STUDY OF IOWA POLITICAL MAP SHOWS OLD MACHINE'S TENACIOUS GRIP.

NO STANDPAT GAINS MADE IN OTHER SECTIONS OF STATE

Some Losses in "Burlington" Territory and Progressive Monopoly in State Convention Grows to 233—North and Central Sections of Iowa Continue to Be Mainstay of Republicanism.

Special to Times-Republican. Des Moines, July 7.—The new political map of Iowa, as finally arranged in accordance with the best judgment of the 25,000 republicans who were delegates to the ninety-nine counties of the state, is an interesting study to all who care to delve into the political currents. As finally worked out by districts the vote is as follows:

Table with columns: District, Rep., Prog., S. P. First district 15 82 Second 67 37 Third 109 25 Fourth 107 13 Fifth 48 69 Sixth 14 94 Seventh 123 13 Eighth 30 98 Ninth 26 89 Tenth 144 14 Eleventh 107 41 Total 808 575

Progressive majority, 233. There were fifty-seven counties which sent solid progressive delegations to the state convention and thirty-six that sent solid standpat delegations, with six others divided.

The map shows that if the state be divided into the three natural belts the bulk of the standpat strength still touches the line of the Burlington railroad, which last year ignored the Iowa law and distributed passes to a great many of the prominent and influential men of the territory.

In the three southern tiers of counties there again the bulk of the standpat strength carried twenty-four.

In the three northern tiers there are thirty counties and the standpatters secured just two.

The northern and central portions of the state continue to be, as they have been in the past dozen years, the mainstay of the strength of the regular republican party.

The unexpected discovery that Cedar county is breaking away from the standpat column and this year the progressives were strong enough to force a division, adds one more to the string of counties in the regular camp.

Montgomery, Warren and others will not feel so lonesome.

B. W. Garrett, republican nominee for clerk of the supreme court, had an interesting experience at his old home Saturday. The convention was distinctly reactionary, the progressives had a larger number of delegates than usual.

Ex-Senator Stookoy presided. Taft and Carroll had been endorsed and Cummins and Dooliver July ignored in accordance with the orders of the Jackson committee.

A resolution was offered to also commend Mr. Garrett. Radicalism again asserted itself in a motion to table which on a viva voce vote Chairman Stookoy declared carried.

But a delegate insisted on questioning the chair's ruling and demanded a roll call. Then the standpatters weakened and permitted the resolution to be adopted unanimously.

About that time Mr. Garrett came into the convention and he was invited to speak and the convention gave him enthusiastic applause for a few earnest appeals for good republicanism. Then he held an ovation and every delegate congratulated him.

The state of Iowa will get a nice little lump of money from the estate of Joseph Storms of Woodward, a farmer who died last year. The estate has just been appraised at a value which will give the state about $17,000.

Like most other men of his class he sought to cheat the state out of the tax by bequeathing the property to relatives, but this was done only a short time before his death and the tax will have to be paid. The estate included 2,823 acres of land in Dallas county.

Misinformation as to the legal status of the delegate stickers as printed is still being circulated. The Burlington Hawkeys again give currency to the story that Attorney General Byers decided that the law provided that the squares could be printed on the stickers. All that Byers ever decided was that it did not appear to be illegal to have these squares printed on the stickers. The law provides for printing the squares on the ballot but does not forbid printing them on the stickers.

Already there is talk of bringing in a "dark horse" for the race for state superintendent before the republican state convention. It is evident that the convention is very much divided on the merits of the seven men who have been before the voters. It will not be at all strange if there are additional or other names considered and that some of the candidates already in the race will be announced as out of it.

WORKER BURIED ALIVE

WESLEY RADA SMOTHERED BY NEATH TWELVE FEET OF EARTH AT CEDAR RAPIDS.

BORNE DOWN IN DIRT BIN AT RAILROAD CRUSHER

Avalanche of Loosened Earth Carried Victim to Bottom of Huge Hopper, Where He Became Lodged and Slowly Smothered—Not Taken Out For Half Hour.

Special to Times-Republican. Cedar Rapids, July 7.—With more than twelve feet of solid dirt enveloping the upper portion of his body, which was lodged in a narrow hopper in the bottom of a big dirt bin, Wesley Rada, an employe of the Northwestern stone crusher, yesterday afternoon met a most distressing death. He was smothered beneath the dirt, altho immediate efforts were made to get him out.

The accident happened about 4:50. Mr. Rada and Frank Holacek were working in the dirt bins. The bins are large affairs and are used to load up cars. They are about fourteen feet high and the bottoms slope down in the center into a hopper under which the cars are switched to be loaded. The dirt comes down into the bin from the bins above. The two men were employed in the bins to shove down the dirt thru the hopper as the cars were to be loaded.

Mr. Rada was dislodged the dirt around the sides of the bin so that it would slide into the hopper. The dirt around his feet was loosened and the avalanche bore him down into the hopper feet foremost. He stuck in this hopper, his hips holding him there while the dislodged dirt piled up over his head. His feet dangled below and he made desperate attempts to slide thru but they were all of no avail. An alarm was given and frantic efforts to remove the dirt from above him were made. It was over half an hour, however, before the men could get to him and release his body.

Mr. Rada was an industrious and patient worker and was liked by his employers. He had a host of friends among his fellow employes and his death caste a gloom over all who knew him.

Mr. Rada was 44 years old. He was a member of the M. B. A. lodge No. 196, Z. C. B. J. and the Homebased, and leaves a wife and five step-children.

He was married to Mattilda Paul in October, 1880, in Mariposa township, Jasper county. He leaves an honorable name, together with a competence gained by honest toil as his legacy to those surviving.

He had been a member of the Gilman congregational church for many years. Of his immediate family there are left his wife and three sons, John, Samuel and James Parker; also four sisters, Mrs. Esther Maauley, of Chicago; Miss Mattilda Parker, and Mrs. Agnes Rose, of West Chester, Iowa, and Mrs. Elva Paul of Gilman, and one other, William Parker, of Alberta, Canada.

chickler, who directed the work of the men inside.

HE MIXED THE PAINT.

But It Was With Bicarbonate of Soda and Now There's Trouble.

Waverly, July 7.—A local dealer in painters' supplies by mistake sold a customer twenty-five pounds of bicarbonate of soda instead of mineral white, and the error was not discovered until the material had been mixed with lead and oil and put on the house. After a couple of days it was noticed that the paint did not dry and was apparently as fresh as when put on, and an investigation showed the soda dealer and the owner of the house are trying to adjust the matter equitably among themselves, with the chances that the dealer will have to foot the bill.
