

Woman, Lovely Woman

But Alas, Without Beautiful Hair No Woman Can Be Handsome.

A great many newspapers and magazines are printing pages on how a woman can be beautiful and keep beautiful.

And all of them, as you can see for yourself, admit that no woman can be really beautiful unless she has lustrous and luxuriant hair.

The women of Paris are, as a rule, beautiful and a careful American observer who has traveled much claims that their beauty is due to their knowledge of how to keep their hair luxuriant, which they do by using a superior hair tonic.

Many American women are as wise as their French sisters, and that is why Parisian Sage, the quick acting and greatest of all hair restorers and tonics, is now having such a tremendous sale in America.

We ask every woman reader of this paper to give this marvelous hair beautifier a thorough trial, and we gladly make them this liberal offer:

Get a large 50 cent bottle from B. A. Morgan today. Use it as directed for two weeks. If at the end of that time you are not satisfied with results, say so to B. A. Morgan and he will give you your money back.

Besides being a delightful and invigorating hair dressing, Parisian Sage will cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching of the scalp, or money back.

Mail orders filled, all charges prepaid by the American maker, Giroux Mfg. Co., N. Y. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every bottle.

TRIES OIL ON PAVING. Seemingly Good Scheme to Lay Dust Tried by West Main Resident.

What may prove to be an excellent plan to lay the dust on the brick pavements for long periods of time at a small cost is being tried by C. R. Spears in front of his home, 711 West Main street. The brick pavement was sprinkled with crude oil a few days ago. Much of the oil has been absorbed by the brick and the filler between the brick and it has made that spot in the street entirely dustless. The experiment cost about $1.50 for the sixty foot lot, which included the time of the men who did the work. The experiment, if it is successful, will lay the dust for long periods of time, offers a suggestion for other property owners and the city itself.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE? Resident of City Asks Auto Questions Which County Attorney Answers.

A resident of the city who is interested in seeing a speed limit for automobiles enforced within the city follows: The questions asked of the county attorney, and his answers to the same, follow: Question: "Who is Responsible?" Answering certain questions in the communication, "Who is Responsible?" I desire to state as follows: Q. Does the law permit a child or a woman to operate an automobile, and if so, at what age? A. There is no law fixing an age limit which either permits or prohibits a child or woman operating an automobile, and both are subject to the same rules and laws affecting all other operators or drivers of automobiles, and they are held to the same degree of care which is commensurate with the dangers naturally incident to the use of an automobile the same as all other persons, irrespective of age.

Q. If an owner of an automobile allows his son or daughter to drive his automobile where does his liability end in case of injury to others? A. If the owner places his automobile in charge of his son or daughter and allows either to run it, and by the negligence of the son or daughter an accident occurs without any contributory negligence on the part of the person injured, the owner is responsible and liable for the negligence of his son or daughter and its consequences.

Q. If an automobile is taken out by a person under age without the permission of the parents and some one is run down is the parent liable for damages? A. If a person is using an automobile contrary to the express direction of the owner or for his own benefit or pleasure, the owner is not liable but where an injury is inflicted by the use or the operation of an automobile upon the public highway, the owner is liable in damages if the automobile is being operated by such owner or is under the control of the owner, or in the custody of his agent or servant acting within the scope of his employment and for the benefit of the owner or where the owner is present, he will be responsible for injuries sustained by a third person, as the owner is, in law, in control of the automobile.

Q. If a boy under age takes an automobile from the street and injures another person or vehicle is the owner of the machine or the parent of the boy responsible or are both liable? A. If an automobile is temporarily left unattended in such condition that it can not start of its own accord, the owner would not be liable if by the act of a third person the automobile is set in motion, but the parent of a boy would be liable for the injury if by the direction of the parent, in any event the boy would be liable for the same as an adult.

Q. In your judgment would it make any difference in the decision of a court where a person was injured by an adult owner of a machine or one of his children driving it? A. That depends upon certain facts and circumstances. The owner would be liable for injuries sustained in cases where he is present, unless the operator disobeys the instructions of the owner, in which case the operator would be liable. The owner would also be liable if an automobile is being operated for the benefit of the owner, and the person operating it was acting within the course of his employment, or the machine was being used by the express direction of the owner.

From the question asked it occurs to me that a law should be passed fixing an age limit under which no person could operate a machine, and also requiring that the operator of an automobile should possess certain understanding of the mechanism of the automobile he is operating. Respectfully yours, J. H. ESTERMEYER, County Attorney.

PASSES STATE EXAMINATION. W. F. Innes, Manager for The Joseph Jewelry Co., Takes State Examination.

Last year the state passed a law prohibiting all opticians from fitting glasses who had not practiced optometry continuously for five years previous to the enactment of the law. That those who were entitled to the exemption clause now hold certificates to practice, does not indicate to the public that they are proficient in their work.

Mr. Innes has practiced twelve years but being out of the state one year made it necessary to take the examination which he passed several weeks ago and passed successfully.

Mr. Innes is the only certified optician in the city, all others come under the head of what is known as exempt men.

REPORT FAVORABLE ON ROAD. Movement on to Open New Two Mile Highway Near Dillon.

Frank Richards, the commissioner appointed to pass on the advisability of opening a new forty-foot two-mile highway, southwest of Dillon, in LeGrand township, has recommended that the road be opened. Those who petitioned for the road were Henry Fuller, Stephen H. Fuller and O. J. Worcester, thru whose land it will run. The road was asked for to take the place of a road a half mile west which is said to be very hilly. The new road, if opened, will run from the south line of section 32 to the north line of section 29, thru the farms owned by the petitioners and F. H. Hender, August Gummert, and C. A. Haslin.

Notice has been served by County Auditor Erastus Cornell that all objections to opening the road or claims for damages resulting therefrom must be filed in his office by Sept. 6.
