

Constipation Cure Free

With the first signs of constipation you resort to the home methods of relief, such as hot or cold water on arising, lots of stewed fruit with your breakfast, etc., but what do you do when these fail?

The majority then start on salts and purgative pills, but change to cathartic pills, etc. If you have gone through these various stages you know they were all useless, so far as permanent results go. Now you should try just once again, but try something natural and sensible, a remedy made and intended for the purpose you are trying to accomplish. Such a remedy, as thousands can testify, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is guaranteed to be permanent in its results. Its ingredients are such that by a brief use of it the stomach and bowel muscles are trained to again do their work normally, and that the end you can do away with medicines of all kinds. That it will do this Mr. G. Y. Dodson of San Jose, Va., writes to the editor of the San Jose News, and will Mrs. S. A. Hampton of Portage, O. To those who are still skeptical there is a way to test these assertions without a penny of expense: Simply send your name and address to Dr. Caldwell and obtain a free sample bottle. After using it if you are then convinced it is the remedy you need, buy a fifty-cent or one-dollar bottle of your druggist and continue to use it for a brief time until cured. The directions are simple and the dose is small. It does not gripe and is promptly effective, and these statements are guaranteed or money will be refunded.

This remedy is over a quarter of a century old and is personally taken by more druggists than any other similar remedy on the American market. Because of its effectiveness, purity and pleasant taste it is the ideal remedy for constipation, women and old folks generally. Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, but this is absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 1508 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Dr. Miley will be in his office at the State Hotel on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 12 and 13. Hours 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. Come early.

CANNON-AIDE OF HOUSE

LAFOLLETTE'S MAGAZINE MERCILESSLY SCORES WALTER I. SMITH, OF IOWA.

HIS "BRUTAL BETRAYAL OF PUBLIC INTERESTS"

LaFollette Shows That Iowa Has Been Consistent Supporter of "System" in Its Subsidy-Grabbing Efforts—Opposed Important Roosevelt Measures.

Madison, Wis., April 8.—President Roosevelt's merciless exposure of Congressman Walter I. Smith, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, two years ago, paled into insignificance today with the issue of LaFollette's Weekly Magazine containing a lurid picture of Smith's "brutal betrayal of public interests," under the facetious caption: "Cannon-aide of the House." Smith's record in favor of the moneyed interests has been given more regularly than that of Cannon, or Tawney, according to LaFollette.

"During Smith's first session in the house of representatives, his votes on three measures show how thoroughly he was already imbued with the 'divine right of big business to rule,'" says Senator LaFollette.

"The first of these measures was the Ridgely bill to restrict the definition of 'unlawful conspiracy,' as applied to labor unions, and to prevent the abuse of the power of injunction in labor disputes. The bill was reported by Littlefield from the judiciary committee, so evasively as to defeat its purpose, and Smith voted to put it on its passage in that form without opportunity for amendment. Even such doughty systemites as Cannon, Jenkins and Tawney, dodged the vote and answered 'present.'"

"In the second session of the Fifty-first congress, Smith spoke in behalf of the famous congressional mileage grab of congress—'to pay congressmen out of the public treasury $145,000 for constructively traveling to their homes during the minutes between two sessions of congress, at the generous rate of 20 cents a mile, both ways, Washington to Council Bluffs and return is something over 2,600 miles.'"

"Of all the system schemes to get into the treasury of the United States for subsidies, bonuses, and grafts for 'American shipping' not the least subtle nor the most reprehensible was the shipping bill of the second session of the Fifty-eighth congress to give the shipping combine a monopoly of all ocean transportation of government freights. It would cost the public about twice as much as competitive shipping, but it meant millions for special interests. Smith voted for the special interests!"

"Also in the next congress Smith voted twice on ship subsidy for the same interests."

Opposed Roosevelt Measures. Smith's consistent opposition to Roosevelt's reform program is depicted in detail. He opposed the feature of the Hepburn-Dolliver railroad bill demanded by President Roosevelt to appropriate $700,000 to provide for uniform railroad accounting and publicity under the supervision of the interstate commerce commission.

"President Roosevelt said, in his message to congress, that failure to provide such an appropriation 'would amount to an attack on the law at its most vital point, and would benefit, as nothing else could benefit, those railways which are corruptly and incompetently managed,'" says Senator LaFollette.

