

RAILROAD BILL GETS THRU HOUSE

AMENDED MEASURE OF ADMINISTRATION PASSED BY VOTE OF 200 TO 126.

MERGER CLAUSE REJECTED BY NARROW MARGIN

Effort to Tack on Senate Provision Permitting Companies to Purchase Stock of Iowa Competing Lines Rejected, 169 to 160—Effort to Recommend Fails.

Washington, May 10.—The administration railroad bill today passed the house, 200 to 126.

A motion to recommit the bill in the house was defeated, 157 to 176.

The house, 169 to 160, today defeated an amendment to the railroad bill authorizing the acquisition by railroad companies of stock of non-competing transportation lines.

Insurgent Vote Divided.

The railroad bill promptly was promptly placed before the house today for final action. The previous question upon the entire measure being ordered, an amendment offered authorizing the acquisition by railroads of stock of non-competing companies was defeated. The vote of the insurgents was divided, and some democrats voted for, and some republicans against it. By a viva voce vote the house agreed to the bill as amended in committee of the whole, and Adamson, of Georgia, representing the minority, moved to recommit bill with instructions to report it back to the house with committee court provision stricken out. This was defeated, 157 to 176. The insurgents voted almost solidly with the regular republicans against the motion.

How They Voted.

On motion to recommit the bill these republicans voted with the democrats: Cary and Lemrot, of Wisconsin; Davis, Lindberg and Nelson, of Minnesota; Fowler, of New Jersey; Gronna, of North Dakota; Norris, of Nebraska; Poindexter, of Washington; Woods, Haugen and Hubbard, of Iowa. Havens, the newly elected democrat, from New York state, was the only democrat who voted with the republicans against recommitment.

Insurgents Vote For Bill.

On the roll call the railroad bill passed, 200 to 126. The announcement was greeted with applause by the republicans. The regular republicans and insurgents voted solidly in the affirmative, fourteen democrats joining them in voting for the bill. These democrats were: Bartlett, of Nevada; Gardner, Gillespie and Hardy, of Texas; Havens, of New York; Hughes, of New Jersey; Jamieson, of Iowa; Kitchin, of North Carolina; Nichols, of Pennsylvania; Page and Pou, of North Carolina; Russell and Smith, of Texas, and Saunders, of Virginia.

Two Important Changes.

The railroad greenback clause and the provision permitting railroads to purchase stock of non-competing transportation companies were the chief features of the measure as reported to the house by the committee on interstate and foreign commerce that were stricken out by the house. In the measure as drafted by Attorney General Wickensham at the instigation of President Taft and later amended in committee were but slightly changed during its passage thru the house. Sections to provide for the retention of the work sum appropriated by the bill which the president has signed. The bill contemplates that work shall be done by the engineer corps of the army. An officer of a wrecking company which sent its wrecking steamer to the scene directly after the disaster says the work will consume a full year and will cost a considerable sum beyond the appropriation. According to naval officers here it is unlikely the contract will be let to any private concern, because of the international interest that attaches to the vessel.

THEY'RE MAD ABOUT IT.

Glasgow Dealers to Retaliate For Failure to Secure U. S. Coal Contracts.

Glasgow, Scotland, May 10.—Piqued at the failure of their bids to secure a part of the recently placed contracts for coal for the United States navy, local coal merchants, who are also ship owners, today compacted not to quote below a certain rate for coal carriage. By this move they hope to make the American contractor recoup them in part for the loss of the anticipated profits in the fuel itself.

PROBING DIABOLICAL CRIME.

Denver Police Seeking Solution of Woman's Murder in Marital Records.

Denver, Colo., May 10.—The records of Mrs. Katherine Wilson and her husband, Ridgeway Wilson, as well as that of Mrs. Wilson's first husband, John T. Higginson, from whom she was divorced nine years ago, are being investigated by the police here, in an effort to find a clue to the mystery surrounding the murder of Mrs. Wilson.

Her body was found late yesterday, jammed into a packing case in the basement of the house into which the Wilsons were moving.

Mrs. Wilson had been strangled to death, apparently, with a wet window cloth. In the center of her forehead was a V shaped cut, white cuts on each side of this marked the temples.

LONDON BECOMING NORMAL.

Interest in Cabinet Meeting, But Little Done—Removal of King's Body. London, May 10.—The city is again assuming a comparatively normal aspect. The chief attention today was centered in the meeting of the cabinet. It does not appear, however, that the ministers gave any special consideration to the grave political questions now pending.

