

STUBBORN ECZEMA CASES YIELD TO POSLAM

Called "Greatest Skin Remedy in Europe or America." Poslam did for my wife, who is spending the winter abroad, what no doctor could do. Half the jar entirely cured her of the most disfiguring form of scaly eczema, which simply covered her face. Fourteen days after the first application her face was fair, smooth and without a spot or blemish. We look upon it as nothing short of a miracle. It is the greatest skin remedy we have ever found either in Europe or America and we have tried celebrated specialists, all sorts of cures and many patent remedies. This statement, made by Mr. A. E. Gardner, of Bridgeport, Conn., is but one of the thousands of similar expressions regarding the actual accomplishments of poslam in the eradication of every form of skin disease, eczema, acne, tetik, barber's itch, psoriasis, shingles, etc., besides the minor skin affections (such as pimples, blemishes, red noses, hives, fever blisters), in which results are seen so rapidly.

Williams, reporter, were found guilty of contempt of the district court by Judge T. D. Lewis. Fines of $100 on two agents were assessed against the company. The offense was the publication of a confession by Harry Thorne, murderer, since convicted, at the time of the trial of James Riley. Thorne's partner, also since convicted. The court had great difficulty in obtaining a jury and declared this difficulty was attributed to repeated publications of the confession. The court had given warning to the newspapers. For Bloody Milk. Apply water to the udder as hot as the animal can stand it without being scalded, for thirty minutes at a time, twice a day. This can best be done by making a bandage that will come up around the sides and in front of the udder and tying it on the top of the back. The bandage is made by taking a piece of stout muslin about fifteen or eighteen inches wide and twelve or fifteen feet long, according to the size of the animal, and tearing it down the center until a strip of eighteen to twenty-four inches is left to fit up under the udder. Place pieces of cotton or soft cloth around the udder and bring the bandage up so as to hold it in place, and then pour the hot water around the udder. After having thoroughly bathed the parts this way for thirty to forty minutes, remove the bandage and wet cloth or cotton, dry the udder thoroughly and apply a strong tincture of camphor. Continue this treatment for a week or ten days.—Journal of Agriculture. Licensed to Wed. Owen B. Wright and Gertrude Marx, aged 27, New York City.

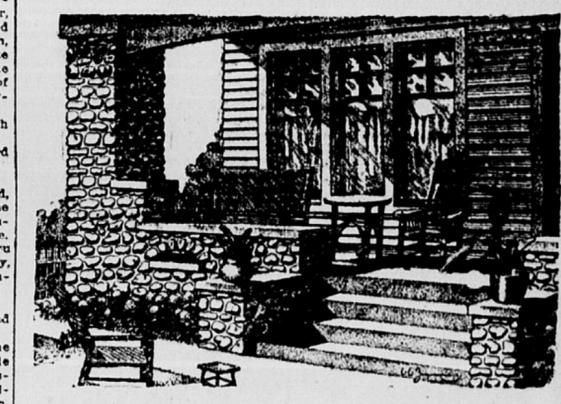

FEW HUNTERS HURRY TO RENEW LICENSES. ONLY ONE MAN IN THE CITY LEGALLY ENTITLED NOW TO HUNT GAME. RUSH EXPECTED LATER, NEARER OPEN SEASON. Season For All Game is Now Closed, But Guy Dryden, First National Bookkeeper, Wants to Have Full Benefit of Year's Right to Shoot — Three Others Issued in County. There are just 1,646 hunters in the county who had a legal right to hunt game last year who are without the privilege now. All hunters' licenses expired July 1, and so far the county auditor has issued but four permits within the county. Only one of these has been taken in the city, and belongs to Guy Dryden, a bookkeeper in the First National Bank. Of course there is no hurry in the shooting game, for the law prohibits the shooting of any game at this time. The first shooting starts Sept. 1, with the arrival of the duck, chicken, and squirrel season. As the open season advances more hunters will seek permits to pack a gun and hunt game. The other three men who have secured hunters' licenses for the year beginning July 1 are Percy Wenzel, of Logan township; William W. Alexander, of Minerva township; and F. C. Ward, of Laurel. BIG TASK TO GET FORTUNE. Fool Grandfather Sets Impossible Feat For Youth. Chicago, July 9.—By complying as nearly as possible with the most strenuous schooling plans perhaps ever laid down for any aspiring youth, 12-year-old Robert Dyrenforth, of Chicago, and Washington, will inherit the $250,000 estate of his grandfather, Colonel Robert G. Dyrenforth, former United States commissioner of patents, who himself was wonderfully studious and won many degrees. Colonel Dyrenforth died July 4 in New York. Some years ago he adopted his grandson as his son. His will was filed in Washington for probate. Its provisions reveal that Colonel Dyrenforth, scholar, civil engineer, doctor, lawyer, and civil war veteran, believed there could not be too much education, for he proscribed that his favorite grandson should come into absolute possession of the fortune at the age of 18 if he could accomplish the following: Be a graduate from a public high school by the time he is 14. Make a full course in Harvard and win a degree before he is 18. Study law six months at Oxford. Be graduated from West Point and, after holding a commission in the army, resign and "be thoroughly educated in law" and begin its practice. Spend his vacations traveling thru France, Spain, Italy, Greece, Germany, Denmark and Russia in the order named. Never become a Roman Catholic. Learn manual training, dancing and music, and—BEWARE OF WOMEN. Robert will have the income of the estate until he is 25. Should he die or fail to meet the obligation, the estate will revert to the executors, William H. Dyrenforth, Harold Dyrenforth, and Robert Collins Dyrenforth, patent lawyers of Chicago and uncles of the boy. After his grandfather's funeral, Robert was brought to Chicago and now is with William H. Dyrenforth at 249 Kenilworth avenue, Elmhurst. He is anxious to comply with the educational courses as laid down, so far as possible, but youthfully admitted that his grandfather had perhaps stipulated a speed record that he would be unable to achieve. His uncle said, however, that the help in this odd will would not lose the fortune by inability to absorb all the learning set out for him as quickly as required, for the decedent left also a letter leaving the full enforcement of the schooling features to the executors. Warn Case Affirmed. The case of George R. Warn vs. the Chicago Great Western Railway Company, which was appealed to the supreme court by the defendant company, has been affirmed. The case was originally heard in the district court before Judge Parker, and on Jan. 28, 1909, the plaintiff was awarded judgment in the sum of $34 and costs. The suit was one for damages for personal injuries received by the plaintiff on Nov. 24, 1907, by being thrown from a buggy at the Great Western crossing on Nevada street, between Eighth and Tenth avenues. The horse Warn was driving was frightened by a train.