"But those railways which are corruptly and incompetently managed," and also those railways which by concealment are able to rob the people thru extortionate charges, are of the system. Hence the system was against this measure. So Tawney and Smith suffered an attack of economy—not the kind of economy they experienced when railroad 'special facilities' graft and congressional mileage grabs were being appropriated. And they stood together in the committee, where the public could not witness, to defeat an adequate appropriation to enforce the law which they had voted for when an intelligent public sentiment was watching congress. The bill which they reported carried $50,000 for the work for which the commission said $700,000 should be allowed.

"On the floor of the house an amendment was offered to increase the amount to $350,000. Against this amendment Tawney and Smith fought for two days. In the course of his speech against it, Smith states that while he had joined in reporting the bill carrying $50,000, he was opposed to any appropriation whatever for this specific purpose. Finally, however, the friends of railway regulation won, and the amendment increasing the appropriation was adopted in spite of Tawney and Smith and their kind."

After showing Smith's opposition to Roosevelt's methods of exposing land thieves by a secret service force, Senator LaFollette concludes: "Tool of the System. In the present session he sought to prevent an invasion of the speaker's power of committee appointment in the selection of the Ballinger-Pinehot investigating committee. Naturally, with his record in favor of land, coal, oil, and asphalt grabbing by the system he wanted Cannon to have the power to pack the committee to 'investigate' the conservation fight. Naturally, too, he was keenly interested in the preservation intact of the prerogatives of the house czarship. Is not the system about at the point of being obliged to dump Speaker Cannon? And is not Smith himself in the king row, and one of the two most generally regarded as the appointed of the system for the session?"

"So it came about, more recently, in the fight for a reform of the Cannon rules in which the insurgents forced the adoption of a new rule for an elective rules committee, that Smith was in the thick of the fray fighting for Cannonism against the people's cause. On every roll call in that stubborn battle in which Iowa furnished six good insurgent votes, Smith voted with Cannon and Cannonism. And when Cannon and Cannonism were defeated in the voting in the house and the system servitors declared their determination to retain control of the house committee, and thru their control of a majority in the republican caucus, it was found when the votes were counted that Smith headed the list.

"Verily, the system saves its own."

SEEK CORNER ON EGGS.

Seventy-Two Million Withdrawn Into Storage to Keep Up Prices. Chicago, April 7.—Seventy-two million eggs have been taken off the open market in order to keep prices at their present high level, and an attempt is being made to corner the entire crop of 1910 so that big prices may be sustained for at least twelve months to come.

These are statements made by a local egg merchant yesterday. It was further stated that packers were back of the movement and that one of their chief objects was to curtail the immediate consumption of eggs in order to increase the demand for meats during the hot weather months.

It is said the entire central west is being combed for fresh eggs, the object of going into the country for supplies being to keep receipts at market points down to moderate volume and check any downward tendency of prices to the consumer.

"Any one at all conversant with the egg business will admit that the present high prices are not justified by the usual law of supply and demand for legitimate purposes," said this merchant. "The trade here believes that the meat packers are making an effort to force eggs to such a high level that there may be expected only a limited consumption of eggs to take the place of meat during the spring and summer."

"Receipts of eggs are exceptionally heavy. Last week there were contained in Chicago 187,233 cases, receiving thirty dozen eggs each. Total receipts were 75,933 cases in excess of arrivals a year ago and 24,500 cases larger than two years ago. The present wholesale price is 22 cents a dozen while a year ago, in spite of smaller receipts, it was 23 cents a dozen, and two years ago 15 1/2 and 16 cents."

"In order to keep prices here at a high level, the representatives of the 'trust' are paying in the west, where they are apparently attempting to drive out all the small operators, a price equal to 30 cents per case more than can be obtained in the open market here."

FRIGHTENED OUT OF $200,000?

Woman Says Threats to Produce Former Husband Scared Her.

Atlantic City, N. J., April 7.—Clinging and have been scared into signing away her rights to over $200,000 for $23,000, of which $8,000 went to her lawyers, Mrs. Mary A. Maguire, widow of Harry Maguire of Philadelphia, here entered suit in the chancery court here to recover her full share of the estate left by Edward T. Maguire, a millionaire Philadelphia whisky manufacturer and father of her late husband.

