; vice presidents—W. H. Coon, Avoca; N. A. Chrisman, Neola; secretary-treasurer—Charles S. Gue, Portsmouth; director for three years—M. A. Hubbs, Weston; delegate to state convention—C. S. Overturf, Shelby.

Among the speakers was R. B. Mundell, of Washington, assistant superintendent of the money order department of the postoffice department. In addition to his address the carrier had elicited information of general interest. He said carriers must deliver registered mail within half a mile of their routes, but should measure the distance by the route they were compelled to take. The question of delivery of registered mail was discussed at length and the carrier had to open and close gates, is one now under advisement by the department, said Mr. Mundell. He said he did not think carriers should be required to make such deliveries, but advised them to obey their postmasters pending a ruling on the question.

A "Good Roads Dinner" was given in connection with the meeting, at which there were a number of speakers.

COMBATting INSANITY PLEA.

Strong Case Being Made in Prosecution of Nels.

Des Moines, Feb. 23.—County Attorney Thomas Guthrie is slowly battering down Nellie Taylor's plea of insanity. By a rapid fire process of cross examination, Mr. Guthrie succeeded in weakening much of the testimony offered in behalf of the pretty Ottumwa girl who is charged with the murder of her baby and is on trial for the crime before Judge DeGraff of the criminal division of the district court.

J. M. Parsons and J. E. Jaques, attorneys for Mrs. Taylor, sought to prove by witnesses introduced yesterday that Mrs. Taylor was insane at the time she murdered her baby by strangling it and throwing it into a vault in Union Park last summer. Going further than that, the attorneys sought to prove that her insanity is of long duration, not manufactured to suit the occasion, and that her mind has been unsound for years.

From each of the witnesses called Mr. Guthrie succeeded in extracting statements to the effect that the girl had not been considered insane prior to the time she murdered her baby, and that her impressions that she was of unsound mind were largely formed events which came to their minds after Mrs. Taylor was accused of the crime.

Henry Lowe Estate to Be Devoted to Widow During Her Lifetime—Children Will Then Make Equal Division—Remarkable Gathering in Lawyers' Office—Other Iowa News.

Council Bluffs, Feb. 23.—Families of twelve are not common in these days, and it is still more notable when twelve children in one family attain maturity. Henry Lowe, a prominent farmer of Honey Creek, who died on Feb. 3, left, besides his widow, twelve children, all of them of mature age. In connection with the administration of Mr. Lowe's estate there were assembled in the office of C. F. Kimball in this city a few days ago the widow, all of the twelve children and the husbands and wives of all the children, except the wives of three of the sons, two residents of Colorado and the other in Harrison county. The company included therefore twenty-two persons.

Mr. Lowe left to his heirs a farm of about 260 acres, besides other property. Without a single dissension an agreement was reached, whereby the estate was given to the widow during the remainder of her life. At her death it is to be equally partitioned between the twelve children. This agreement was embodied in probate proceedings, which have been instituted in the district court.

MONSTROUS KEOKUK DAM.

Lumber Bought for Big Cement Power Dam Across Mississippi.

Special to Times-Republican.

Keokuk, Feb. 23.—Work on the big dam across the Mississippi river for development of electric power is being pushed. A contract has been let for the lumber for the big cement shed which will be built here at once. That this building will be a massive one of its kind is shown by the fact that it calls for about 100,000 feet of lumber, which will require six cars to bring in. The timbers are special sawed and of huge dimensions. In size it will be 145 feet long 35 feet wide and 12 feet high and will have a capacity of 10,000 barrels of cement. The excavating has already been done and the building up work will commence just as soon as the lumber can be placed on the grounds.

Two complete steam derricks are now on the road and will be here ready for business next week, which will enable the constructors to handle the heavy material easily and rapidly.

The quarry at Hamilton right at the site of the dam, is turning out fine and the development of it is being pushed rapidly as the "shooting" which is now a familiar sound to Hamilton people, would indicate. More dump cars will be there in a few days, and the quarry operations will be continued, as the amount of stone to be used in the coming work will be enormous.
