PHONE USERS TO TURN DOWN BILLS

PATRONS OF MARSHALL TELEPHONE COMPANY TO PAY BILLS ONLY UNDER PROTEST.

MUST RESTORE OLD RATES OR SUITS WILL FOLLOW

Committee Appointed to Wait Upon the Directors of the Company—Citizens Express Views and an Effort Will Be Made to Unite Patrons in Refusing to Pay Bills.

At a mass meeting of citizens, held Friday evening in the east court room, plans for a "telephone war" were discussed and adopted and a committee named to carry the declaration of war into the camp of the Marshalltown Telephone Company.

The meeting was well attended, and after lengthy discussion it was unanimously decided that patrons of the Marshalltown Telephone Company refuse to pay the advanced rate for 'phone service or pay under protest and then bring suit for the difference between the old and the new prices charged, and that a committee of five be appointed by the chairman, the committee to include President Lynch, of the Marshall County Rural Telephone Company, to meet the directors of the Marshall Telephone Company for the purpose of discussing the new rates, and to report at a mass meeting to be held on Tuesday night.

It was the sense of the meeting that all telephone users be asked to abide by the action of the meeting, and that they be asked to pay no telephone bills before the meeting of Tuesday evening.

The committee appointed by Chairman F. G. Pierce, to wait upon the directors of the company, is composed of N. A. Evans, Merritt Greene, George Herman, F. L. Meeker, and President Lynch.

Herman Calls Meeting. Councilman George Herman was temporary chairman of the meeting and in opening the session took the responsibility of calling the mass meeting of protest. Mr. Herman explained the situation and his reasons for calling the meeting.

Stockholders Are Ignorant. Mr. Meeker said he had talked with several of the stockholders of the company but had found none knew anything about the arbitrary raise in 'phone rental. Mr. Meeker believed that the ordinary business man would have gone to the city council and opened the books of the company to them to show that the company was losing money.

New Company Useless. Mr. Meeker did not favor the organization of a new company although he believed the public sympathy would be with such an institution. It would require a great investment and would take a long time to be able to compete with the present company, and before the new company could get on a paying basis the Bell people would cut the rates in order to put the new company out of business.

Upon the organization of the present company, said Merritt Greene, the promise was made that the rates would be lower than those of the old Bell company, and that the rates then established would be kept in force. The statement that the company is not now making money appeared to Mr. Greene more as an excuse than as a reason for the arbitrary action now taken.

Declare Service Poor. George Darling, J. G. Weatherby, J. E. Stanton, and others, complained of the poor service which they claimed was being given the public, and for which they could see no excuse. While they could be lenient with the company during a storm, when wires were twisted and crossed, while the exchange was being moved from one building to another, or during the strike of operators—they could not understand now why there should not be a better service than ever, especially with the company operating one of the finest switchboards in the state.

Trouble in Country. Robert Harper, of Marietta, spoke for the farmers present, and told of the trouble between the rural lines and President Moore. When the farmers went to Moore with their difficulties they were told, said Mr. Harper, that the rate must be raised somewhere and that it could not be raised in the city, because of the existing ordinance, but Mr. Moore claimed to have an amendment to the ordinance ready to submit to the city council.

Carpenters Endorse Meeting. A committee from the carpenters' union, composed of D. S. Sweeney, George Patton, and J. C. Irvin, was present with an endorsement of the meeting from ninety-six carpenters of the city. Both Mr. Sweeney and Mr. Patton spoke.

J. Morrissey favored the appointment of a committee by the chairman to call on Mr. Moore and try to settle the difficulty amicably.

Herman Talks Out. Councilman Herman spoke frankly, his statement being terse and right off the bat. He did not favor sending a committee to Moore. With Councilmen Good and Hull he said he had spent three hours with Moore without getting any satisfaction. From their conversation with Moore he believed it might be drawn that the company had lost as much as $100,000.

MANY EDUCATORS VISIT EDGEWORTH

PROFESSORS AND GRADUATES OF AGRICULTURAL SCHOOLS INSPECT BIG FARM.

OVER FIFTY COME FROM AMES TO OBSERVE CROPS

Edgeworth Picked as One of Two Ideal Farms in State Which Professors and Students See—Dozen States Represented Among Visitors—Local Public Welcomed Sunday.

Visitors from a dozen states, including professors and graduates of many different agricultural colleges, spent the afternoon inspecting Edgeworth, the farm owned by Merritt Greene & Son on the western outskirts of the city. The visitors arrived from Ames at 1 o'clock for the purpose of observing the growing crops. Edgeworth has been chosen as one of two ideal farms in Iowa which students at the graduate school in agriculture, being conducted at Iowa State College, are to visit.

The graduate school at Ames is in session four weeks during the summer, and attracts educators and graduates of agricultural schools from all parts of the country. The other place that the students visit is the J. A. Cook farm at Odebolt. There were included in the party of visitors this afternoon professors and graduates of Iowa State College, representatives from the United States department of agriculture at Washington, representatives of Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., and professors and students from the agricultural schools of Massachusetts, New Jersey, Maine, Colorado, Nebraska, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Missouri. The visitors inspected all the fields, including winter wheat, oats, corn, alfalfa, and meadow. The visitors were immensely pleased at the outlook for crops in every field, and united in declaring Edgeworth a truly ideal farm in every particular.

Invite Public Sunday. The Messrs. Green will open their beautiful farm to the public Sunday and invite the citizens of Marshalltown to call and inspect the growing crops. Edgeworth is noted for the quality of its spring wheat and the crop this year is of the best. About one-half of the wheat has been cut and those interested in farm conditions may have an excellent opportunity to judge of the quality of the wheat under the conditions. The farm employes at Edgeworth are Adventists and did not work today. Sunday they will be busy in the fields, however, and visitors at Edgeworth may see the farm work carried on in its regular way.