Mrs. Maguire made a sensation when she declared that she was frightened into signing away her rights to her husband who had been missing eighteen years, and was supposed to be dead when she married Maguire.

The husband was never produced and the woman is asking that the agreement which she was frightened into signing to escape the threatened charge of bigamy be set aside.

"HELLO" CAPITAL BOOSTED.

Iowa Telephone Company Votes Increase From $200,000 to $1,000,000. Des Moines, April 7.—The capital stock of the Iowa Telephone Company was voted to be increased from $200,000 to $1,000,000 at a meeting of the directors at the company's offices here. The additional stock is to be utilized in raising the bonded debt and in supplying additional working capital.

The president's report to the stockholders showed a total gain of telephones connected to the system during the year of 1909 of 67,386, totaling the phones in the state at 330,451. General Manager McFarland stated that the consolidated Iowa and Mutual phones will be issued about June 1. The construction of the new exchange in University Place will begin today.

HUSBAND WIFE'S "PROPERTY?"

Strange Point Raised in Appeal to Supreme Court.

Washington, April 7.—Whether a husband may be considered the "personal property" of his wife is one of the questions at stake in the suit of Mrs. Josephine King against the Southern Railway Company, argued before the supreme court. The suit is for damages. In 1903 Mrs. King, her husband, A. O. King, and her daughter, Miss Inez, were riding along a country road in Georgia. A high bank obscured the tracks of the Southern Railway Company. As they got squarely upon the track a train struck them, killing King and injuring the wife and daughter. Mrs. King got damages in the state courts for injuries to her person. She also sued on the claim of her husband. It is this suit which was argued here before the supreme court.

In the lower court the railroad company contended that the recovery in the state court for injuries to her person estopped Mrs. King from maintaining an action for the death of her husband.

The circuit court, in passing on the judgment of Mrs. King for $3,250 for the death of her husband, considered the argument by the railroad.

The contention is made that the injuries to the person of the wife and the loss occasioned by the death of her husband," said the court, "constitutes a single cause of action and that separate actions will not lie. This contention appears to be seriously made, but in the practice and procedure of the several states it would appear to be a legal novelty without law or precedent. If it be conceded that the deceased husband was the 'personal property' of the plaintiff herein, then the contention would be supported by the decisions of every state court but one.

"Where injuries to the person and the physical property of the injured party occur out of the single tort, then, and in that event, the tort to the person and the property constitutes a single cause of action, and, as previously suggested, the same would be presented in a single suit. This is the English view and the holding is the same in all American courts with the one exception.

"The declaration that the husband is the 'personal property' of the wife is not the function of court or text writers. The rule as to a single cause of action has no application where the injury is suffered in a different capacity or by different persons."

BANKER AMONG GRAFTERS.

President of Pittsburg Institutions Indicted.

Pittsburg, April 7.—The climax in the Pittsburg graft exposures came as promised, with the presentation by the grand jury of a lengthy report in which it recommended the indictment of Frank N. Hoffstot, president of the Pittsburg Steel Company, and one of the most prominent business men in the country.

Simultaneously in open court came a plea of Emil Winter, president of the Workingmen's Savings and Trust company, that he had no defense to make to the charge that he gave a $30,000 bribe to former Councilman Morris Elstein.

The banks named as ultimate principals to profit by the bribes alleged to have been paid by Hoffstot to Elstein, are the Farmers' Deposit National bank, the Second National of Pittsburg, and the German National of Allegheny. In addition to these three the Columbia National of Pittsburg, the German National of Pittsburg, and the Workingmen's Savings and Trust, are named as city depositaries in the ordinance passed on July 9, 1908, over the mayor's veto.

The nolle contended made by President Emil Winter of the Workingmen's Savings and Trust Company was no less sensational than the reports of previous days.

When Winter appeared in court Judge R. S. Frazer, who is presiding in the graft cases, asked to be excused from hearing the plea. Judge Frazer explained that on account of his long and intimate friendship with Mr. Winter, he wished to have nothing to do with the case. Winter was then taken before Judges Thomas D. Carnavan and J. M. Swearingen and entered the formal plea. Sentence was postponed.

