STREET CAR HITS DRAY; DRIVER HURT

JESSE Q. SIMS HURLED FROM HIGH SEAT UNDER HORSE IN WEST MAIN STREET CRASH.

INJURED MAN HURRIED TO HOSPITAL; NO BONES BROKEN

Regains Consciousness After An Hour, But Extent of Injuries Cannot Be Told For Day or Two—Eye Witnesses Say Car's Gong Was Not Sounded.

When a West Main street car struck the team driven by Jesse Q. Sims, 111 Bromley street a drayman for Frank A. Gillette, at about 11 o'clock this morning, just west of First street, Sims was hurled from the high seat to the pavement, was badly hurt, and narrowly escaped serious injuries or possible death.

When Sims was pitched to the street one of the horses fell upon him. E. Drake, 612 West State, was the motorman running the car, and Walter Thorn, the conductor.

Unconscious; Hurried to Hospital. Dr. A. D. Roth, the nearest physician, was called and when Sims was picked up and rushed to St. Thomas hospital, he was unconscious. He did not regain his senses for an hour, and for a time it was thought his condition was due to concussion, but later it was thought to be from the effect of the shock. No fractures were found and the physician was of the opinion that it would require a day or two to tell the exact extent of the driver's injuries.

Claim Bell Not Rang. Eye witnesses of the accident claim that the car was moving rapidly and that the gong was not sounded, warning Sims of the track. The team was struck by the car just as Sims was turning across the track to leave the office.

The fender of the car struck the horse broad side on, throwing him on top of Sims, who was jolted from his seat. The horse was injured, but how badly it could not be determined for a time. The dray and car were not damaged.

Superintendent Hovey said this afternoon the conductor of the car told him that the car was not moving at a great rate of speed, but he did not say whether or not the gong was sounded. He was of the opinion that the accident was unavoidable and that Sims did not have time to get out of the way, neither did Drake have time to stop the car.

ADDS MYSTERY TO MYSTERY.

Mrs. Amy Young Says Alexander Young Not Her Husband. Mrs. Amy Young, the victim of Charles W. Rigdon's shooting case of a week ago, has added mystery to a chain of mysteries by her statement Thursday afternoon, following the published statement that she was the wife of Alexander C. Young, the well-known New York criminal lawyer and Democratic politician, that she was not Alexander Young's wife, but the wife of George Young, former business man of Washington, D. C.

Following the relapse of Wednesday night Mrs. Young recovered sufficient strength to begin dictating a recital of all the circumstances of the tragedy. Her statement was given to witnesses before the inquest was issued yesterday, summing fifteen to appear before the coroner's jury on July 28. The coroner and police are satisfied that Rigdon shot Mrs. Young and then killed himself, and it is now said that no warrant will be issued for Mrs. Young.

It is still asserted that Mrs. Arde Hawbecker Rigdon is preparing to file a suit against Mrs. Young, and possibly against John C. Fetzer, to recover certain stocks she believes her husband possessed, including $75,000 worth of mining stock holdings. Jay A. Rigdon, Rigdon's son, is still prosecuting a search for his father's will which, it is said, may precipitate a court fight in which undue influence will be alleged on the part of several persons in securing Rigdon's property.

CATCH DEMENTED VETERAN.

F. G. Foster Saved From Possible Death By Sheriff's Officers. Lying where death under the wheels of a train would probably have overtaken him, F. G. Foster, a Waverly member of the soldiers' home, was found late Thursday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff C. C. Bratt and C. B. Nasson on the Iowa Central track about a mile north of the Summit street crossing.

Foster, who is said to be demented, ran away from the home Wednesday morning, and no trace of him had been found until Thursday afternoon. A telephone message received from the James Andrews farm caused the home officials to ask the sheriff's officers to go and get the veteran. So far as is known Foster had nothing to eat during the time he was away from the home. From the appearance of his clothes he had been wandering thru the woods, brush and fields.