It has been decided that the removal of the body of King Edward to Westminster hall next Tuesday will be accompanied with considerable of ceremonial and the cortege will be an imposing military spectacle.

EXCUSES DOLLAR WHEAT

North Dakota Agricultural Expert Compares Conditions Now and Ten Years Ago—Land Values Up, Productivity Lessened.

Washington, May 10.—In an effort to prove that the farmer is not reaping the benefits of the high cost of foodstuffs, John H. Shephard, dean of the North Dakota Agricultural College at Fargo, today gave some expert testimony before the senate special investigating committee. His figures were based upon a comparison of present-day values with ten years ago. In one breath he admitted land had increased in value 150 per cent and clarified the producing capacity had decreased 20 per cent. Retail prices of agricultural machinery had advanced 19 per cent and labor 60 per cent. As the price of labor advances, efficiency decreases, he said. Finally Shephard said dollar wheat today was worth no more than 80-cent wheat ten years ago.

Weight of Feeds by Quarts.

Dairymen especially will be interested in knowing the weight of the several feeds by quarts, inasmuch as in compounding dairy rations the terms are expressed in pounds: Cotton-seed oil, 1.5 pounds; linseed meal, old process, 1.1 pounds; gluten meal, 1.7 pounds; gluten feed, 1.2 pounds; wheat bran, coarse, 8-10ths pound; wheat middlings, coarse, 8-10ths pound; wheat middlings, fine, 1.1 pounds; mixed wheat, feed, 6-10ths pound; corn meal, 1-5 pounds; oats, 12 pounds; rye bran, 8-10ths pound.

Making Walls Tight.

Alum and lye applied to the exterior surface of cement walls with a calcimining brush has been found effective in keeping out water. "Use 1 pound of lye and 3 pounds of alum dissolved in 2 gallons of water." A very effective method of preventing moisture thru walls that extend beneath the surface of the ground is the application of two coats of coal tar to the exterior surface of the wall, the coating to extend well above the surface of the ground.

A Rather Dull Pearl.

There is an anecdote in J. A. Hamerton's "George Meredith in Anecdotes and Criticism," which hints at the possibility of the great novelist's fountain of talk being sealed at times. A lady who had friends in Surrey who were on terms of some intimacy with the novelist was greatly charmed on one occasion when visiting there to find that Meredith was to be one of the guests at dinner.

She prepared herself for a rich in gathering of his celebrated flowers of witty talk. But he was singularly silent throughout the visit, and the only Meredithian phrase the lady could carry away with her was his remark, when reaching across his neighbor for the salt: "Excuse the picnic stretch."

The Elements.

Of the 71 elementary substances of earthy matter enumerated by chemists, 32 are known certainly to exist in the sun's atmosphere, ten or fifteen more can probably be traced there, and there are only six or eight as to which, in the present state of our knowledge, there is negative evidence that they are not present there. The elements whose presence is proved comprise many of those which are the most common in the composition of the earth, and the fact is the same throughout of all space, from the mistiest atom to the most distant star.

DR. HYDE ON RACK

Direct Testimony in Own Behalf Completed and Cross Examination in Progress—Denies Ever Poisoning Anybody—Admits Purchasing Cyanide of Potassium, to Kill Insects.

Kansas City, May 10.—Emphatically denying that he ever poisoned any member of the Swope family, or any other person, Dr. Hyde today completed his direct testimony in his trial for murder.

His cross examination was not completed at noon. Hyde admitted purchasing cyanide of potassium, but it was used to kill insects, he said.

Dr. B. Clark Hyde and his wife took the witness stand yesterday in the Swope murder trial in defense of the accused physician. Relatives, former friends and nurses who had testified for the state against Dr. Hyde were accused by the two witnesses of falsehood and trickery.

Dr. Hyde offered no excuses for his actions in treating the sick at the Swope home. Neither did he admit that he might have erred. Finally he said his course was right in the cases of James Moss Hunt, Col. Thomas H. Swope, and Chrisman Swope. He maintained that the cause of death he gave when the men died still believed to be correct.

Never, the physician said, did he try to poison anyone, either with typhoid germs or drugs.

Dr. Hyde was nervous when he took the stand. He told of bleeding James Moss Hunt.

"Did Dr. Twyman say anything about bringing the bleeding to a close?" "Dr. Twyman," replied Hyde, "said something about enough blood having been removed. He never said, however, that we had as much blood as should have been removed from any man. We took in all, about two or three pints of blood. Dr. Twyman stopped the flow with a string."