Frank N. Hoffstot, as president of the Pittsburg Steel Company, recently figured prominently in the public eye while a strike was on at his plant in Akers. During the long months of suspension there were many riots and many persons killed, and the state troopers were called out.

BREWER'S LIFE RISK $30,000.

Will of Late Justice Leaves Insurance to Three Daughters.

Washington, April 7.—Justice David J. Brewer, who died suddenly last week, carried $30,000 of life insurance. This was made out to his first wife, and thru the will of the late justice goes to his three daughters. After disposing of keepsakes to his grandchildren Justice Brewer leaves the house in which he lived at 1923 Sixteenth street, N. W., to his widow, Mrs. Emma M. Brewer, and a cottage at Thompson's Point, Va., on Lake Champlain, with its contents, is left to his three daughters, Mrs. Harriet B. Johnson, Mrs. Henrietta B. Kariak and Mrs. Elizabeth B. Wells.

SHAFT FOR CLEVELAND SIMPLE.

No Mention of High Office on Princeton Cemetery Monument.

Princeton, N. J., April 7.—With no mention in the inscription of the fact that he was at one time president of the United States, but reading merely "David Cleveland, born Caldwell, N. J., March 18, 1837; died Princeton, N. J., June 24, 1908," a monument to the memory of former President Cleveland was completed yesterday on his grave in the Princeton cemetery. Beside it was placed a marble slab to mark the grave of Ruth Cleveland, his daughter. It, too, bears a simple inscription. Both stones were erected at the direction of Mrs. Cleveland.

NOVEL GUN DEVICE

SULPHURIC ACID BY-PRODUCT TO BE USED TO DISCHARGE CANNON.

SPARK PRODUCED BY LIGHT SETS FIRE TO CHARGE

Therefore W. J. Hammer, an Electrical Engineer, Declares Searchlights of Hostile Warships Could Set Off Charge That Would Destroy Them.

William J. Hammer, a consulting electrical engineer of New York city, explained to the students of Stevens Institute, at Hoboken, N. J., the other day an interesting theory as to the value of selenium, a byproduct of sulphuric acid, in time of war.

By the use of this product, he declared, the moment the searchlights of an enemy's warship fell upon it a shot would be fired automatically down the path of light flashed by the approaching warship.

Possesses Remarkable Property.

Selenium, which was first discovered in 1817 by Berzelius, who obtained it from crystals formed in the lead chambers of sulphuric acid works, possesses the remarkable property, Mr. Hammer said, of being an excellent insulator in the dark, but of becoming an excellent conductor to an electric current when exposed to light. Mr. Hammer used Newark, N. J., as an example of a city which might be defended to advantage by cannon controlled by selenium cells.

"Cannon," he said, "equipped with a box on the carriage containing a selenium cell could be mounted on prominent earthworks, with their muzzles pointed down the bay of New York. In the dark or the dim light from small reflectors the selenium cell would not conduct a spark from a battery in the box to the powder, but this would take place the instant a powerful searchlight from a battleship fell upon the cell, changing it from being a poor to an excellent conductor. The gun's aim would probably be correct, as the straight beam from the ship shone on it, with the result that the hostile war vessel would itself set off the charge which would sink it."

Possibilities of Selenium.

Mr. Hammer then told the students that if any of them ever had any idea of going into the burglary business it would be well to ascertain if the bank safes had any selenium cells concealed about them, for an alarm might be given miles away the moment the intruder's bulleye fell on one of the cells. He showed how by means of selenium cells apparatus could be simply constructed for measuring light, X rays, radium rays, and in controlling electric and other machines, operating boats, turning on and off lights, automatically lighting and extinguishing buoys and street lights, closing buildings automatically in the event of fire and doing many other wonderful things which the scientific world is just beginning to realize dimly.

Mr. Hammer said he could not help thinking of the possibilities of selenium when seeing an attendant in a skyscraper building laboriously closing the shutters at the end of the day. By means of a selenium cell an apparatus could be devised, he said, which would instantly and automatically close all the shutters at once as soon as darkness came. He also showed how distant lights in a village could be lighted without the use of wires simply by the fading daylight and extinguished when the sun rose the next day.
