SEED CORN MYSTERIES

TESTERS AND SUPPOSEDLY POOR SEED SOMETIMES PLAY UNEXPECTED TRICKS.

MUCH YET TO BE LEARNED CONCERNING PLANT GROWTH

Crop Growing From Corn Left in Field as Spoiled—Harness Oil Spoils 500 Bushels of Corn Saved For Seed—Deep Planting Disastrous—Wilson's Rural Observations.

Special to Times-Republican.

Albion, June 7.—Last fall when it became apparent that there would be a scarcity of seed corn when the next planting time should come one man in northern Iowa having access to a supply that he had every reason to believe would grow, selected with great care some 500 bushels of the finest he could secure and stored it in the latest approved fashion in a building specially adapted to such a purpose. Then along toward spring, having occasion to over-haul, and all his business he performed this work in the building which seemed to be as well adapted to washing harness as to the storing of seed corn. The use of warm water in the work on the harness dampened the air in the room where the corn had been placed and some tests, made a little later showed that the seed corn had been entirely ruined so far as seed value was concerned, because of the vapor that had been allowed to accumulate at the time the work on the harness was done. Another farmer near this place was unable to gather the corn in one of his fields before the early winter snow came and covered it up until spring. Much of it had been blown down by the wind and more was pulled to the ground by the pressure of the snow and ice. As soon as the corn could be gathered in the spring it was taken from the field but a considerable portion was left on the ground because it was thought to be unfit for use and would spoil the better corn if put into the crib. In due time the field was planted to oats and one day when the farmer went out to look over the prospects in that part of the farm he found not only a good stand of oats but innumerable stalks of young corn struggling for a share of the sun and air. One conclusion to be obtained from these two incidents is that there is some unexplored ground in the realms of seed corn saving, something that needs as much investigation perhaps as selection in the fall and testing in the spring.

Another man, a very careful and successful farmer too, tells how he paid $30 for a seed corn tester of the most up-to-date kind and used it to test his seed about $9 per bushel, the best he could make it do. Later on being compelled to use some of this seed because he could obtain nothing that promised better results he was surprised to find that nearly $9 per bushel of seed was sold to a man who is said to be the modern seed corn tester is infallible, who disposed of the matter by a two word exclamation—"Careless test!"

One of the reasons why there is only an estimated 85 per cent stand of corn in this locality, one of the very best in this part of the state, is that so many planted their corn deep so as to get it down into moist ground. One man said "I knew better than to do that but when it came to planting in dry dirt with no prospects of rain I couldn't do it. Planted deep and then it did rain, remained cool afterward and my seed rotted. No more deep planting for me." Many have for three different times this spring and the discouraging feature of this is that each successive planting is done with poorer seed than the former because nothing better could be obtained.

Something entirely new in the corn crib line is to be found on Sanford Collins' farm north of Albion. It is built in the form of a Greek cross, the shape being selected for convenience in elevating. The four wings are exactly alike, each having a "hip" roof and fourteen foot studding. There are two driveways thru the building, extending of course, at right angles with each other. In the center is a big cupola in which is placed the elevator and lengthwise through the cemented floor of each crib is a gutter open at the outside and covered with small pieces of board inside. These serve a double purpose: They take care of the ventilating problem and when shelling is to be done a drag can be inserted and the cover pieces removed as necessary. The drag being in the middle of the crib hardly any shoveling is necessary. The capacity of the structure is 14,000 bushels of ear corn and it can be built at a cost of about $1,500.

Another recently erected farm building in this locality is the J. L. Uery barn, which while not one of the largest in this county, is the most substantial in this county. Mr. Uery lights his house with an acetylene lighting plant and will lay a pipe to his barn and do away with one more old fashioned farm custom, that of carrying a lantern about while doing early chores in corn picking season.

IOWA CITY PROGRESS.

Local Capital to Build Electric Street Railway at Cost of $100,000. Special to Times-Republican.

Iowa City, June 7.—Iowa City is to have its first electric street railway. The Iowa City Electric Railway Company today filed articles of incorporation. The capital stock is $100,000, and there is none for sale. Iowa City is the only city in Iowa Falls in now planning for this year. Governor Glenn had

Iowa Falls to Hear Governor Glenn on July 4. Special to Times-Republican. Iowa Falls, June 7.—Governor Glenn of North Carolina will be the orator at the big celebration of the Fourth of July that Iowa Falls is now planning for this year. Governor Glenn had been booked by the Iowa Falls chaunt-paign for that day and the management has kindly co-operated with the Fourth of July committee whereby the speaker on this occasion. The work of the finance committee in canvassing the town has met with splendid encouragement and it now looks as though the $1,000 would be raised to devote to amusements and other entertainment of the big crowd that always gathers at Iowa Falls when this city celebrates. A meeting will be held at the city hall tomorrow evening to appoint committees to arrange the details of the big celebration which promises to outshine anything that Iowa Falls has ever attempted along this line.