"Was this too much to take from him?" "No." "Did he die from the effects of the bleeding or from apoplexy?" "Apoplexy."

Dr. Hyde said he became acquainted with Col. Swope in December, 1903, and saw him at his home on an average of twice a month from that time until his death. Col. Swope asked him, said the witness, if he thought the strychnine tonic he was taking was good for him and he replied it was.

The physician said he never sent any drinking water to the Swope home, but that he saw his wife taking some there.

"Did Col. Swope ever discuss his will with you, or did you know anything about the residuary portion of his estate?" Hyde was asked.

"He never talked to me about his will and I never heard the word 'residuary' until the day the will was read."

"While you were in the Swope home on Thanksgiving eve did you place any typhoid germs in anything?" inquired Mr. Walsh.

"Positively I did not," responded Dr. Hyde.

"Is it a fact that you asked Miss Keller to aid you in securing an appointment as an executor of Col. Swope's estate?" "It is not."

The witness denied he put any germs in the candy he gave to Stella Swope. The accused physician was emphatic in his denial that he ever administered a hypodermic injection, part of which was dirty water, into an arm of Chrisman Swope. Neither, said Dr. Hyde, did he give any nurse a capsule put any capsules among the boxes of remedies that were being given to the patients.

The Rule of the Road.

There appears to be no definite record explaining the prevailing custom of turning our vehicles to the right in this country. One authority says that it grew out of the fact that in our early colonial days, before the arrival of rigs for pleasure driving, the drivers of heavy vehicles used in transportation fell into the way of turning to the right.

Deadly Mountain Crevices.

In some of the high plateaus or mesas of the Rocky mountains, says a writer in the Wide World Magazine, there are to be found, a short distance from the edge, cracks or fissures not more than four feet wide and often as much as 80 feet deep. During the terrific blizzards that rage in the winter these crevices are filled to the level, and cattle and horses which are not acquainted with the country frequently drop into them, their struggles only causing them to sink deeper and deeper. The cracks, into which the sun never penetrates, are like refrigerators, and the hapless brutes, when death has come to their relief, simply dry up and become, to all intents and purposes, mummies.

ROOSEVELTS LUNCH WITH KAISER WILHELM

EMPEROR OF GERMANY GREETED AMERICAN PARTY WITH GREAT CORDIALITY.

MEETS GUESTS IN PERSON AT STEPS OF PALACE

Roosevelt First Consults Eminent Throat Specialist—Health is Somewhat Improved—Function at Palace Attended by Many Dignitaries—Other News.

Berlin, May 10.—The Roosevelts arrived here this morning and are guests at the American embassy. The crew at the railway station gave the president a friendly greeting. In the absence of Emperor William, who but for the death of his uncle, King Edward, would have personally met the former president, the official party of reception was headed by Secretary of Foreign Affairs Schoen, who represented his master.

Roosevelt's voice still is bothering him slightly and one of his earliest appointments today was with a throat specialist.

This afternoon the Roosevelt went to Potsdam to have luncheon at the new palace with the emperor and empress.

As the carriages drove into the courtyard Emperor and the Roosevelt party entered the palace, where they were received by the empress, Crown Prince Frederick William, Crown Princess Cecile, Princess Victoria Louise, and Princess Joachim and Oscar. The luncheon following was attended by government officials and others prominent in public life.

TWO FIRES AT GRINNELL.

Serious Blaze Among Oils Narrowly Averted.

Special to Times-Republican. Grinnell, May 10.—The fire alarm just before yesterday called out the department to a blaze in the roof of the oil levels Cass place on South Broad street, which was extinguished with a loss not to exceed probably $300. The residence now belongs to F. E. Mintie and thanks are due to the firemen that the loss was not much greater from water as, after the fire was out, they took hold and got the water out as quickly as possible and saved much damage in the lower story.

Another fire occurred at the noon hour that, but for its very timely discovery, would no doubt have been equal to the disaster of the one at New Sharon recently and from the same cause. Some one had set fire to a large bunch of paper in the alley back of Sharpe's meat market. The alley is narrow and on the north side is a long wooden building belonging to the Perry estate and used by the Appleby Grocery Company for the storage of goods. The frame is covered with this sheet iron rusted with age. A piece of burning paper was blown against the building at the bottom where there was an opening in the covering and the dry boards caught at once. The fire worked into the side and against a barrel of oil and burned the side of the barrel and the flames were eating the boards nearly to the eaves when discovered. By presence of mind and activity, with water close at hand, the fire was put out without serious results but with tow barrels of oil where the fire started and a large supply tank of gasoline not ten feet away it is easy to see how disastrous results might have been if discovery had been delayed a few minutes. The wonder is that anyone would be so thoughtless as to start an open fire in a narrow alley with a considerable breeze blowing and contrary to special ordinance of the city.

