Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

June 17.—The beautiful heroine was getting ready to scream "Villain do your worst," and the hero was prepared to ask how the villain could possibly do any worse, at the senior high school class play "One of the Eight," at the Grand theater. Harry Brown, a junior in the high school, climbed out of the Kappa Delta fraternity box, jumped over the stage and dumped a small pig out of a bag. Immediately one of the members of the cast threw the pig out into the audience and the curtain went down in the middle of the act. He was raised again after the commotion had subsided. Considerable consternation was caused when the small shoo was tossed down into the crowd, but the commotion soon quieted down, the porker was sent to the pen, and Harry Brown, the high school boy who perpetrated the prank, was arrested. The heroine that was tossed over the footlights was a small runt about a foot long. It had been painted up in gaudy colors to suit the occasion.

Southern Iowa Items

Wellman.

Photographer G. E. Cook was on his way to the home of his mother near Deep River with his new automobile, when he met with an accident that resulted in two broken ribs, a dislocated shoulder and a fractured leg. He is still unable to be taken to his home but will recover.

Harlan.

Julius Jensen, who bought the Barkman farm in Bowman's Grove in the spring, at 100 per acre, has sold the place to A. P. Jensen at $125 per acre, and has given possession to the latter. The farm contains 298 acres, and Mr. Jensen will pick up $4,500 profit from his short ownership. And this besides the crop of this year.

Shenandoah.

F. H. Black, in Summit township, has sold his 200-acre farm to Challman Bros. of Schaller, the consideration being $100 per acre, possession to be given March 1, next. This is one of the real well improved farms of this county. The buildings are all good in first class repair and the farm has been well kept up.

Fort Madison.

August Smith, convict No. 7732 of the Iowa penitentiary here, died suddenly outside the walls of the prison, he being engaged in handling a scrap-iron. While thus engaged he suddenly relaxed his hold on the implement and rolled down an embankment a distance of forty feet. When assistance reached him he was dead. The jury returned a verdict finding that the convict's death was produced by valvular disease of the heart. For some time he had been complaining of pains in the chest. Smith was a European and had been in prison a little over two years.

A petition was filed in court by Frank Johnson in which he asks damages in the sum of $1,900. He makes John Morrell & Co., defendant in the action. Johnson says in his petition that he was hauling a load of paper on a truck, the weight of the load being 700 pounds, and that when getting on an elevator, the operator of the same did not wait until he had set down the handles of the truck before starting the elevator. He claims that the jerk of the hoist due to the alleged negligence of the man operating caused a severe strain to his back and otherwise injured him seriously.

Muscatine.

Samuel Cohn, prominent in Muscatine the past fifty years as a business man and financier, died at the age of 82 of over three years. Coming to Muscatine as a humble emigrant years ago, his rise to wealth and position has been truly wonderful. He was 70 years of age and was born in Germany and had lived in Muscatine since 1860. He was president of the Cohn Mercantile company at the time of his death. In mercantile and Masonic circles Mr. Cohn ranked high. He was treasurer of the democratic state central committee during the first campaign of Horace Boies for governor.

Des Moines.

Because Jack Showalter, proprietor of a shooting gallery, interfered when Arthur Early, a negro, annoyed two white women. Early slashed him across the face with a jack-knife, nearly destroying the sight of one eye. At the same time a white man intervened and he was knocked to the street by the negro, who then attempted to make his escape, but was captured less than a block away by Sergeant Leasure and Firemen Plummer and Mohr. Doctors took him to a hospital in the Showalter's face. The negro was locked upon the charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

Kirkville.

Struck on the head by lightning which killed his hat, Richard Stables, a farmer living near Kirkville, had a singular experience recently. While the bolt struck him on the head he escaped with a few minor injuries. A portion of his shirt was burned and the bolt passed thru his body down to his toes, burning those members slightly and not

Anty Drudge on Cold Lunches.

Anty Drudge—"Why, Mr. Sorrowful, what makes you sit on the doorstep?"

John Sorrowful—"I'm just waiting for Mary to hand me out a bit of cold lunch. I never go in the house on washday, it smells like a bone mill."

Anty Drudge—"Nonsense. Your wife washed with Fels-Naptha soap to-day, and it was all done two hours ago. She has a nice hot lunch for you and had time to read and play the piano besides. And there's never any body smell when Fels-Naptha's used."

There was a woman who made a prayer to be saved from washday with all its care. Then she tried Fels-Naptha and quit praying that particular prayer. It wasn't exactly washday that she meant. What she really did mean was to be saved from boiling clothes, with its resultant nauseous steam and heat, and from back-breaking hard rubbing.

Fels-Naptha answers that kind of petition completely, if you use it the Fels-Naptha way. Follow directions on the red and green wrapper. For white clothes you'll read: Soap the clothes, roll and let them soak in cold or lukewarm water for 30 minutes. Then rub lightly, rinse, hang out on the line. No, you don't boil them; Fels-Naptha takes the place of that and hard rubbing, too.

Fels-Naptha has many other valuable uses—washing dishes for instance. You'll find directions for all on the wrapper. Be sure and follow them.