Sioux Rapids Locals. Special to Times-Republican. Sioux Rapids, June 7.—Frank P. Wright received a message saying his father was dead, at Ottumwa. He left at once to be present at the funeral.

C. P. Sickles lost one of his registered Jerseys a few days ago. Mrs. M. J. Kundison is very low with a cancer, with no hopes of recovery.

Iowa City Business Man Dead. Special to Times-Republican. Iowa City, June 7.—C. L. Talbot, a former business man of Iowa City, is dead in Minneapolis. He will be buried at his old home in Oskaloosa. A daughter survives.

Glad to Recommend Them. Mr. E. Weakley, Kokomo, Ind., says: "After taking Foley Kidney Pills, the severe backache left me, my kidneys became stronger, the secretions natural and my bladder no longer pained me. I am glad to recommend Foley Kidney Pills." In a yellow package. McBride & Will Drug Company.

Woodward. A tramp dog which had taken up its headquarters in east Woodward, began to act queer and the residents of that part of town notified Marshall Webster of its condition. He went out Saturday morning, at 10 o'clock and found the dog exhibiting signs of hydrophobia, and at once shot the animal.

Council Bluffs. John Cleary, a mason, employed in construction work on the addition to the postoffice, fell from the structure while putting the stonework into place Saturday morning, at 10 o'clock and fractured his back. Chances are against his recovery, and if he lives he will be crippled for life.

Des Moines. While entertaining a gathering of friends at her home last evening in Coralabor, Mrs. Rachael Woodridge, aged 49 years, dropped unconscious to the floor. Death ensued within a few minutes. Coroner Iver Newlen was summoned and made an investigation of the death. He concluded that death was caused by pleural hemorrhage.

Muscatine. Mrs. Emma Cottrell, an employee of the McKee & Bilven Buton factory was badly injured Thursday while attempting to clean the automatic machine at which she was working. It is stated by the management of the plant that Mrs. Cottrell had neglected to shut off the power of the machine while cleaning, with the result that her right arm was caught in the mechanism and badly cut.

Nevada. H. C. McIntosh & Son, the old-time dray firm of Nevada, have sold out their business to Frank Hizer and W. L. Cottenham, both now of Ledyard, Kossuth county, but the former well known from his boyhood and youth in Nevada. The new firm expect to move down here from Ledyard in a few days, and they will take hold of the business sometime next week. The senior McIntosh has lived in Nevada since not long after the war, and has been in business here for thirty years.

Baxter. The coroner's jury, in case of Fred Carter, found dead upon the railway track near Baxter a few days ago, rendered its verdict as follows: "From the evidence introduced, we are unable to fix the cause of his death." The jurors for two weeks investigated carefully every possible clue, but were unable to discover anything that had inquest, hence they were unable to fix the responsibility. The exact cause of his death will probably never be known.

Essex. The First National bank and the Farmers' Savings bank of Essex have made arrangements to consolidate. It will require some time to complete all arrangements and it is expected that the consolidation will take place about July 20. The capital of the First National bank will be increased from $25,000 to $50,000 with a surplus of $5,000. The building now owned by the Farmers' Savings bank will be occupied by the First National bank after the merger and the present management of the First National, assisted by the cashier of the Farmers' Savings

SEASON STILL ERRATIC

WEATHER OF PAST WEEK ADDS TO FEAR OF CORN CROP SHORTAGE.

INSUFFICIENT RAINFALL ON TOP OF LOW TEMPERATURES

Replanting of Corn Still in Progress in Many Sections of State—Late Plantings Showing a Better Stand Than First—Only 65 to 75 Per Cent of Average Crop Now Probable.

Special to Times-Republican.

Des Moines, June 7.—The weekly weather and crop bulletin says: Another cool and dry week has been added to the record of this erratic season. The mean temperature was about 9 degrees below the normal with a decided deficiency of rainfall and less than the usual amount of sunshine. While light showers occurred in nearly all sections of the state the amounts of rainfall were insufficient to be of much benefit except to retard the further drying of the surface soil. Replanting of corn is still in progress and the late planting is showing a better stand than was expected, but on account of poor seed, cold weather and the ravages of moles, cut and wire worms, there will not be over 65 per cent to 75 per cent of an average stand. The cold weather has also retarded the growth of corn and cultivation is only just beginning in the early planted fields.