BRANDELS WON'T LET UP

Continues Effort to Connect Ballinger With the Morgan-Guggenheim Influences—Part of Testimony Ruled Out by Committee.

Washington, May 10.—As a link in the chain he is attempting to construct to connect Ballinger with the so-called Guggenheim interests, Attorney Brandels today brought the name of Senator Piles, of Washington, into the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation as the instrument by means of which those interests as he seeks to show, brought about Ballinger's appointment as commissioner of the land office. A protest against Piles' name being brought in was sustained.

A CASE OF PRONUNCIATION

How Absorbed Lawyer Was Brought to Pay Attention to Pretty But Frivolous Miss.

Roger A. Pryor, a general in the Confederate army, and afterward a noted lawyer and judge in New York, could never brook a mispronunciation. In "My Day" his wife records an amusing incident in this connection. Once, at the White Sulphur Springs, a Virginia girl was under her care. Her husband was absorbed in study and did not render the homage to which the pair of blue eyes were accustomed.

"I don't think the judge likes me," she complained. "He never has a word to say to me. He looks as if he was always thinking about something else."

"Lizzie," I suggested, "you must mispronounce a word or two, and we'll see what effect that will have."

"We put our heads together and made out a list for her to commit to memory. At dinner she fastened her eyes upon our victim, and began, offering a flower: 'It's not very pretty, but the perfume—'"

"I beg your pardon, Miss Dash, perfume, accent on the first syllable!" he exclaimed.

"Oh, you are so kind, judge! This just illustrates my dear young lady, accent on the second syllable. But pray go on."

"I've never had anybody to tell me any of these things!" she moaned. "If you only would—"

"With pleasure," came the cordial response. "A beautiful young lady should be perfect in speech as in all things."

The little mix played her part to perfection. Presently, overcome with the ludicrous situation, the excused herself, and my dear innocent remarked, as his admiring eyes followed her: "An uncommonly sensible girl, that!"

About Mouth Breathing.

Mouth breathers are more liable to contagious diseases and to diseases of the bronchial tubes and lungs, which are more apt to be fatal than in nose breathers.

Bony deformities and other growths inside of the nose may also present nose breathing, and, like tonsils and adenoids, by causing mouth breathing give rise to deformities of the upper jaw, irregular teeth and to a number of nervous troubles and diseases, such as St. Vitus' dance, night terror, headaches, restlessness, night sweats, mental dullness, backwardness in school, asthma, rheumatism and tubercular glands of the neck.

Grain Ration For Colts.

An experienced horseman has found equal parts of corn and oats ground together to be one of the best grain rations for growing colts. It furnishes elements needed for the production of fat, bone and muscle. Adding bran of linseed meal to the ration aids very much in keeping the bowels regular and avoids constipation, and in this way lessens the liability of disease.

FLOUR SEIZURES UPHeld BY COURT

JUDGE M'PHERSON REFUSES TO ENJOIN FURTHER SEIZURES IN IOWA.

MILLERS SOUGHT TO STOP ATTORNEYS FOR GOVERNMENT

Brought Suit to Enjoin Federal Officers From Making Seizure of Bleached Flour Shipped into Iowa—Wilson's Contentions Upheld—Other State News.

Special to Times-Republican. Des Moines, May 10.—Judge Smith McPherson, of the federal court, today dismissed the petition asking that United States District Attorney Temple, of Iowa, be enjoined from seizing bleached flour shipped into Iowa. The court upholds the federal ruling as regards bleached flour.

Secretary Wilson, of the agricultural department, some time ago ruled that the sale of bleached flour was in violation of the pure food laws, and many seizures have been made in this state under this ruling. Non-resident millers petitioned the federal court to enjoin further seizures, and this petition has now been dismissed.

The decision does not state whether or not the bleaching of flour is injurious, holding that that question is one for a jury. Discussing the enactment of the pure food statutes, the court declared that "these statutes were enacted to cure evils well nigh intolerable that had grown up during this age of greed and avarice and passed commercialism that has made money-getting the prime object of life with so many evils," evils such that food of all kinds and even medicine are so adulterated as to deceive the consumer. Some states were so disposed to condone adulteration that congress, deeming it necessary, stepped in and passed the pure food law under its power to provide for the general welfare.