Foster was admitted to the home two months ago.

FARMER LOSES FINGER.

J. L. Johnson, Near Albion, Injured While Harvesting Oats. While at work harvesting oats in his field J. L. Johnson, a farmer living near Albion, suffered the loss of the middle finger of his left hand, when the finger was caught between two cog wheels and terribly crushed. Amputation between the first and second joints was necessary.

Johnson stopped to oil the machinery and failed to take the precaution to throw the machine out of gear. While reaching underneath to oil some of the bearings the flies caused the horses to start up and Johnson's hand was caught in the cogs.

WRECK ON MILWAUKEE. Accident Between Melbourne and Rhodes Near Milwaukie. Twelve cars of a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul freight train were derailed Thursday at a point between Melbourne and Rhodes, blocking the main line for several hours, and necessitating the detouring of trains over the Northwestern thru this city, from Slater to Tama. Three passenger trains were sent thru the city between the two points. The wreck was cleared by evening. No one was injured.

PRIZES AGGREGATE $335.

Local Elks Hang Up Nice Purses For "Purple Week."

For the fifth annual convention of the Iowa State Association of Elks, to be held in this city on Aug. 16, 17 and 18, the Marshalltown Elks have hung up a prize list aggregating $335. A $50 prize will be given to the winners of the Elks' ball game, the competition being between visiting Elks' teams. Prizes of $25 each are to be given to every delegation accompanied by a band, the largest delegation from any one lodge in the parade, the delegation in the parade showing the most mileage, the delegation making the best appearance in the parade, for the best visiting band, the most unique uniformed delegation, the finest decorated building in the city, the finest decorated auto in the parade, and the finest decorated float in the parade. Fifteen dollar prizes, as second honors, will be given for the best decorated building, the best decorated auto, and the best decorated float in the parade. The tallest Elk in the parade will receive a prize of $5, as will also the shortest. The individual Elk wearing the most unique uniform in the parade will also receive a prize of $5.

BUY MORE LAND.

Marshalltown Trowel Company Acquires Property South of Plant.

Expecting to use it for storage ground, or else on which to perhaps build later, the Marshalltown Trowel Company has just purchased two parcels of land adjoining its plant on the south. One piece bought of W. H. Taylor for $1,100 is 49x180 feet and the other, purchased of C. H. Taylor has an area of 60x60 feet. One thousand dollars was paid for the latter.

Probably next spring the company will erect a new blacksmith shop, on which it has been planning for a year or more. This enlargement of the plant will be built on the land just purchased or on land which adjoins the plant on the north.

CORN FIELDS LOOK GOOD.

Corn in Northern Part of County Shows Little Effect of Drouth.

Corn generally, and especially in the northern part of the county, has so far withstood the effects of the drouth and is making rapid growth. As the conclusion of C. E. Arney, a well-known farmer of northwest of Albion, who yesterday made a trip of fifty miles thru the northern part of the county for the purpose of inspecting the corn. He says he saw no corn that had died, and that, considering the dry period, it had done very well indeed, and that it gave promise of yielding a good crop. Rain, however, would help the growth and increase the size of the ears.

INDIAN "PUTS" ONE OVER JUNK DEALER

SALE OF ALLEGED BOGUS GINSENG LEADS TO ARREST OF RED SKIN.

GERVICH CAUSES SELLER OF ROOTS PUT IN JAIL

Makes Purchase of $30 Worth Without Examining the Medicinal Roots. Then Finds They Were Not Ginseng at All—Hurries For Warrant, Meets Indian, and Gives Chase.

The cleverness and trickery of a Tama reservation Indian, and his ability to all but "put one over" on his Jewish brother, which, however, resulted in his arrest, was brought to light late Thursday afternoon and evening when Morris Gervich, a Russian Jew junk dealer of East Main street, caused the arrest of Jesse Brown.