Small grains and especially oats have made satisfactory progress and are still in good condition. Rye is in bloom in southern, and early potatoes are in blossom in the northern districts. Grass in meadows and pastures is short, but otherwise in fairly good condition. The soil is in exceptionally fine tilth and with a good soaking rain and a few days of warm weather all crops would improve rapidly altho it is now too late to expect an average crop of hay, even with the most favorable weather. Tree fruits will be nearly a failure.

THE THORNTON NEWS. Railroad Pump Tender Severely Injured by Gasoline Explosion. Special to Times-Republican. Thornton, June 7.—Fred Wheat, division pump man for the C. G. W. R. E., was quite badly scalded here while repairing the tank pump. The pump is operated by a gasoline engine and as it was in the process of making an investigation. The gasoline pipe was leaking and as Mr. Wheat also had some work down in the well he started down the ladder. It was dark and he asked for a torch. Guy Crayser lighted a torch as directed and handing it to Mr. Wheat on the ladder, it once ignited the gas causing an explosion burning him quite badly, especially on the hands and about the head. The burning liquid also struck him knocking his hat several feet and burning his hair considerably. Mr. Wheat was taken to Clarion as soon as the doctor had dressed his burns, where he is reported as resting quite easy.

F. H. Arnold and family visited relatives over Sunday at Vincent. The Ladies' Aid Society made about $25 from the supper and apron sale held at the parsonage, on Sunday. The same construction company that built the large bridge in Mason City during the past year, is at work on the new concrete bridge north of town.

Mrs. Eva Downing and daughter Gladys, of Mason City, and Mrs. E. H. Lisor, of Des Moines, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Roy Seney.

GREGORY GOES TO BRUSSELS. Dean of Law College Delegate to International Educational Convention. Special to Times-Republican. Iowa City, June 7.—Prof. Charles Noble Gregory, dean of the college of law, S. U. I., has been appointed as delegate from the United States to the international educational convention, to be held in Brussels, Belgium, during the coming summer. The state department, at congressman Dawson's suggestion, named him.

Commencement at Toledo. Special to Times-Republican. Toledo, June 7.—Sunday morning, at the United Brethren church, the baccalaureate services of Lester Clark College were held. The church was crowded to the doors. Music was furnished by the church choir and the college chorus. A splendid and highly uplifting sermon on "The Three Ideas of Man" was preached by Rev. E. Wright of the Grace United Brethren church, of Chicago. In the evening, at the anniversary of the christian associations, Rev. T. G. Beardsley, of the class of '94, now pastor in Kansas City, Kan., preached a most able sermon on "The Unsung Heroes."

Monday evening at the Y. M. C. and philophronous societies held their banquets, followed by the anniversary of the literary societies in the college church.

Local News From Dickens. Special to Times-Republican. Dickens, June 7.—Prof. W. C. Bean, of Zealring, who has so acceptably filled the position of principal of our schools for the past year, has resigned and will be located at Ireton next year. Thieves again visited our little town in the back door of the hardware store and took a revolver, a fountain pen and some small change.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Treat, of Los Angeles, Cal., are here to spend the summer visiting relatives and old friends. Mr. Treat will also oversee the completion of the drainage of his farms, which was begun last fall.

Brief Items From Carroll. Special to Times-Republican. Carroll, June 7.—Mrs. Clara Ombstead returned today from Blair, Neb., where she had been for two months caring for her mother, who died last week. The body was sent to Belle Plaine for burial.

Mrs. R. Y. Culbertson has gone to Princeton to visit relatives. The Knights of Pythias lodge gave a nice little supper last night, following initiation. The usual custom will be followed, and no more meetings will be held until the hot summer months will have passed away.

Oskaloosa. A large crowd of young men, alleged to have been Penn College students, destroyed the street car waiting room at the end of North C street on the college lawn about midnight. The fire department was summoned to the col- lege. When the department arrived the waiting room had been torn down and carried to the north of its former location about 200 feet, and was a solid mass of fire. No attempt was made to put the fire out for it had consumed the building and the perpetrators made no attempt to run when the department arrived, and remained to see the flames die away, and celebrated the event by blowing horns and other noise-making devices. The building was the property of the college. The college authorities are now making a thorough investigation. A large number are implicated in the affair.