Gervich filed a complaint alleging cheating by false pretenses against not only Brown but one Indian Joe, the latter said to be a medicine man, who is at present at the reservation. The latter has not yet been arrested.

"Stung" by Bogus Ginseng. The sale and purchase of what purported to be ginseng roots, but which Gervich claims is not the medicinal herb at all, is what led to Gervich being separated from $30 and the Indian being arrested. Both were partly due to the junk dealer's confidence in the Indian and his belief in his ability to know "what was what" in ginseng.

Since the death of his brother Max, Morris has been exceedingly busy closing his brother's estate and attending to his own affairs so he was not in the office when the Indian came yesterday with a quantity of what he called ginseng.

Mrs. Gervich Makes the Deal. It was Mrs. Gervich who was "tending" office when the Indian arrived, and it was she who closed the purchase of the roots at a price of $1 a pound, the total amounting to $30. Morris soon afterwards came in and gave to the Indian a check for the pay a check for Tama. He was buying a ticket for Tama. His intuitive precaution did not prompt him to examine the purchase before paying for it because of his confidence in the Indian's ability to know ginseng.

Soon after the Indian left with his check Gervich inspected the roots. This he found that he had been "stung." Hurrying to a lawyer to find out what to do, he was told to file a complaint and have the Indian arrested.

Chase Indian in Auto. While making another trip to get a blank information on which to lodge a charge, Gervich saw the Indian on East Main street. Figuring that an Indian in sight, without a warrant in hand, was worth more than a warrant in hand and the Indian gone, Gervich telephoned for the patrol. Hurrying to the union station the patrol overtook the Indian just as he was buying a ticket for Tama. He was lodged in jail and later was arraigned before Justice Peck. He was given time to plead, and until then he was returned to jail. While in the justice court the Indian said in broken English that he was not the agent of the medicine man, Indian Joe, who paid him to collect the roots and sell them. This led to a complaint being filed against the medicine man.

Ginseng is a valuable medicinal commodity. On the market it brings from $4 to $6 a pound, depending upon the quality and the curing.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS.

A 6 Per Cent Investment Secured by Marshalltown Real Estate 4 to 1.

In order to raise money immediately with which to erect its church and carry the investment until deferred payments have been made on its building fund subscriptions, the First Baptist Church Society has placed in our hands for sale to investors an issue of first mortgage, 6 per cent bonds legally executed in denominations of $100 each. The bonds mature in five years and interest is payable semi-annually but the church reserves the right to pay the principal at any interest payment date.

The Baptists have invested over $3,000 in their site. They will spend $15,000 in their building and on top of this they will have in their possession interest bearing notes of responsible citizens who have subscribed to their building fund all of which notes their committee will have passed on as being good. They do not expect to sell exceed $25,000 of their bonds and will then begin paying them off from the money received on building fund subscriptions. At the highest point of the loan the mortgage security for the $25,000 would cover $53,000 worth of real estate and would be further secured by at least $15,000 of good building fund notes. Back of this is the membership composed of many of our foremost and most substantial citizens who can be depended upon to see that the new church property is never jeopardized by default of interest or principal in a very few months. The loan will have been so reduced that the security will amount to 4 to 1.

We now offer for sale these five year, or on or before, 6 per cent bonds bearing semi-annual interest secured by first mortgage trust deed on real estate and further secured by building fund notes. They are in denominations of $100 each with interest coupons attached.

Wash Your Flannels Without Rubbing—Save Shrinkage. Who said flannels were hard to wash? They are with ordinary soaps—but not with Peosta Soap. Flannels shrink when you rub them. Just soaking of a few turns in the washing machine are enough to get flannels perfectly clean if soaked in a suds of Peosta. That's where Peosta has the advantage of all other laundry soaps. Peosta is a truly marvelous soap. You have to use it to appreciate how marvelous. Ask your grocer. He keeps it. If he should happen to be out write us. 25c for 5 Large Cakes.
